BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 90 (House Bill No. 1), on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties cities boroughs incorporated districts townships school districts and poor districts with the approval of the court of common pleas to negotiate temporary emergency loans for certain purposes during the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-two and under certain circumstances to refund such loans annually for a certain period

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 136 (House Bill No. 183), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws, one thousand three hundred seventy-six), entitled "An act making an appropriation to a commission, to be appointed by the Governor, to be used and expended for and toward the celebration of the Chicago Centennial Anniversary."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the chairman of the Appropriation Committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Centre, Mr. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, purely as a matter of information, I would like to know what this bill and the following bill mean?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, It is an abatement proposition—both of them.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, it is an abatement of the appropriation. Senate Bill 136 is a refunding bill.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the two bills make an appropriation in blank. I wish to inquire what was the purpose of passing a bill in that form?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, House Bill 183 there is an amendment—"This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment."

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the bill makes an appropriation of blank dollars; and I merely wish to inquire as to the purpose of the blank.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, it does not fix the amount. It is an appropriation to a commission which will be appointed by the Governor for the Chicago Centennial Anniversary. We cannot give the amount.

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I must apologize for interrupting this communication between the driving officer and members of the Senate. This bill is not a perfunctory bill, and I think I will say a few words about it. I asked several lawyers whether the legislative branch of the government had any right to intervene in spending this money. One said yes, and the other said no. This is a question, I think, that cannot be determined. Another man said, if the Governor gets ten million dollars from Washington, where is he going to keep it, in the Executive Mansion or in his pocket? If it goes to the treasury, what is to be done with it? What will the Governor do with the interest accruing on ten million dollars? But this bill is framed with the idea that the legislative branch of the government is to have a finger in the pie, if such a thing is possible. It is not framed to interfere with the Governor or embarrass him in any way, but to take the responsibility off of our shoulders. Many of us regret that the first Governor to apply at Washington and hold out his hands for alms is the Governor of the great State of Pennsylvania. New York State has not applied. I understand from the Department of Internal Affairs that New York has a per capita debt of twenty-two dollars and nine cents, and that Pennsylvania has a per capita debt of eight dollars and fifty cents; yet Pennsylvania is the first State to ask for Federal aid. Some people don't like that at all. If the money is given, the best thing to do is to see that the Chief Executive spends it in the right way.

Now, I deserve all the criticism in this matter. I have written to the Governor urging him to accept this bill, and I have had no answer; and I have sent another letter. The only possible reflection on the Governor in this bill is the fact that three dictators are named in the bill, one from Philadelphia, one from Pittsburgh, and one from Scranton; and this is a very wise provision, for it shows the slant of the men who will administer these millions of dollars, and they will be responsible. It may be that during the passage of this bill between the two Houses some compromise may be effected in that direction. I hope there will be thirty-four votes in the Senate and a hundred and whatever it is in the House, and also to pass this bill over the veto, if necessary.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I would like to know how the three men were selected?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the bill was not handed down from above. It originated at a luncheon party at the Hotel Harrisburger, at which there were twenty-five or thirty social directors—they don't like to be called social workers, and they resent that.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 174, entitled:

An Act creating the State Emergency Relief Board; naming the first members of said board; prescribing its powers and duties, and making an appropriation to be disbursed by the board for the relief of the unemployed; and empowering the board to disburse moneys received from the State and Federal government for the relief of the unemployed.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. EDERER. HOUSE BILL No. 236.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine, section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE—RESOLUTION No. 22.

The SPEAKER. In accordance with the provisions of Resolution No. 22, the Chair appoints the following Committee: Messrs. Sowers, Black, Sterling, Flynn, Staudenmeier, Hermansen, E. P. Brown, Haines and Mathay.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker, in reading over the Legislative Journal, I note on July 13, 1932, I have been erroneously recorded as voting in the affirmative on House Bill No. 102. I voted in the negative, and I would ask that my remarks be spread upon the Journal so that the error may be rectified.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. McKAY asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Stevenson on account of illness.

RESOLUTION No. 23

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 23, Printer's No. 230.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 25, 1932.

Whereas The Legislature has twice been called into special session for the purpose of providing unemployment relief and the remedies provided have been only temporary and applied without a real knowledge of the facts or the studies necessary to provide effective remedies and

Whereas A continuation of the depression will bring before the regular session of one thousand nine hundred thirty-three major problems which should be solved by appropriate remedies and

Whereas The General Assembly should be conversant with the full facts relating to unemployment in the various communities and with the proper means of affording relief and stimulating industry and business so that employment may be provided therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint four persons and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint five persons who together shall constitute a joint committee whose duty it shall be to suggest ways and means (a) to coordinate to the fullest extent possible the work of public and private agencies engaged in the distribution of relief and to eliminate overlapping relief work (b) to enlist the people of the Commonwealth in the spirit of helping themselves and to provide for the welfare of those who are unemployed (c) to find and create public and private work for those who are unemployed (d) to sustain the morale of the unemployed people and infuse them with the spirit displayed during the late war (e) to foster the spirit of generous giving so that private charity may not break down (f) to investigate the different methods by which relief has been afforded by the various communities and (g) to call conferences of leaders of business and industry for the practical application of ways and means to stimulate industry and business in order that the burden of unemployment may be lifted from Government and be assumed by industry and business

Resolved That said committee shall make a report to the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three not later than Feburary first including such drafts of legislation as may be deemed necessary to carry into effect the recommendations of the committee

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I introduced about two weeks ago a measure providing for a State Committee and the organization of County Committees to study this question of unemployment relief and coordinate the efforts of the different counties, with the idea that we might have some agency in Pennsylvania that might be constructively thinking about unemployment relief and find ways and means by which we could not only better employment, but by which we might get some return for the money we are giving for relief.

We have tried to bring that measure within the provisions of the call of the Special Session. I have had a number of the members of the House ask me about it. I regret to say that it was impossible to bring that bill within the call of the Special Session. I, therefore, sent it back to the Committee last night, and have introduced this resolution, which will not accomplish as much as I feel could be accomplished under the bill; but which will, at least, give us an agency in Pennsylvania that will be thinking about this matter and will have something to lay before the 1933 Session, in order that we may, in some part, have something definite before us at that time. I, therefore ask you to go along with this resolution.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in my opinion this is one of the most constructive resolutions introduced in this session.

I notice the gentleman from Delaware has inserted the question of the overlapping work. There is a great deal of overlapping work in this State, and undoubtedly, if we could in some way bring out a system by which we would have one agency in each county to hand out this relief, there would be more unfortunates getting relief.

Therefore, I ask you also to support this resolution, if for no other reason than to prevent overlapping, and if we do this there will be more unfortunates assisted.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, the question in my mind is how by this resolution such a Committee could be financed.

Mr. TURNER. There is no provision for an appropriation in this bill. Under the hard times that exist and the stringencies of the State Treasury, I could see no way to secure an appropriation for this Committee. It will have to be entirely a voluntary committee, but I think with all the experts that we have in all of our departments here, we ought to be able to get all of the help that would be needed without any additional help.

Mr. BALDRIGE. One further question, Mr. Speaker. Is it the intention of the sponsor of this resolution that all of this work shall be gratuitous?

Mr. TURNER. Yes.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that only twenty members of the House have thus far signified their intention of going to Mount Gretna tomorrow afternoon.

The Lieutenant-Governor must know within the next hour how many members intend to go, if any, in addition to those who have already signified their intentions to do so.

We, therefore, ask that if it is your intention to be present, you will send your name to the desk, in order that we may immediately give to General Shannon the information, because the General must provide transportation, he must provide dinners, and the time is so short that he advises us that he must know within the next hour, and that anyone who fails to indicate their intention to attend cannot be accommodated. If any members desire to attend, they will send their names to the desk, and their names will then be sent to the Lieutenant-Governor.

RESOLUTION

URGING REDUCTION OF SALARIES OF OFFICERS WHOSE SALARIES ARE FIXED BY LAW

Mr. SPANGLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 26, 1932.

Whereas, Contemplated reductions in the appropriations heretofore made to the different departments, boards and commissions of the State government will result in the reduction of the salaries paid to the officers and employes connected with such departments, boards and commissions but will not effect the salaries fixed by law for the heads of such departments, or the salaries paid to heads of State institutions whose compensation is fixed by the Boards of Trustees of such institutions; and

Whereas, the heads of all departments and the heads of the various State institutions should in all fairness agree to receive reductions commensurate with those that other officers and employes have been compelled to accept; and

Whereas, It is fair, patriotic and truly American for every public officer to make a sacrifice similar to that which at this time other officers and employes have been forced to make; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense of this Legislature that the heads of all the departments of the Commonwealth should voluntarily accept a reduction in the amount of salaries received by them and that those now receiving less than ten thousand dollars per annum should have their salaries reduced by an amount equal to ten per centum thereof and that those now receiving ten thousand dollars or more per annum should accept an annual reduction amounting to fifteen per centum thereof, and that the Board of Trustees of State institutions should immediately make a similar reduction in the salaries paid by them to the heads of such institutions; and be it

Resolved, That the Auditor General and the State Treasurer are hereby authorized to approve and pay a reduced compensation to the head of any department of the State governmen who shall file with the Auditor General an agreement to accept the reduction suggested by this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forward a copy of this resolution to the head of each department of the State government and to the Board of Trustees of each State institution.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the immediate consideration of the resolution? Are there objections? The Chair hears objection and unanimous consent is not granted.

The resolution lies over for printing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Washington will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, in the Senate of July 20th a resolution introduced by Senator Parkinson said, among other things, "It is rumored that the Secretary of Banking is depositing such moneys in favorite banks in cities distant from the closed bank from which it was taken and outside of the community from which it was deposited, and that interest thereon is paid by such banks at the low rate of one per centum per annum. Such depositing of funds in distant banks is unfair to the depositors and to the communities, and the low rate of interest asked on such deposits is not only unfair to such depositors, but is a form of favoritism that should not be permitted." And then it goes on to ask that the Secretary of Banking be requested hereafter to handle such funds in accordance with this resolution.

Speaking on behalf of the Citizens National Bank of Washington, Pennsylvania—a Mellon Bank, and the only one that is in existence there, with three other banks closed—I am authorized to state that this criticism, so far as the local situation is concerned, is unfair, unjust and unwarranted.

The Citizens National Bank has in its vaults something over six hundred thousand dollars of the money of the closed banks. The only reason they do not have any more money from the closed banks is that they do not want it, because of the surety demanded by the Banking Department and because the large amount of State deposits which they have has exhausted their ability to put up collateral or security bonds.

The president of this bank has told me that he considers it a very unfair resolution. I do not know what conditions obtain elsewhere, but as far as Washington, Pennsylvania, is concerned, there can be no criticism of the attitude of the bank.

The matter of interest on deposits of closed banks and other banks is fixed in the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia by the rate of interest allowed by the Clearing House. It would be clearly poor banking practice to go out and bid for interest on the money of closed banks.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 149, Printer's No. 153, on page 4 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Witkin,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 149, entitled:

An Act authorizing the use of certain moneys in the Motor License Fund in aid of unemployment relief for certain purposes in counties of the first class, and making the necessary appropriation from the Motor License Fund.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the two bills that was returned to the Committee on Appropriations when we voted one week ago and defeated the bill that was to return an additional one cent of the gas tax to the counties where paid. We had reason to believe that these bills would remain there, but both of them have come out and they are now on the calendar. One of them last night we passed appropriating to the city of Philadelphia out of the Motor Fund five hundred thousand dollars for the improvement of certain streets in that city.

I indicated my friendliness for the bill by my vote, which carried out the suggestion I made one week ago, that I felt that the city of Philadelphia was entitled to some consideration in the distribution of the Motor Fund for the improvement of highways both in the country and in the city.

This bill calls for an appropriation of one million eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which is beyond all reason, and I am opposed to it, and I hope it will be defeated.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Tioga is undoubtedly in error in his recollection relative to the question as to whether or not these bills were to remain in that committee. The gentleman from Tioga, in his interrogation last week, brought out the fact that we from Philadelphia said that if the bill, which was then sponsored, would pass this House and the one and a half cent of the gasoline tax would go back to the county, we would not press for the passage of these two bills. The gentleman from Tioga had raised the question as to whether or not we wanted these two bills, and the return of the one and a half cent gas tax, and in explaining the question, we said that if the one and a half cent tax was returned to the county, we would not press for the passage of these two bills, and that, under those circumstances, these two bills would remain in committee. The gentleman knows that that bill was defeated, and, therefore, I take it that the gentleman is in accord with me that there is no breach of faith and no question of any change of face in our now presenting these two bills.

Members of the House, with respect to this bill, may I say this: I do not believe there is a single member in this House who can say that Philadelphia at any time during the prosperous years and during the years when there was no depression, did not stand to help you men of the rural counties, in order that you might build your roads. When we voted in this House the necessary legislation, you members of the rural counties came to us and said, "You fellows from Philadelphia are generous; you are giving us your money when you pay the largest amount of money into the Motor Fuel License Fund in order to build our roads, and you in Philadelphia are taking only seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars to build your roads." In those days of prosperity can a single person in this House say that we weren't generous, that we weren't fair, and that we didn't give you the moneys that we paid in, in order that you might build your roads?

Members of this House, if there is a portion of the State of Pennsylvania that needs you and needs you badly, it is the city of Philadelphia. The newspapers in Philadelphia, the people in Philadelphia are crying out with their hands outstretched, and begging Almighty God for immediate relief, for immediate aid. I say to you that you ought to pay back, and I say it in all fairness and sincerity, in these days of depression that which you owe to the city of Philadelphia, and I say it advisedly. Ladies and gentlemen, we pay in six millions of dollars approximately per year into the Motor Fuel License Fund, and yet it is an unfair bill says the gentleman from Tioga. In these days of depression, in these days of starvation, in these days when there are over three hundred and some odd thousand people in Philadelphia unemployed, we say, "Give us back two million three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in order that we may put our people to work; in order that we may reduce unemployment in the city of Philadelphia."

Members of the House, this won't hurt your rural roads; there is plenty of money in that fund to take care of you and to take care of us. Be fair with us. We have been fair with you. Let this bill pass, in order that the people of Philadelphia may get some work, and in order that we may reduce the starvation now existing in that city.

I earnestly ask you to pass this bill.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, evidently the gentleman from Philadelphia, my friend, Mr. Witkin, is under the impression that Philadelphia has built all of the roads throughout this great Commonwealth. I don't think that there is a member from the rural districts but that realizes that the people of his county are paying taxes today on the bonds that were issued for extending the road program throughout the rural district. Susquehanna County bonded itself for a million dollars for extending the road program in its county, Bradford County a million dollars, Tioga County a half million dollars, McKean County a million dollars, so that the people of Philadelphia have not built all the roads throughout the State; they have been built largely by the taxpayers in the rural districts.

Again, Mr. Speaker, these roads were not built for the people in the rural districts alone. I am delighted to know that the people of Philadelphia do not have a high fence around them that confines them to riding on the streets of their city. They come out and enjoy the beauties of the State, and the highways from every point in the State of Pennsylvania lead to the city of Philadelphia, where the people from the rural districts go by the thousands every month.

It is all wrong, the impression he tries to create, that Philadelphia alone has built these roads for the people in the rural districts. Every member from the rural districts knows that he is wrong when he makes that statement.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen, I feel very much toward this bill as my good friend from Tioga.

The last time there was a proposition before the public to add another fifty million dollars of bonds for State roads, it was defeated. In my own county the county commissioners had a bond issue for forty-seven million dollars for roads in Allegheny County. I know that Philadelphia did not build any part of those roads.

With all due regard to Philadelphia, it is the old story: Pennsylvania is like a cow, with the head in the west and the tail in the east. We feed it in the west and they milk it in the east.

I am against the bill.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am also from Allegheny County, but I am not of the same opinion as my good friend, Mr. Baldrige. I don't know whether it is a cow or bull he is speaking about here this morning. However, it matters not who should get the money.

Philadelphia has approximately one-fourth of the number of people out of employment. What this bill calls for is the construction of roads, and I say that if Philadelphia is able to put a measure across this way, more power to Philadelphia. Let the Allegheny County members come down here and put across bills similar to this bill. We will support the Allegheny County measures, we will support the Tioga measures, or any other county.

I maintain that this bill is most constructive, most progressive, and a very much needed piece of legislation.

Therefore, support the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tioga will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as has been repeatedly stated, we are now in the fifth week of this session, and what have we accomplished for the relief of the unemployed and the needy?

I have been very much impressed with the earnest plea of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg and Mr. Witkin, for the financial need of the unemployed in the city of Philadelphia, and our good friend from York, Mr. Spangler, has repeatedly requested by resolution a voluntary contribution of 10 per cent. of the salaries for the relief of the poor. Several thousand of the employes of the State, without any request from us, have pledged themselves to forego one day's pay every month for the relief of the poor.

Our constitutents are saying to us, "What have you done for the relief of the unemployed?" So far as I can see, we have done nothing except to pass a bill for our own relief.

Mr. Speaker, in order that something tangible, something substantial may be done, I offer this resolution. I do not ask for its immediate consideration, but I introduce it and request that it be read, so that the members of the House may consider it. It may possibly aid in the digestion of their dinners tonight.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

RESOLUTION

MEMBERS OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO ACCEPT REDUCTION IN SALARY

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, July 26th, 1932.

Whereas, The members of the General Assembly are legally entitled to compensation amounting to five hundred dollars ($500.00) for attendance at this Special Session, and

Whereas, To the date of this resolution, after almost five weeks of session, the members of the General Assembly have each received two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) in part payment of their compensation, and

Whereas, This Legislature has passed resolutions requesting judges and officers of the executive branch of government to accept reduced compensation for their services, therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the members of the General Assembly hereby agree to accept a reduction of one hundred dollars ($100.00) from the amount of compensation to be paid by the Commonwealth at the end of this Special Session of the Legislature, and hereby further agree that said amount so to be deducted by the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth from their compensation shall be paid by warrant of the Auditor General on the State Tresaurer into the county treasuries of the respective counties in which the members suffering the reduction in compensation reside, which moneys shall be expended by said counties only for the payment of wages to unemployed persons for the performance of such work as the county commissioners of the several counties and the city council of cities coextensive with counties shall prescribe.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE TO REQUEST INFORMATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. PETERS asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 26, 1932.

Whereas, Early in this Special Session a tentative program was framed to provide $24,000,000 for unemployment relief purposes, and a bill was introduced providing for the appropriation of this sum to be spread over a period of eight months, $3,000,000 to be paid out during each of said months; and

Whereas, It was confidently expected that this sum could be made available for appropriation by this Legislature through economies and reductions in State governmental costs, and from moneys to be advanced by the Federal Government through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; and

Whereas, It now appears that the reductions in the cost of the government will not exceed $15,985,000, which will be not much more than sufficient to restore the $9,720,000 held, by the Attorney General, to be abated from hospital and other charitable appropriations, and the $5,000,000 additional, which the Governor asserts is necessary because of an over estimate of the revenues of the biennium; and

Whereas, The law authorizing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to advance moneys to the several states and territories for relief and work relief has been adopted, and the Governor has applied to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a total of $45,000,000, and has requested an advance of $10,000,000 as early as possible; and

Whereas, The Federal law with respect to this Federal aid to be advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation provides that application for these moneys shall be made by the Governor, and that they shall be expended under such system of administration as he may establish, or under his direction and responsibility; and

Whereas, It becomes essential to the determination of the amount to be granted for relief purposes by this Legislature, that it should have definite information as to the manner in which, and the purposes for which, the Governor proposes to expend these Federal moneys in the absence of State legislation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint a committee of nine members of this House, to wait upon the Governor, which committee shall request information from the Governor as to the progress which is being made to secure relief moneys from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the possible amount which the State of Pennsylvania will receive and the plans which the Governor has for the handling, distribution and expenditure of these moneys in the various communities in this Commonwealth in order that relief and work relief may be equitably distributed.

Resolved, That said committee shall report back to this House in writing, the results of its conference with the Governor, at as early a date as possible.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 1932 No. 17

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, July 27, 1932

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer :

Thou All Wise and Omnipotent God, when in distress men in all ages have called upon a supernatural power to deliver them. We believe that Thou art the Lord of Lords and King of Kings. We are assured that men do not call upon Thee in vain.

This world has passed through many perilous and threatening crises, but under Thy providential care it is still here with its human inhabitants. We believe that it has benefited by its adverse experiences of the past, and has made progress in the right direction.

We pray that we may have faith in Thee and Thy overruling providence, and may face the future with a well-grounded hope.

We are assured, since God is in His Heaven, this world is in safe keeping. Therefore we would "greet the unseen with a cheer" and forever glorify Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SALUS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, destructive criticism is easy. The General Assembly is being severely criticised because it does not furnish immediate relief for the unemployed. If the critics would consider the situation in which the General Assembly is placed, they would have more charity.

The taxpayers have practically forbidden us to enact any new revenue bills in order to secure the millions needed for relief. The taxpayers were delighted with the economy bill when it passed the House, carrying cuts of a total of $22,000,000. That sounded fine but it does not seem to work out. As soon as the bill reached the Senate there were a multitude of protests from all the cuttees. The Senate Appropriations Committee has been manfully trying to bring down the high cost of government without disrupting service or inflicting injustice upon the teachers' retirement fund. A little reflection will show that this is an impossible feat to accomplish. As a result the economy bill has been dwindling until the latest bulletin proclaims about $3,000,000 for the relief of unemployment.

The Talbot Act distributed $10,000,000 for relief. That money has disappeared like water running through a sieve. $3,000,000 sounds like a mere drop in the bucket. Now what do the taxpayers expect us to do, having forbidden taxes, and all those afflicted by the cuts having risen up in their wrath and smitten the bill, why find fault with the General Assembly after having placed it in an impossible situation. If the unemployed are asking for bread and we are giving them a stone, the answer is that the taxpayers are urging us to make the unemployment brick without any straw. We welcome any critic who will step up and offer a constructive solution to an apparently insoluble problem.

Pennsylvania has a per capita tax of $8.50. New York state has a per capita tax of over $15.00. New York state has decided not to ask for federal money for the relief of unemployment under the Wagner Bill. Pennsylvania is asking $45,000,000.00, upon which they will have to pay 3% interest. If that is to be the only source of financing unemployment relief, the members of the General Assembly believe that the expenditure of that great sum should not be entrusted entirely to the Governor. We believe a better plan is to secure three outstanding citizens who are not in politics and make them responsible for the distribution of the federal money. We hope the Governor will accept our suggestion.

What is the truth about government expenditure for relief? Every dollar expended will have to be paid back. It is taxes that slow down business. As the tax burden increases private enterprise is crippled, more business fails and more unemployment results. It looks very much like a vicious circle. Government aid is logical to meet emergencies of flood, fire and earthquake. Is unemployment in the same class?

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. KRAUSE, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No 180 (House Bill No. 152), entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280), entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands, and prescribing interest charges on non-payment thereof; requiring the receivers and collectors of county, city, borough, town, township, school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes, and providing for the lien thereof; authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes, and Harrisburg, Pa., July 27, 1932.

To the Honorable the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Your committee respectfully reports that pursuant to the Senate Resolution, Serial Number 7, Legislative Journal, page 288, as follows:

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of seven members of the Senate to investigate in conjunction with the Attorney General, the charges preferred against Honorable W. D. B. Ainey, Chairman of the Public Service Commission and communicated to the Senate by the Governor, the committee to have the power to subpoena witnesses, documents, books, records, etc., which may be deemed pertinent. The committee shall make report thereof to the Senate.

It organized and in conjunction with the Attorney General proceeded with the investigation of the charges as preferred against Honorable W. D. B. Ainey, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, and communicated to the Senate by the Governor. The method of procedure adopted was analagous to hearings before a grand jury with a view to ascertaining whether or not there was sufficient credible evidence which could be produced requiring a defense thereof by Mr. Ainey.

The testimony produced under oath, herewith submitted, is of such nature, that your committee is of the opinion and, therefore, recommends that further investigation should be made by the Senate itself or through an appropriate committee at an open hearing thereof, at which said hearing, Honorable W. D. B. Ainey, Chairman of the Public Service Commission should be notified to appear and defend the said charges.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, this is a measure that affects only Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. We have been here in this Senate Chamber for some time, and when we from Philadelphia return there is no question in my mind but what there will be some adverse criticism directed at the actions of particularly the Senators and Representatives from Philadelphia.

There has been some effort at Harrisburg, through this session, to afford some relief for the welfare and unemployment situatin in our city, but as we go home I am compelled to confess that we have not been very successful. However, in the fertile mind, and through the earnest effort, of one of our Councilmen in Philadelphia, Mr. Harry J. Trainer, this bill was conceived and brought forth. He had made a thorough study of what this bill calls for. As there is a silver lining behind every cloud, I think this bill is the silver lining behind our particular cloud; and the credit for this legislation, if this bill becomes a law, belongs to no one but Councilman Harry J. Trainer, of Philadelphia.

If, in the operation of this bill, Philadelphia, through its Council, will be able to take care of the unemployed, as I honestly believe it will be, and to do for them that which the Legislature of Pennsylvania has not heretofore been able to do, I want to be on record here as stating openly to the citizens not only of Philadelphia but of the whole State of Pennsylvania, that all the credit that may come from this piece of legislation belongs to Harry J. Trainer, Philadelphia Councilman.

I believe, if the Senate will be good enough to pass this bill, we will be able to work out our own salvation, take care of our own poor, say "Thank you" to the Legislature of Pennsylvania, and go about our own business in our own way. And I am going to ask the newspaper people of Philadelphia not to find too much fault with us until they have finally decided whether or not this piece of legislation is the salvation of Philadelphia. I believe it is the salvation of Philadelphia, and that we will be able to take care of our poor; and the one man to whom we all ought to be thankful is Harry J. Trainer of Philadelphia.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Cars for transporting the Senate will be in front of the Capitol at one thirty, and we propose to move out as soon after that hour as it is possible to complete the business we may have before us. The arrangements at Mt. Gretna have been completed. We will be taken to see those, and then go to division headquarters for a short rest prior to reviewing the troops there, which will include the Pennsylvania squadron now stationed at Middletown. Places at the reviewing stand will be furnished the Senators and Members of the House. We will then proceed by car to division headquarters, rest up there until dinner, and after dinner the Senators and members of the House will be entertained by a band concert given by the 109th Infantry Band, in front of our own division commander's headquarters. During the progress of that concert, at nine o'clock, the Pennsylvania squadron from Middletown will put on stunt flying at the camp, and it will be interesting enough, I am sure, for you to remain until that hour.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough), in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

Praise waiteth for Thee, O Lord, and all Thy works declare Thy glory. That Thou doest all things well, and that Thou dost reign supreme, the heavens above us proclaim.

We bring our lives to Thee this morning hour, praying for the touch of the hand divine. We would be as the clay in the hands of the potter. Mould and fashion each of us this day after Thine own will.

In all our ways we would acknowledge Thee, praying that Thou wilt direct our paths. In the dear Lord's name. Amen.

LEAVE GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION OF HOUSE

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission of the House for the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation to meet during the session of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its permission for the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation to meet during this session? Are there objections? The Chair hears none and permission is granted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation to meet during the session of the House. Notice is given that the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation will meet immediately in Room 324.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we are now engaged in the second extraordinary session of this Legislature, and as yet the Legislature has made but little accomplishment. During the first extraordinary session, and in fact during the regular session, I and many others advocated a systematic plan of economy in the several departments of the State, and those demands on the part of the members of the Legislature directed to the Executive were entirely ignored. Conditions a year ago warranted the Governor in carefully examining his departments to pick out some of them where he might find economies that would help the revenues of this State, and that would help to defray the expenses that are incident to taking care of those who are unable to take care of themselves as the result of the great depression. But unfortunately nothing was done at that time. The Governor made no move. And here we are in the second Extraordinary Session, with no money, no means, to apply to the needs for which the session was called; and I maintain, gentlemen of the Legislature, that this situation in which we find ourselves at the present time is not the fault of the Legislature, but is chiefly the fault of the Governor of this Commonwealth, who has put forth no effort for the accomplishment of the purposes for which we are assembled here.

Even in his call for this exarordinary session, he makes no mention of economies. Yet the people of our Commonwealth, from north to south and from east to west, have been crying to this Legislature to effect economies and to relieve the tax burden of the people of this Commonwealth. And what has been done? When he issues his call, he provides in the first two articles of that call, that we shall take care of the abatements under the Talbot act and of the deficiency in the budget, and if there is anything left over, then we are to apply that money for unemployment. And then he goes on and says the next thing you men have got to do is to levy taxes or to issue bonds to meet this situation.

Now, he places us virtually between Scylla and Charybdis. On the one side we have the poor, overburdened taxpayers, and on the other side we have the distressed. In order to raise money, we have to do one of two things; we have either to tax or we have to issue bonds, and the people of this Commonwealth are opposed to either, and rightly so, until proper economies are manifest in the State government. And those at the present time have not appeared.

(CHESTER H. RHODES IN THE CHAIR.)

Mr. SPANGLER (continuing).

The Governor, in all of these various executive departments of which he has absolute control, could do as other governors in other states are doing. He could make an examination in each department and then cut expenses to the bone. I have an article here that was cut out of the New York Times in which a statement is made of the ways that other states are finding money to meet their extraordinary situations, and one little paragraph here will suffice for the present. It says, "Governors, taxation authorities, and various officials of other states, however, declared themselves opposed to any form of new taxation or increase in present levies. Their attitude is exemplified by this statement from Governor Pollard, of Virginia, to the Legislature, 'Increase no taxes, curtail all expenses.' That is the attitude of many of the governors of other states of this Union."

But our Governor brings us here, offers us no methods by which we can economize, and then says that the Legislature is derelict and that they are doing nothing.

We have been striving here in every possible way to reduce expenses, and what are we met with? When a sub-committee was appointed by the Appropriations Committee to try and find ways whereby salaries might be reduced, we were up against a stone wall, because to put a bill into this Legislature and to pass it which would provide specifically for the reduction of salaries would be not within the call, and the Governor could pass the buck to his Attorney General, who would say, "Gentlemen, we would like to pass this legislation, but it does not come within the call." And that is the situation we find ourselves in at the present time.

We recall just a few weeks ago the Appropriation Committee of this House, under its able and worthy chairman, appointed an exceptionally able sub-committee to draft a bill in exact accordance with the provision of the call of the Governor in reference to the reduction of expenses. After more than a week of intensive work of examination of the chiefs of departments, they brought forward to his House what was known as the Steedle bill. That bill provided for reductions in all the departments of the State government, and that bill had in mind this, that those reductions were to be made in the way reductions in salaries and in the cutting out of useless and extravagant practices that have been growing up during these ten years of extravagance. And what was the result of that tremendous work on the part of our Committee on Appropriations? Why, before that bill came up for consideration on special order, the Governor runs hot-foot into this House and condemns the whole bill, in blanket. He even has the audacity to uphold the continued expenditures for the Greater Pennsylvania Council, which we know is an absolutely worthless department; and he says moreover, although the act of this sub-committee was actually within the purview of that call, "Gentlemen, if you pass that bill, I will veto it."

I say to this House, we ought to pass that bill, and we ought to let him veto it, and we ought to override his veto without a question. This idea of calling the Legislature of this State into Extraordinary Session and confining it and befuddling the language of his call that we are more or less hamstrung in the work that we are supposed to do makes us ridiculous.

A few weeks ago I introduced a resolution and the House passed that resolution, asking the Governor to extend the call and to clarify the phraseology and to phrase the call in a manner that would permit us to effect economies in the State government that the Governor has neglected to do. And what has been the result? That resolution of this House was utterly ignored. Nothing was done. And now he places us in the position where it is with the utmost difficulty and through only roundabout means that we are able to effect economies, and then he will go out to the people and say to the people, "Gentlemen, I struggled and I strove to effect economies in this State and to help aid the down-trodden, but the Legislature was adamant, they had no feeling." I say we should place the blame of any deficiency, so far as the work of this Legislature is concerned, where it belongs, on the Executive department of this government.

Some weeks ago I introduced a resolution into this House asking the Department of Property and Supplies to submit to this House a report in relation to the automobiles used by the State government, and I received from the Department of Property and Supplies a report showing the number of cars that are used by the various departments of the Executive branch of the State government, and this is the result. Here is a list of nearly four thousand cars and trucks used by the State government, almost ad libitum. I also asked the Department of Property and Supplies to submit to the House a list of the private, fancy cars with chauffeurs used by the State government, and this is the response.

The Governor's office has one car with a chauffeur, at a salary of $2100.

The Lieutenant Governor has a car, a fine car, and a chauffeur. There is no item in there for salaries, because that comes out of the appropriation to the Lieutenant Governor. As a matter of fact, the State gives the Lieutenant Governor, in addition to his salary, eight thousand dollars to maintain that car. Now, so far as he Lieutenant Governor is concerned, in normal times, I would have no obpection to the Lieutenant Governor having a car. But I can see in times like this no more reason why the Lieutenant Governor of the State of Pennsylvania should have a car than that our honored Speaker should have a car. As a matter of fact, the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania is the second office in the State of Pennsylvania, standing second in dignity only to that of the Governor himself.

The Auditor General's Department have their cars attached to the Department, and he uses a car for himself.

The State Treasurer has one car with a chauffeur at eighteen hundred dollars.

The Department of Agriculture has one car for the chief with a salary of twelve hundred dollars.

The Department of Banking has one car with a salary of thirteen hundred dollars.

The Department of Forests and Waters, one car, with a salary of thirteen hundred and eighty dollars.

The Department of Health has a car for its chief, and a chauffeur, at one thousand and twenty dollars.

The Department of Highways has fifteen chauffeurs. Why they need fifteen chauffeurs is incomprehensible to me. With a salary for those chauffeurs of $19,980.

The Department of Insurance has one chauffeur and car for its chief at $1,500.

The Department of Internal Affairs has one car and a chauffeur at $1,320.

The Department of Justice has a car for the Attorney General at a salary of $1,500.

The Department of Military Affairs has two cars at $2,400.

The Department of Mines has one car for its chief with a chauffeur at $1,620.

The Department of Property and Supplies, two cars, with chauffeurs, at $2,520.

The Department of Public Instruction, one at $1,500.

The Public Service Commission, the chief of the Public Service Commission has his own car, paid for by the State, at a salary of $1,500.

The Department of Revenue has two at salaries of $2,520.

The Department of State has one at $1,500.

The Pennsylvania State Police has none.

The Department of Welfare has twenty-four chauffeurs with salaries of $23,820.

The Board of Fish Commissioners has one car.

Now, I say, in all fairness, in times such as we are going through at the present time, it seems rather inconsistent that when we are struggling to effect economies in this State, the heads of departments of executive departments, directly under the Governor, are running around in high-priced cars for their own pleasure, for their own convenience, paid for out of the State Treasury, and even expect the State to pay for a chauffeur as well as the maintenance of those cars.

Does that seem right at a time like this?

Now, in this report, the Governor has two cars. I pass them over. I think the Governor is entitled to automobiles.

The Lieutenant Governor has one car.

The Department of the Auditor General has twenty-eight cars assigned to it.

The Treasury Department has five cars. It gives also the purchase price of these cars. We will come to the final totals in a little while.

The Department of Agriculture, lots of whose work could be just as efficiently done by the United States Board of Agriculture, finds it necessary to have one hundred and thirty-one cars, and only three hundred and ninety-one employes, and nineteen trucks.

The Department of Banking, Dr. William D. Gordon, has one car.

The Department of Forests and Waters,— it is necessary unquestionably for the Department of Forests and Waters to have a number of cars,—but they have one hundred and thirty-three employes, forty-one cars and fifty-eight trucks.

And the Department of Health is simply overrun with cars. Every field nurse has a car. They have seven hundred and forty-two employes, they have one hundred and fifty-two passenger cars, and nine trucks.

Now, when we come to the sanatoria of Pennsylvania, we find that they all have private cars. The tubercular sanatorium at Mount Alto has a Dodge coupe, a Ford sedan, and a Ford pick-up, in addition to about ten trucks. The tubercular Sanitorum at Cresson has three passenger cars. The tubercular sanatorium at Hamburg has two passenger cars. The Crippled Children's Hospital at Elizabethtown has five passenger cars. The total number of passenger cars for the Department of Health is one hundred and sixty-seven, and the total number of trucks is thirty-three.

When we come to the Highway Department, I believe that almost everybody in the Highway Department has a car or a truck. I notice here that even one of the messengers in the Highway Department is running around in a passenger car. Here it is, Messenger J. A. Rudy, delivery of mail, he has a car. I don't know,—he must run it around in one of the departments.

It would be well for members of the Legislature to look through this enormous number of trucks and passenger cars employed by the Highway Department, because the Legislature as a matter of fact has no control over the expenditures of the Highway Department. We do not know how many cars they have. We do not know what they use them for. We do not know how much duplication there is. In fact, we know nothing at all about the situation, so far as the enormous expenditures of the Highway Department are concerned for automobiles and trucks.

I do know this, that they were very active immediately prior to the past primary in using those cars and trucks to help elect Mr. Pinchot's candidates.

I have on the list here somewhere the total number of cars and trucks of the Highway Department, and my recollection is that with about nineteen hundred and some employes in the Department of Highways, there are eighteen hundred and some cars and trucks used by the Department, practically one car and one truck for every man employed in the Highway Department.

The Department of Justice has thirteen passenger cars, and of those passenger cars, one is assigned to Mr. Schnader for Administrative duties, and all of the rest are assigned to persons for investigating paroles. Now, we know that every institution has its parole officer, and the State Welfare Department also does work in that particular line of business. So it might be worth while for the Governor to investigate that department and find out how much duplication there is.

The Department of Labor and Industry has 487 employes, and 64 passenger cars.

The Department of Military Affairs has 51 passenger cars and 27 trucks.

The Department of Mines is more modest. It has three passenger cars.

The Department of Forests and Waters has 162 passenger cars and 15 trucks.

The Department of Public Instruction has five passenger cars.

The Department of Revenue has 63 passenger cars.

The Department of State has one for the use of the head of the department.

The Department of State Police has 103 passenger cars and trucks.

In all of our State Hospitals we have a large number of pasenger cars assigned to each State Institution, under the head of the Department of Welfare. The Secretary of Welfare, for administrative duties, has one car, and each of her two lady assistants has a car. The Allentown State Hospital has six passenger cars and four trucks.

The Ashland State Hospital has five passenger cars.

The Bloomsburg State Hospital has one. Danville, six. And so we go on through all of these institutions, with large numbers of passenger cars at the disposal of the chiefs of the institutions.

Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I might add that the purchase price of these cars was $3,807,416.17. The total cost of maintenance during the first half of the present biennium amounted to $1,307,973.75, and garage rent $38,130.

I am not contending that some of these cars may not be necessary, but I do contend this, that the Executive Department, so far as automobiles are concerned, is running on the same high, extravagant plane that they did in times of prosperity, and that there has not been any proper check-up of the use of these cars, nor the abuse of them, so that money may be saved in scrapping a great many of them and making these men who are now using them use the railroad trains, as you and I have to do, in the interest of the economy of the State.

I am very eager to commend to the Governor of our Commonwealth the vast extravagance that now prevails in this government of our in respect to the limited use of automobiles of the State, and ask that he try and effect some economies, not only in this particular instance, but in all of the Departments of the State Government.

I would ask that the report of the Department of Property and Supplies in response to the resolution be printed in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that an order has already been made for printing this report in the Legislative Journal. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House: I am of opinion that the situation confronting the General Assembly at this time is so critical and so serious that I am warranted in coming upon the floor of the House and explaining to you as best I can the situation as I see it and pointing out, if possible, the way out of the wilderness.

It is trite to say that we have been in session for five weeks, but it is true; and I contend that these five weeks have not been entirely wasted, for during that time we have developed the fact, and we have developed this fact through the extensive work of a sub-committee of the Committee on Appropriations, that through economy, through the bills that have been introduced, it is impossible to salvage from the appropriations made in 1931 more than enough to balance the budget, and barely that. I say we have discovered that, because the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations of the House, and the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate, who have labored long, diligently and faithfully, have come to this conclusion themselves, and we reluctantly abide by their judgment.

I say that this time has not been wasted, because there were many members of this House who honestly believed that it was possible through proper economy and without destroying the efficiency of the departments of this Government to obtain sufficient funds for adequate unemployment relief. But that belief must now be dissipated. Therefore we are faced with this situation, either we must adjourn and go back to our homes and say that we have utterly disregarded the needs of the unemployed, that we either can or will do nothing for them, or we must find a way to accomplish this relief.

There is no use fooling ourselves or fooling the people of Pennsylvania, that you can provide unemployment relief and not pay for it. The taxpayers of Pennsylvania have got to pay.

Now, it appears to me that one of two things can be done, either we can levy new taxes to provide a fund with which to provide this unemployment relief,—and I want to say right here that I believe the levying of new taxes is impossible, that it is impracticable, and more than that, it is unnecessary. Then the other method of this unemployment relief must come through adherence to the program agreed upon prior to the calling of the session. I say agreed upon, and it may well be said that no one can agree to what this Legislature shall do or will do,—but it was agreed upon by the organization, and by the organization, I mean the Chairman of the Republican State Committee, it was agreed by the leaders of the Philadelphia Organization, and by the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Whether or not the call was properly issued need not be discussed at this time, but the form of the call was agreed upon at that conference, and the call was issued in the precise language agreed upon. One of the fourteen points agreed upon was that legislation should be enacted that would permit the municipalities to borrow money under the Constitutional limitations, or to borrow money against uncollected delinquent taxes, or such a way as might be best suited to the needs of the particular municipalities. And I maintain that if this privilege is extended to the municipalities, if the great city of Philadelphia, with its thirty-eight millions of dollars of uncollected delinquent taxes, was permitted to borrow against that fund, they might borrow half of it, seventy-five per cent., or some other proper amount, and thereby relieves the distress that is so great in that city. We are not thinking altogether in terms of Philadelphia, because outside of that city unemployment and distress are rampant. Therefore, not only Philadelphia but the other municipalities as well must be taken care of. And if this is to be accomplished, there is only one way in which it can be done, and that is to provide for a bond issue, and, as I said before, bond issues and taxes are repugnant.

But if we are going to have this relief, we have got to pay. A bond issue approved by this session of the General Assembly, approved by the General Session of 1933, and voted upon by the people in November, 1933, would provide the means whereby the State, whose duty it is to provide this unemployment relief, can restore to the municipalities the money which they have borrowed, restore to them the money with which to pay their bonds, and want may be relieved.

I say it is going to cost us money, it is going to cost us money, but we might as well face the fact.

So here is the situation that faces you today, ladies and gentlemen of the General Assembly. You must go home and say that you have done nothing for unemployment relief, or you must levy new taxes, or you must provide for the bond issue. Let us see what we have done. The keystone of this fourteen point program is the Constitutional Amendment providing for this bond issue. That bill was introduced in the House, it is House Bill No. 2. That bill was reported from the Committee and passed by the House. It now rests in a Committee of the Senate. And I say to you, ladies and gentlemen, that if that resolution is not passed in time so that it can be advertised on the seventh day of August next, the program goes down. I should not be here upon the floor of the House at this time were it not for the fact that either we must have this bill passed and I might say that we must leave this bill passed, or we must have no unemployment relief. I believe it is the best practice, and it has been the practice for many years, that an amendment to the Constitution should take the form of a joint resolution, which takes the course of a bill. It is referred to a Committee, read three times on three separate days, and passed finally. But I say that that practice is not necessary. You can pass a resolution amending the Constitution in the same manner that you pass any other resolution. You can pass it in one day or one hour or five minutes, if you see fit. That resolution which now is in the Senate Committee could be reported, it could be reported, read three times in the usual way, and that is what we must have if we have unemployment relief.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

(THE SPEAKER (C. J. GOODNOUGH), IN THE CHAIR.)

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. KLECKNER Mr. Speaker and fellow members of this House, I do not propose to sing a swan song for your entertainment. I do not come before you as a self-appointed apostle of the people, nor as a representative of the organization, nor as the mouthpiece of the Administration. But, if it please you, Mr. Speaker, and you, fellow members of this House, in all due seriousness and sincerity, with an appreciation of the splendid address of our most esteemed speaker, for whom I have the highest personal regard, with an appreciation of the splendid address of the former speaker, Mr. Spangler, may I state for the record my personal convictions that the charge for any failure to bring immediate relief for unemployment should be laid in the office of the Chief Executive of our wonderful state, and no reflections should be cast before the Administration alone nor on the organization, but back again to the Executive Office.

In any great corporation, any policy or program of relief is mapped out by the president, by the Chairman of the Board of Directors of that corporation, and, if it please you, Mr. Speaker, and members of this House, I shall go back to Allentown and Lehigh County and lay the blame at the feet of the Chief Executive of this great Commonwealth of ours.

I shall not hold myself responsible alone. As an agent of my constituents I feel I was entitled to receive the program for unemployment relief myself individually, and not as a member of any organization or agent for the Administration. And finally when I read the statistics that have been presented, and when I see in the various State Teachers' Colleges practically fifty percent of the salaries are above four thousand dollars, and when I hear of the duplication in State Departments, when I fear of the methods of tax collection, and when I hear these reports of husband and wife, nephew, that this nepotism, this question of family employment, this question of sons and daughters of representatives of our House and of the Senate, when I hear of families being employed in State governmental bureaus, I appeal to you, members of the House, that this program of intrenchment and economy is a step in the right direction; that we are here at the hand and at the direction of our Appropriation Sub-Committee, who have pointed out the way for retrenchment and economy; that while in this haste this tremendous problem is more than we can successfully solve in this short time, I feel that it is a step in the right direction, that the people want economy of effort in state management and efficient administration, and that this problem of unemployment relief should have been presented in more tangible form, that the scope of the Governor's call has not been sufficiently wide to afford us the latitude that such a problem presents to require successful solution. And, if you please, I hope that this special session may point so that you members of the House, when you come back five months hence in January, will carry on this fight and that you will hold high that torch, and that you will not break faith with your constituents. Unfortunately, perhaps, I have not been a candidate for reelection, but I charge you that we men who have been privileged to sit with you and learned to love all of you, that you will continue this fight against governmental waste, against duplication of effort, and favortism, and against building up political machines at the expense of the voters back home.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my remarks are going to be very brief. I want to put before you just one fact; I listened attentively to the remarks of the Speaker and I know that he is entirely sincere and I respect him as much as any man in this House, but I recognize this fact that—and it has been proven in this Extraordinary Session of the Legislature—in trying to meet this problem we have been prone to be guided by our own particular prejudices. It is unfortunate that the gentlemen of this House coming from the rural counties, where the need for relief is not as great as it is in the industrial counties, are not able to get the picture that actually exists in the large centers of population of this State.

As I understand the remarks of the Speaker, if relief is to come at all it must come by the passage of House Bill No. 2, and I want to point out to you this fact, as it appears to me, that if that be true, then there cannot be any relief Bill No. 2 provides for the borrowing of money from the municipalities or local districts on uncollected taxes. Let me ask you in all fairness, how you are going to borrow money from the financial institutions on an asset which it is not possible for the local districts to collect, because your uncollected taxes will not be collected until the men get back to work and are able to pay. You are only piling the burden of taxes on the backs that are already broken. If that picture is true we will have to go without making any provision for relief. I am as reluctant as any man in this time to put on additional taxes, but I want to say to you now in my judgment there must be additional taxation or additional revenue if we are to have relief that is practical. We might as well face that situation, reluctant as we may be. To my mind the way has been pointed out by the resolution which was adopted by this House the day before yesterday which provided for an income tax proposition as embodied in the resolution which was presented to the House. It seems to me that we dare not adjourn and we dare not go back home until we have done our duty in the State and that we cannot depend on the national government alone, but that before we adjourn we should have furnished some moneys for relief for this Winter.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the crystalline clear statement of fact that was presented to use by the Speaker, and I have spent a little time this morning making an analysis of the exact status of the bills, forty-five in number, in the House, and a corresponding number in the Senate, which relate directly to that agreement which was referred to in the Speaker's remarks. The very great majority of these forty-five bills have to do with the abatement of appropriations to charities and other beneficiaries resulting from the enactment of the Talbot Bill in the last Extraordinary Session.

Several of the bills relate to indirect relief through the enlargement of the rights of the Secretary of Banking in relation to the closed banks. Other bills in that classification relate to relief to Building and Loan Associations through assistance from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Those bills are on their way to final enactment by the signature of the Executive of this Commonwealth, if they have not already been so signed. The bill which the Speaker particularly referred to as the one enabling cities and other municipalities to increase their borrowing capacity is known as House Bill No. 1, which passed this House on July 13th, and from the latest report received by me last evening from the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate, has probaly passed finally in the Senate, amended, as was the desire of this House, as well as the Senate, in this respect, that no such emergency loans were to be permitted without control of the Courts.

The sister bill to Bill No. 1 is that measure which the Speaker refers to as the Constitutional Amendment introduced by Mr. Bidelspacher on June 27th, which passed this House with no dissenting vote on July 13th, was referred to the Committee on Finance of the Senate on July 13th, and since that date has by the Senate been divided into three separate bills, one of which has to do with the twenty-five million dollar bond issue to cover State government expenses for the biennium beginning June 1, 1933. That bill has passed the House and has passed the Senate.

The third portion, fifty million dollar bond issue for highway improvements, remains in the Senate. The fifty million bond issue for unemployment relief has been reduced by the Senate to twenty-five million dollars, and I have just an instant ago been informed that that bill will be reported and read for the first time in the Senate today, read for the second time tomorrow, and passed finally on Monday night, and messaged to the House then.

The Speaker has said, and properly so, that the success or failure of the unemployment relief program, of the sufficiency of which I will not speak at this moment, depends upon the passage finally of this bond issue authorization legislation, and he speaks accurately when he says it must be passed in time to permit its advertisement according to law at least ninety days before the general election, when it is submitted to the people for approval. We are told by the Secretary of the Commonwealth that it will require at least fifteen days in order to prepare the plates for such advertising. That may be shortened by concentrated effort. In any event, if this bond issue measure is messaged to the House, according to the schedule which I have just announced, and we pass it on Monday evening first, Tuesday second reading, Wednesday third reading, we will be able to place it in the possession of the Secretary of the Commonwealth in ample time for that purpose. It seems to me that no risk should be taken whether or not this measure will reach the Secretary of the Commonwealth in time. This House does not by any means control the action of the Senate, but I believe in this emergency the Senate should so arrange its business that this bill is passed finally there this week and messaged to us this week, so that we may pass it at least first, if not second reading, this week, and final passage on Monday night, August 1.

Particularly to my colleagues from Philadelphia, I make this reference. The unemployment relief from this measure or this program is not in my opinion what ordinarily might be called direct relief. There is no direct relief from the Commonwealth, and all of the direct relief, if any is to be furnished, must come from the political subdivisions of this Commonwealth, upon the faith and promise that upon the adoption of this Constitutional Amendment the Commonwealth will be in a position to reimburse the political subdivisions.

Well enough for that, but I fear, and I fear greatly, that in these tragic times, with a condition as we know it exists in Philadelphia, that there will be no direct relief immediately, at least from the source from which we too calmly rest our expectations.

We are told that we may receive Federal aid to the extent of $45,000,000. On the basis of population, we are told that that relief may be $23,000,000. We may well expect that it will not be $45,000,000, and we may well expect too the danger that we may not receive it at all, or if at all, in very small measure, unless the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as was anticipated and intended by the Senators and Congressmen in the adoption of that Federal relief measure, makes some demonstration that the Commonwealth has done its maximum to relieve the situation which exists, and I want to point out to the men of Philadelphia and to those of you who represent communities where unemployment conditions are comparable with those in Philadelphia, that by the mere passage of this fourteen point program you may not put the Commonwealth in the position where it will be in good place to receive the Federal aid that we expect.

Now, you may ask me, what then is the answer? There is only one answer. The Speaker has very properly said to you that with the splendid work done by the Appropriation Committee, analyzed and brought to its final meaning, there will remain no money in the treasury for direct relief, there probably will even be a small deficit, which should not concern us, because in a business of this size it is not difficult to accelerate the collection of revenue to offset deficit in small amounts. It seems to me therefore, that in order to put this Commonwealth in a position where it will be at least graciously received by those from whom Federal aid is to be expected, some direct relief measure should be adopted by this Session of the Legislature.

Of course, we probably cannot adequately meet the situation, but at least, my friends, we should put the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in a position where it can go to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and say, "We have made it possible for the political subdivisions to raise money for unemployment relief. We have made it possible for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to return the expenditures so made by local communities; and we have gone a step further to the maximum of our ability, we have provided through direct appropriation this or that amount of direct relief." You then will ask me, "But from whence will the revenue come?"

We ought not to tax our citizens beyond the measure of their capacity, but these are not ordinary times. We must spread the burden of unemployment relief as widely as it is possible, and it can only be so spread by some measure of taxation. The Ways and Means Committee is reluctant to proceed with the levying of taxes, because it knows the consequences of such a step. It knows the burdens already imposed by the citizens by the Federal increase in taxation. But if the Appropriation Committee of this House will present to us under these conditions, and in the face of what I have said to you today, some direct relief measure, and if that measure, tested by the opinion of every member of this House, is a fair one, then the Ways and Means Committee will immediately ascertain a means of balancing the budget, taking into account the amount of money that the Commonwealth will be obliged to appropriate for that direct relief.

Particularly to my colleagues of Philadelphia, where it is admitted the condition is most acute. I want to say with all the seriousness that I can, that unless some direct relief measure is provided for, we will have hopelessly and disgracefully failed our constituency.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman on the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to the interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DUNN. Did I understand the gentleman to say that if the fourteen points were voted upon, that may not be successful in securing relief from the National Government?

Mr. STERLING. I may say this, that it may possibly be that the managers of Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the source from which the Federal relief must come, will naturally ask, "What has the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania done for itself?"

The answer can only be, in the absence of direct relief, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is making it possible to return through bond issue proceeds to local districts, the amount of money which they have appropriated to unemployment relief, and I fear that that in itself will not be sufficient to convince the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that the Commonwealth has done its maximum in the situation.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would be negligent in my duty were I not to make a few remarks at this time. A relief bill carrying a sum of $24,000,000 was introduced. The sum was arrived at from two standpoints. I now compliment the members of this House on their confidence in the Sub-Committee on Appropriations, for their faith in the way they voted, because I believe there is not one of you that has not found out that the people of Pennsylvania believe that we should first clean our government house, and it was the hope of that Sub-Committee that $9,000,000 might be effected through economies.

But if we are to believe the newspaper reports as we now read this morning, that sum has been cut to a point beyond even the thought of the Governor in his call, because if you recall the issuance of the call for us in Extraordinary Session, he said first, the abatement under the Talbot Act must be made up, and second, a five million dollar anticipated deficit would have to be taken care of before a cent could be provided for direct relief.

So today we stand, insofar as economies are concerned, with nothing in sight for direct relief. The twenty-four million dollars was to be made up, the balance, before the nine million, from what was then anticipated Federal relief. And may I say to the members of this House that the original draft of the Federal Act provided this, that in case the Legislature was not in session at the time the money was ready for call by the Commonwealths, the Governor had the right to distribute one-third of the amount and that two-thirds were to be distributed by the Legislature when it convened. Now then, I believe that no one can deny the fact that as we are in session today, and with the Act reading as it did at that time, we should distribute the Federal money, and that accounts for the sum of twenty-four million dollars.

I have been opposed to increased taxation. I went through a campaign in my own county in the primary election and said I was opposed to any additional tax burden upon the people of Pennsylvania, but I am in hearty accord with the gentleman from Philadelphia, that we must provide in some way a sum of money for direct relief, for two reasons: first there is decided distress in the Commonwealth, and it is the Commonwealth's responsibility to take care of that; and, secondly, if we are to receive Federal aid, we must show a disposition to do our utmost that we might command this aid that is coming from the Federal Government. In view of that fact I am having amendments prepared in the Legislative Bureau to change the amount from twenty-four millions of dollars to twelve millions, and I believe that will meet with the accord of a greater number of members of this House, because then the Ways and Means Committee can start their functioning to raise the additional revenue.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman on his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, following up the discussion which has been before us this morning, after listening to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot, you are apparently confronted with a situation whereby under his theory we have to raise ten or twelve millions of dollars by new taxes. That probably is necessary, and probably it is advisable, as being supplementary to the fourteen point program, and it is my opinion that we should give some consideration to it, and pass it promptly, in order that we may do as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, has said, put ourselves in position to acquire a larger amount from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. But insofar as placing additional burdens upon the people of this Commonwealth is concerned, I think in raising the funds that may be necessary, we should do it by taking always the means which are least burdensome, and it appears to me that we can acquire almost ten million dollars without any additional burden being placed upon people of this Commonwealth, and that therefore we should utilize those methods first before we resort to placing any other burdens upon the people of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I believe that there can be two million six hundred thousand dollars acquired by the lapsing of appropriations that were not considered in the economy program. Eight hundred thousand dollars can be acquired from the Fireman's Relief Fund, then you can change and revise the law in connection with your inheritance taxes, in connection with your mercantile taxes, in connection with your exemption on utilities, and also in connection with the exemptions or changing of the method of the taxation of foreign corporations, and you will acquire an additional six million dollars, which will make between nine million and ten million dollars that can be obtained by the treasurer of this Commonwealth for relief purposes without placing any additional burden upon the people of this Commonwealth. Now, it seems to me that we can resort to those methods in the first instance before we place additional burdens which are going to weigh heavily upon the overburdened taxpayers of this Commonwealth at this time.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman upon his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, it is not my purpose to consume much time because to me you all look hungry. Yet I am going to take exception to the remarks of my good friend, Mr. Sterling, and others who believe as he believes. I have a right to do so. I have a right to my own opinion. Mr. Sterling informs the House that there is a possibility of the national government refusing to give us a sufficient amount of money to carry on relief work in case that we should put across the fourteen points which were agreed upon by our Governor and the men selected to represent the people of this State. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, it is my candid opinion that a bird in the hand is worth a flock of birds in the bush. Now, if the national government will refuse to give us the amount of money in order to carry on the relief work in this State because we have put across a constructive program and because there will be some objections to increased taxation, may I say this, how is the national government going to get the money to extend to the various states for this relief work? Is the President of the United States and the members of the Senate and the members of Congress going to dig down in their own corduroy jeans and drag out the money? No; they are going to get it from the taxpayers and the small man who owns but a little bit of a house is going to pay a big amount of it and not the public utilities. To Mr. Sterling I say that the Governor's program is constructive, and we should go on and adopt a program. It has been maintained by many of the members here who have intelligence that if the Governor's program as agreed upon by the leaders of this State would be put into effect, unquestionably we could procure sufficient funds to give relief to the unfortunates for a period of two years. And may I say that there are many very good, real, constructive bills laying in our committees. There is no reason why they should not send them out here on to the floor of the House and we could talk on them and see what they are and whether they are to the interests of the people and for the benefit of the many. Many of you people here, and this applies to the various committees, have real genuine humane bills in committees, and yet they will not pass them out to us. It is all right to stand up here and say that we will go home and say that we did our full duty and that we will place the blame on the Governor. I am here to tell you that as long as I am able to talk I am going to defend the Governor. The Governor at the present time is coming in for a lot of unjust criticism. Let us report some of these bills out. There are a number of bills in those committees that should be reported out.

Before I close I want to say this, while walking along Market street last Saturday, one of the employes from the Internal Department said, "Mr. Dunn, that House Bill No. 129 has certainly done a lot of damage. Tomorrow at least forty-eight men receiving four dollars a day, heads of families, will receive notice that their services are no longer needed." Now, since that bill has passed, every member here has received letters protesting against it, saying that it has been more of a detriment than it has been a benefit. I would not try to impress on any man's mind that my good friend, Doctor Steedle, and Mr. Talbot, and the other members of the subcommittee were not conscientious and sincere in their efforts to make retrenchments, but I rather think that they should be commended for their work. They are human and they make mistakes. I make mistakes, you all make mistakes, we all make mistakes and we will continue to do so. We can now before we adjourn and in the next two weeks, if we sit down and call the Governor in and call in the heads of the different departments and say to them, "What can we do?" I am sure that we will be able to do something. I have been also informed that at least one thousand employes will be thrown out of work because of the passage of that bill.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, no matter how we live, life is all too short and no matter what we may accumulate here we will not be here tomorrow. No matter what your standing in society may be, no matter how much of this world's goods you may be able to accumulate, you will not be able to take it with you.

And in closing I say, report out these humane bills that are being held in committee, let us all co-operate with the Governor and we will get somewhere.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the record.

REMARKS EXPUNGED FROM RECORD

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that that part of the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Dunn, relating to certain political parties be expunged from the record.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 190 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. C. C. A. BALDI, JR. asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, July 27, 1932.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 190, Printer's No. 226, entitled "An act to amend Section two of the act approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws, one thousand two hundred and two), entitled 'An act providing for the compilation and printing and binding of the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relative to soldiers, sailors, marines and veteran organizations; providing for the distribution of the same, and making an appropriation therefor,'" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I know you are tired of listening to different members standing up here talking about economy and what we are trying to do for the unfortunates of the State. In the short address which I made I know there was nothing really, I might say, to benefit the Commonwealth that is trying to do something. Some of the members like my good friend from Allegheny, listen to all of you members of the Assembly here when many of the members heap criticism on the Governor when in their words they would lay all of the blame and say that the Governor is responsible because this Legislature did not provide sufficient funds to give relief to the unfortunate. When I stood and spoke a bit ago and he listened to me he made a motion to have expunged from the record my remarks. He got by with it because I did not know what he was doing at the time.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I don't see how we can blame the Governor if sufficient funds are not obtained by this Legislature. The Governor has nothing to do with the passage of bills. We have lots of bills, and humane bills, that ought to be reported out of committee. Let us pass them out and let us pass them in this House and let them go to the Governor. If within a period of the next two weeks we were to call him here and sit down with him and talk these things over, I am sure that we could do something.

So, Mr. Speaker, if my good friend from Allegheny wants to have that expunged from the record I will listen to it.

But I say to you, let us do this, let us call the Governor in for consultation, if not this week, at least next week. Let us face what we are compelled to do here to alleviate the suffering in the State, and let us cooperate with the Governor and with all who are concerned.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

REMARKS EXPUNGED FROM RECORD

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the part of the speech of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Dunn, referring to me, inasmuch as he violated the rules of the House, that my name be expunged from the record.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 4, Printer's No. 118, entitled:

An act empowering cities of the first class to levy, assess and collect or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes, authorizing the establishment of bureaus, and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes, and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced.

on page 2 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, be extended five days.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion,

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I fail to understand why we cannot vote on the bill now. I am ready to vote, and I would object to extending the time.

The SPEAKER. We cannot vote on it now because it is on the postponed calendar, and we cannot vote on it, until the sponsor of the bill calls it up.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman, why we should postpone the bill and not vote on it now.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, when this bill was introduced originally it met with the objection of a considerable number of the members of the House because it included boroughs. A new bill known as House Bill No. 214 was prepared and passed this House, went to the Senate and I believe has been passed by the Senate. If I could have confirmed that action by the Senate I would have moved that this bill be dropped from the calendar. I have kept the bill on the postponed calendar merely as a reserve position in the event that the Senate would not pass the new bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

LEAVE GRANTED COMMITTEE TO SIT DURING SESSION OF THE HOUSE

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Committee on Federal Relations I would ask the consent of this House for the Committee to meet while the House is in session for the consideration of a bill.

The SPEAKER. Permission is asked of the House for the Committee on Federal Relations to sit during the session of the House. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and permission is given.

The Committee on Federal Relations will meet in the rear of the House immediately.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE COMMERCIAL VEHICLES

Mr. PETERS asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, July 27, 1932.

Whereas, There have been introduced into this House, a number of bills, the purpose of which is to further regulate commercial motor vehicles, and

Whereas, The public interest shown in said bills, both in favor of their passage and against their passage, indicate their importance to the various interests effected thereby, and

Whereas, Masses of facts and statistics on both sides of the question have been brought before this House, and

Whereas, Shortness of time, and the outstanding seriousness of the major purpose of this Extraordinary Session, prevent the Members of this House from adequately and satisfactorily acquainting themselves with the whole scope of the subject, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a commission, consisting of three Senators, to be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate, who shall designate one of such appointees as chairman of said commission, and three Members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker thereof, is hereby created for the purpose of investigating, studying and reporting the use and operation of commercial vehicles in this Commonwealth, the extent and scope of such means of commercial transportation, the amount of taxes now imposed on such commercial motor vehicles, and the effect of additional taxation on such commercial vehicles, on other public carriers, on business generally and on the use and maintenance of the highways of this Commonwealth. Said commission shall meet and organize upon the call of its chairman, shall have power to sit after the adjournment of the Legislature and to hold its meetings at such times and in such places, within this Commonwealth, as it may deem advisable. The report of the said commission, including the draft or drafts of any act or acts of Assembly deemed necessary by it as a result of its study and investigation, shall be made to the Legislature of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three upon the first day of its session or as soon thereafter as possible, and be it further

Resolved, That said commission, because of the present necessity of economy, incur in its activities no expense to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CHARLES R. GRIFFITH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CHARLES R. GRIFFITH. Mr. Speaker, on July 13, Bill No. 106, introduced by Mr. Blumberg, was before the House for third reading and final passage. In the Journal of that date I notice that by some error I am recorded as voting "aye" on this bill, when in fact I voted "no" and desire the same to be corrected.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES TO BE PRINTED IN APPENDIX

The SPEAKER. Under a question of personal privilege this morning, the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler, offered certain data, a disposition of which was not made at that time. The Chair directs that the same be noted in the Journal and printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been asked to announce that conveyances to Mt. Gretna will be in front of the Capitol at about 1.30 Standard Time instead of 2.00 o'clock as formerly announced. The members that are going to use their own cars are requested to report to the Chief Clerk. It is desired that the membership reach Mt. Gretna at about 2.15 o'clock for certain ceremonies that are contemplated there, which is the reason for the change in time.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. We are compelled to announce that there will be a session of the House at 4.00 o'clock this afternoon. That session will be short and will not prevent anyone from going to Mt. Gretna. Certain resolutions will be offered perhaps recalling bills from the Governor. Enough of members of the House have not signified their intention of going to Mt. Gretna, so that we will have a majority even though those who care to go should do so.

It might further be said that in all probability after the session this afternoon, at the conclusion of the recess, if one is agreed to by the House, an adjournment will be had over the week end in accordance with the resolution heretofore adopted.

If there are no objections, the Chair will declare a recess until 4.00 o'clock this afternoon and we would desire to have it understood that the session at 4.00 o'clock need not deter anyone who has signified their intention of going to Mt. Gretna from doing so. The Chair hears no objection and declares a recess until 4.00 o'clock this afternoon.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The time of the recess having expired the House will be in order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to draft an income tax bill has met and has drafted a bill which as to form has met with general approval. Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1932 No. 18

SENATE

THURSDAY, July 28, 1932.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Our Gracious Heavenly Father, we pray Thy blessing upon our state and nation. We thank Thee for this great country Thou dost permit us to inhabit.

We thank Thee for the courage and energy of the pioneers of America who transformed a wilderness into an Eden. May we as their successors, who have relatively smaller difficulties to encounter, face our tasks with a like degree of heroism.

We pray that Thou mayest take away from us as a people that fear which is so seriously retarding our industries. May our American ingenuity reassert itself, and, may we, with a renewed faith in God and man, return to our tasks, and under Thy blessing, despair and defeat will be banished: and to Thee we will ascribe endless praise. Amen.

We invoke Thy blessing upon those on whose behalf relief is being planned. We ask that Thou mayest cause a turning of the economic and industrial tide, affording an opportunity for all to earn a livelihood. We realize that satisfactory relief can come only in this way.

To the extent that legislative bodies can promote prosperity wilt Thou enable our legislators to obtain a clean comprehension of the best course of procedure to arrive at this desired goal.

While Thou art furnishing us, as citizens, with material comforts, wilt Thou also enrich us in moral and spiritual attainments.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. EALY, from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committeed, Senate Bill No. 184 (House Bill No. 218), entitled:

An Act authorizing counties cities of the second class A and third class boroughs towns townships school districts and poor districts of the second third and fourth classes to permit taxpayers or members of their families to perform work in lieu of part payment of taxes

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 53, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fifteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto a section Consolidation of Philadelphia city and county.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President and members of the Senate, in the first place, I hope none of the friends of the bill will be misled by a motion to recommit it for the purpose of a hearing. If this bill pass the Senate tonight it will have to be passed by the House Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and advertised a week from today, August 8th, which is the last day for accepting constitutional amendments for advertisement; and therefore no true friend of the bill will vote to recommit it for any purpose, not even if that purpose is stated to be for a hearing. The time for hearings has passed, the time for action has arrived.

Mr. President, I admit that this is a very embarrassing piece of legislation,—if for no other reason, because it places fairly and squarely before the members of the Senate a question between justice and political expediency. In 1854 the city and county of Philadelphia were consolidated; and we in Philadelphia do not want to wait until 1954 to finish the job. If there are enough friends of the bill here tonight, we can begin the final procedure to finish the job.

When Philadelphia county was consolidated with the city,—that is, when the city tried to swallow the county, it didn't swallow it very successfully; and I can assure you that the taxpayers have had chronic dyspepsia over it, and the county is the cause of the present acute indigestion from which we are suffering.

I am speaking tonight, certainly, not as a member of the Philadelphia organization; but I hope that I can still maintain my friendship with that organization if I make these remarks about this bill. I am speaking as a taxpayer, and I am a very large taxpayer in Philadelphia, I pay over a hundred thousand dollars a year in taxes. The Senator from Bucks thinks I am boasting, but I am not; it is a matter of record. I say that simply because I have some standing to speak on this bill. The consolidation of the county with the city is estimated to save the city from fifteen to twenty millions of dollars a year. If you look at the City Hall in Philadelphia, and if you look at the directory, you will find that the city has been literally driven out of the City Hall by the county; the city officers are in an annex, the county officers are in City Hall.

The Register of Wills lives in the northeast, and that is the direction toward which William Penn looks, from his position at the top of City Hall. He takes orders from the Register of Wills, I guess. The Register of Wills registers a great many wills, political wills as well as legal. Likewise, the Recorder of Deeds records many deeds that are not strictly legal. He is a competent Recorder. I would dislike very much to get myself disliked by the Recorder of Deeds. The present Recorder of Deeds is also the Chairman of the present City Committee. When I say to him, "How about this bill? The people are all for it; the Chamber of Commerce is for it, and so many other civic organizations have endorsed this bill that it would be tiresome to recount or catalog them. Members of the Senate, I sometimes suspect, are a little bit hard-boiled about communications from Chambers of Commerce and other civic bodies. I know I have several unopened telegrams in my desk at this moment; but you can take it from me that the taxpayers of Philadelphia are very much in earnest. They marched on City Hall last fall to protest against an increase in the tax rate, and they won the fight.

Now, it is difficult, I know, in a city of the size of Philadelphia to have any large demonstration of unanimity of opinion; but in this case the taxpayers cannot pay their taxes. As we all know, Philadelphia is very much depressed financially. I see the Senator from Delaware smiling. One reason he smiles is because we have built so many subways,—I am speaking now, Mr. President, to the Senator from Delaware,—the people of Philadelphia have built so many subways the population of Delaware County has increased by leaps and bounds. This has come about largely through the building of these subways, for which the City of Philadelphia has paid. So with many other counties, except, perhaps, the County of Bucks, which is not quite so attractive.

You have all seen the miserable lists of sheriff's sales published every Monday in the Philadelphia papers. It is not necessary for me to stand here and tell you that Philadelphia is hard up. But whenever I approach the chairman of the City Committee and ask him about consolidating the county with the city he immediately says, "Well, how is your golf game?" "Well," I say, "Mr. Chairman, my approach shots are not very good on this political question, certainly." And then he talks about the weather, and that is as far as I ever get with him.

Now then, if the Philadelphia organization had a little more statesmanship they would see the necessity of bowing to public opinion in this case. They may smile sardonically, as I see one of my friends over there is smiling, but it is the truth.

Now, there is a practical point that perhaps they don't appreciate, and that is this: Philadelphia has been coming here with outstretched hands asking for financial aid. Heaven knows we need it. But as one member of the House said to me this very evening, "With what grace can Philadelphia come here and ask us for financial aid when Philadelphia refuses to pass a constitutional amendment which would save the City of Philadelphia from fifteen to twenty million dollars a year? If they are not willing to help themselves, why should we help Philadelphia?" A perfectly good, practical argument; and, my colleagues who are hard boiled, please notice that argument. If the times were perfectly normal I would not be making this speech, because we all know that in order to maintain democracy we have to pay the price, and part of that price is that we have to have certain offices which are not absolutely necessary, and we have to have payrolls which are fuller than is always necessary.

If anybody does not understand this bill, I will explain it with great pleasure. It is very short. One of the Senators from Philadelphia said, "What are you going to do with the District Attorney? What are you going to do with the Controller?" The former draft did not say what was going to happen to them. This draft says they are going to be continued. Now, that is the only leg that Senator from Philadelphia had to stand on, and that provision takes that leg away. This is not going to displace the present county officers, because this legislation does not become effective until their terms run out.

The budget of Philadelphia cannot be balanced when the city had no control over the county officers and their employes. I was guilty, myself, of sponsoring the means to increase the salaries of the county commissioners, and any county officer can come to Harrisburg and have his salary increased, and we pay the bill in Philadelphia. It is a first lien on the treasury. We may not have money enough to pay the firemen or the policemen, but the county officials must be paid.

Well, the only other thing I want to say is that the Philadelphia organization elected J. Hampton Moore as Mayor. Now, Mr. Moore is doing the almost impossible task of balancing municipal budget. I happened to see two editorials in The Bulletin, on Friday, which I cut out. I will not read them except by extract. The first one is entitled "The Long, Hard Pull." It begins, "Mayor Moore and his Administration have been making good progress in straightening out the tangle of the municipal budget"; and the last paragraph begins, "There are three years of the Moore Administration after this, and the desire and expectation of the taxpayer is that the Mayor shall keep at his task of economizing."

The next editorial says, "Yielding to the pressure of public opinion, emphatically expressed by Philadelphia commercial and civic organizations, the Senate Finance Committee has reported out the constitutional amendment resolution providing for city-county merger. "That was the pressure of public opinion, or, perhaps, the absence of a few Philadelphia Senators,—I leave it to you to decide.

It goes on to say, "This will focus the spotlight on the Philadelphia delegation and its controlling force, the Philadelphia Organization. The Organization can make or mar this measure." And, farther down, it says, "There are two ways of thinking about city-county consolidation. The first is the viewpoint of taxpayers and business interests, keen for the elimination of the needless waste of public money involved in imposing one government upon another in identical territory. The other is the outlook of politicans who wish to maintain the patronage power that goes with the county office system."

As I said in the beginning, this is absolutely a case of dire necessity, really, for Philadelphia's treasury and the maintenance of a political organization, which has to be maintained, I understand that, but at this time, certainly, I think if the leaders of the organization were wise they would recognize that the taxpayers of Philadelphia are more in earnest over this question than they have been over any other question in many years. An I want to add this last argument: We cannot come here to Harrisburg and ask for money for Philadelphia if we refuse to help ourselves by consolidating the county with the city; and I assure you it will save from fifteen to twenty million dollars per annum. That is the question.

There will be a motion to recommit, undoubtedly, but for heaven's sake don't say it is for a hearing. That is ridiculous. It is to be recommitteed so it will die. And we will not have an opportunity until 1938 to have another vote on this amendment.

Mr. HUNSICKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President I will.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I do not know whether I can stand, after the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward's remarks about the hard-boiled Senators from Philadelphia having saying we've only one leg to stand on and that had been swept away; but I would like to have the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, answer this question: Since 1927 how can we combine the city and county of Philadelphia. If we do make such a consolidation what will become of the county sheriff, the county courts and the judges,— how can they be controlled; what can be done with them?

If the Senator can answer me that question probably I will feel more favorable toward this amendment.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this is encouraging. The first step in the conversion of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Hunsicker, ought to be that he ought to read the bill. On Page 2,—There are only two pages,—it says, "The General Assembly shall by law supply any further provision which may be necessary for the consolidation of the city and county into a single municipal corporation. The district attorney and the controller shall be elected by the voters of the city, and, until otherwise provided by law, the sheriff, register of wills, recorder of deeds, treasurer and clerk of quarter sessions shall be so elected."

Mr. HUNSICKER. Mr. President, will they be city or county officers?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it makes no difference whether they are called city officers or county officers.

Mr. HUNSICKER. Mr. President, can that work out effectively under constitutional law?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to inform the Senator from Philadelphia that if he goes, on the first floor of City Hall, to the well known offices of the county commissioners, he will see two doors; on one door, in large letters, "COUNTY COMMISSIONERS" and, on the other door, in equally large letters, "CITY COMMISSIONERS." And it works beautifully. It makes no difference. "A rose by any other name will smell as sweet."

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I am always interested in the things my friend, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, is interested in; I am exceedingly fond of him. It so happens, in regard to this particular bill, that various requests have come to me from Philadelphia since last week, and while I was home I received a telephone call from Philadelphia. I received two or three telegrams tonight, and a request from the Chamber of Commerce there for a hearing tomorrow at two o'clock; also, from the Women's League of the Forty-second Ward. I informed those people that this bill was on the calendar for third reading, but they not only sent me telegrams renewing their requests, but they sent me letters, so there would be no misunderstanding, and so that the hearing would be given them tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

BILL RECOMMITTED

In order to carry out my promises to them, I move that this bill, Senate Bill No. 53, be recommitted to the Committee on Finance, for the purpose of a hearing tomorrow at two o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, in order that there may be no misunderstanding of my position on this measure, I want to say this: I do not want to be understood as trying to legislate for the City of Philadelphia. I am rather glad to say I do not represent that city. Furthermore, I want to say I do not feel under any particular obligation to the organization of the City of Philadelphia. But I do want to say this, in fairness to all concerned: When this bill was before the Committee on Finance, of which I am a member, it was indefinitely postponed originally. Last week it was called up again by the very efficient and energetic Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, with the understanding that this bill would be recommitted. I either made or seconded the motion that it be reported to the Senate as committed, and that motion went through; but I stated that if a majority of the delegaion from the City of Philadelphia were opposed to this bill and wanted it recommitted, I would take part in recommitting that bill to the committee.

I believe in the representative form of government, and unless and until the City of Philadelphia sends members to this Senate who want any piece of legislation affecting the City of Philadelphia only, whether or not I am with the Organization, I intend to vote with the representatives of the City sends to Harrisburg. Even tonight if I thought or felt that the majority of the seven living Senators from Philadelphia were not in favor of recommitting this bill, I would not vote to recommit it; but unless I have a feeling of which I am reasonably certain that a majority of the representatives of the City of Philadelphia want this bill recommitted, I intend to vote to recommit the bill, and therefore I second the motion.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I think it is only due me to correct the remarks of the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, as to the proceedings in the committee. To the best of my recollection and belief this bill was never indefinitely postponed.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I think the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, is right.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, to the best of my recollection it was to be postponed for the present.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I think the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, is right.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, furthermore, I do not want anybody to think there was anything underhand in the agreement to have this bill reported. As a matter of fact, I am the only Philadelphia member on the Committee on Finance; and that, I suppose, is the way it came out. Also, there was no agreement on my part that the bill would be recommitted.

Of course, the Senator has the right, any Senator has the right, to move to recommit; but I never made any such pledge, and I do not want anybody to think I violated any pledge or was a party to anything underhand in regard to this matter.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Potter permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, if this bill is recommitted when will the hearing be held?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. That is tomorrow.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. President, just so I may get home in time to eat my Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I say I hope the Senators understand that any recommittal means the death of the bill, because it has to pass the House Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and be advertised on Monday; so the hearing may be very interesting as an obituary, but that is all.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Section [2] 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, House Bill No. 129 is perhaps the most important piece of legislation that will come before this body during this session, and in many respects one of the most important pieces of legislation that has ever come before this body for its consideration. It is a bill of sixty-five pages, containing much information. It came out of the Appropriation Committee last Thursday. It was printed on Friday. And I submit to the members of this Senate that they cannot properly, without the proper information, understand this bill thoroughly. It has been said it is an economy bill. Whether it is economy or false economy, I do not know. This session was called for the purpose of giving relief to the people of Pennsylvania, who are suffering. Whether this is a relief bill, I do not know. And I say to you frankly that I resent very strongly the fact that on three different occasions this bill has been reported from the Committee on Appropriations without a hearing. Not a single hearing, not a single meeting of the Appropriation Committee has been held. I know, to facilitate business, sometimes it seems necessary to report bills of a minor nature and where an agreement has been reached by some of the members of the committee; but on an important bill like this I say there should be meetings of the Appropriation Committee. And I want to say to you frankly, and I think I am expressing the sentiments of several of the members of this body, that I do not understand this bill, and I am trying now to say so.

It is my proud boast that I have voted on every bill that came before this body for the last five sessions. I have voted "yes or "no" on every bill for the last five sessions. I do not pretend to know what the provisions of this bill are, whether economy or relief; and I say to this body that it is absolutely disrespectful to the members of the committee not to call a meeting; and if this bill is acted on tonight, I must say to the members of this Senate that for the first time since I am a member of this body I shall refuse to cast my vote, because I will not pretend to understand the provisions of this bill when I do not.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, on Tuesday of last week the Senate had before it Senate Bill No. 145, House Bill No. 15. That was an appropriation to the Downingtown Industrial and Agricultural School at Downingtown, Pennsylvania. That is a colored institution in Downingtown, in which the colored people of my district are very much interested. I tried, through the efforts of some of the members of the House from the downtown districts of Philadelphia, to have their appropriation increased by the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars. They were unsuccessful. That institution is in dire need of money. They are in very straightened circumstances at this time. I voted "no" on this bill, and I want to go on record as explaining for voting "no." It was a vote of dissatisfaction. I was displeased. I do not believe that this institution received the treatment that it should have received; and for that reason I wanted to be on record as voting "no," in order that these people might understand that I do not agree with the actions of the Appropriations Committee either in the House or in the Senate. I knew at the time I voted "no" it would have no influence on the passage of this bill, and that they would get the money allowed under the bill; and I believe I was the only one who voted that way; but it was a vote of protest, and I wanted the opportunity to so appear on the record.

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. RIAL offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate, August 1, 1932.

Whereas, Serious charges of misconduct in office have been preferred against Honorable W. D. B. Ainey, a member and

Chairman of the Public Service Commission and submitted to the Senate, and

Whereas, A Committee of Investigation duly appointed by the Senate by Senate Resolution No. 7 to act jointly with the Attorney General in making an inquiry into the said charges has performed its duties and reported that the evidence produced is of such a nature as to require the said W. D. B. Ainey to appear and answer the said charges before the Senate or a duly authorized committee of the Senate acting for the Senate, and

Whereas, The said charges deal specifically with the following alleged acts of misconduct:

(1) That the said W. D. B. Ainey while a member of and Chairman of the Public Service Commission received and accepted from the Mitten Management and/or the Philadelphia Rapid Transit during the years 1921 to 1929 large sums of money to influence him in the performance of his duty as a public officer.

(2) That A. W. Thompson who was the President of the Philadelphia Company in Pittsburgh, a holding company of public utilities, paid hospital bills of the said W. D. B. Ainey while he was a patient and undergoing treatment in Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore during the year 1927, amounting in the aggregate to approximately $3700.

(3) That the Mitten Management and/or the Philadelphia Rapid Transit during the year 1927 arranged for and paid for passage and entertainment of the said W. D. B. Ainey on the Berengaria to Europe.

(e) That the said W. D. B. Ainey has otherwise misbehaved in his office as Public Service Commissioner by accepting favors and gratuities from persons, firms or corporations having matters before the Public Service Commission for determination.

Now therefore be it resolved, That a Committee of seven (7) members of the Senate be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate with the largest and most complete powers which the Senate can confer to fully and completely investigate the said charges so preferred against the said W. D. B. Ainey as above recited with full authority to issue subpoenas, to such persons as the Committee may deem necessary in the investigation of the said charges, requiring the appearance of such persons before the said Committee and also the production of such papers, books, documents and records as may be deemed necessary, and to take testimony of witnesses outside of Pennsylvania and for that purpose to issue commissions or other appropriate proceedings. The Committee shall make its own rules of procedure and shall make a report of its finding to the Senate if in Session or to a Session thereof called for executive business, finding the said W. D. B. Ainey guilty or not guilty of the said charges or any of them and if the said Committee shall find the said W. D. B. Ainey guilty of any or all of these charges, the Committee shall make such recommendations as it may deem proper under the circumstances, and be it further

Resolved, That the Committee shall proceed forthwith to organize, conduct the said investigation, and bring the same to a speedy conclusion, and be it further

Resolved, That the Committee be authorized to request the Attorney General to prosecute the said charges, and be it further

Resolved, That the Committee be authorized to employ such accountants, experts, stenographers, clerks or other agents as may be necessary in conducting the said investigation and to pay the same out of any appropriation which may be made for that purpose, and be it further

Resolved, That the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate be and he is hereby authorized and directed to attend the said Committee to serve subpoenas issued by the Committee and generally to enforce all the orders which the said Committee may make, and be it further

Resolved, That in case the said Committee has not concluded its investigation before the Senate recesses or adjourns its present Extraordinary Sessions that its powers as a Committee and as herein granted be and the same are hereby continued notwithstanding the said recess or adjournment.

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate do proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The report was read as follows:

Harrisburg, Pa., July 27, 1932.

To the Honorable the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Your committee respectfully reports that pursuant to the Senate Resolution, Serial Number 7, Legislative Journal, page 288, as follows:

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of seven members of the Senate to investigate in conjunction with the Attorney General, the charges preferred against Honorable W. It organized and in conjunction with the Attorney General proceeded with the investigation of the charges as preferred against Honorable W. D. B. Ainey, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, and communicated to the Senate by the Governor. The method of procedure adopted was analagous to hearings before a grand jury with a view to ascertaining whether or not there was sufficient credible evidence which could be produced requiring a defense thereof by Mr. Ainey.

The testimony produced under oath, herewith submitted, is of such nature, that your committee is of the opinion and, therefore, recommends that further investigation should be made by the Senate itself or through an appropriate committee at an open hearing thereof, at which said hearing, Honorable W. Hear our prayer, O Lord, as we bow before Thee this evening hour. Thou hast not dealt with us in strict justice. But in mercy Thou hast shown us Thy favor.

Help us to know that the same wonder-working God, who sent to perishing Israel, quail and manna sufficent for each day, is watching over his children still.

Again and again our hearts cry out—"Neath Thy wing protecting hide us; daily manna still provide us." And the prayer we pray for ourselves, we pray for all Thy children everywhere this night. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Mr. HAWS offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 1, 1932.

Whereas, The program for the reduction of appropriations as it is to be finally passed, will not make moneys available for unemployment relief; and

Whereas, It is apparent that new taxes are required to secure moneys for appropriation for unemployment relief purposes, and movements are under way to tax certain luxuries; and

Whereas, The two dominant political parties have in their platforms expressed dissatisfaction with the Eighteenth Amendment, and the next Congress convening in December of this year, will probably amend the Volstead law to define beer with an alcoholic content of four per cent., as non-intoxicating; and

Whereas, This Commonwealth should be in a position to take instant advantage of any modification of the Federal law, in order to secure revenues from this luxury; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House Ways and Means Committees be requested to frame and introduce a measure to permit the manufacture, and regulate and tax the sale of such malt beverages as may be permitted to be manufactured and sold under any modification of the Volstead law, such law to become effective immediately upon the enactment of such Federal legislation.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution lies over for printing.

COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER LEGISLATIVE COSTS

Mr. SPANGLER offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, August 1, 1932.

Whereas, The Governor has charged that the Legislature has many supernumerary and superfluous employes on its pay rolls, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint two Senators and the Speaker of the House shall appoint three Members of the House, who, together, shall constitute a joint legislative committee to study legislative costs, including the salary, mileage and postage of Members of the General Assembly, the number, salary and mileage of legislative employes, the cost of legislative committees and legislative printing, and make report thereof, together with recommendations to the General Assembly of the Session of 1933.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee on Law and Order be discharged at this time from further consideration of House Bill No. 203, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-seventh day of March, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 34), entitled "An act concerning alcoholic liquors; prohibiting the manufacture, advertising, furnishing, traffic in, and possession of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and articles and substances designed or intended for use in the manufacture thereof; defining intoxicating liquor; providing for penalties, forfeitures, and the abatement of nuisances; and repealing existing alcoholic liquor laws and alcoholic liquor license laws."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, I firmly realize that since 1921 there has never been a Committee discharge in this House. I further realize that in the last nominations in this State there has been a mandate to the people of Pennsylvania on this particular question. There has been a mandate to every member of this House that he shall either vote wet or he shall vote dry; that is, at this time.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is talking on the merits of the bill and not on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine himself to the motion. The bill being in committee and not before the House, the provisions of the bill are not debatable.

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, I say to you and I say to every member of this House, that every member of this House that has the intestinal fortitude ought to stand by the way he votes and by the way he drinks. That is the way to vote.

Mr. HIMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House; I ask you to vote this motion down. This bill has been in the hands of the Law and Order Committee since the 12th of July, and the only reason the Committee has not been called together to take action on it is because the bill does not come within the scope of the Governor's call for this extraordinary session. I therefore ask you to vote this motion down.

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Himes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Himes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HIMES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Armstrong if the Supreme Court of this State or a Committee of this House decides what is within the call of the Governor?

Mr. HIMES. I presume the Supreme Court does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state when the bill was introduced.

Mr. HIMES. Mr. Speaker, the bill was referred to the Committee on Law and Order on the 12th of July.

Mr. BAUER. Then, Mr. Speaker, may I ask why that Committee has not met?

Mr. HIMES. I have just stated, Mr. Speaker, that I did not consider that this bill came within the scope of the call of the Governor. I took the matter up with others and they agreed with me, and that is the reason why the committee was not called together and that is the only reason.

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman admit that the Supreme Court has the final say-so on what is within the call?

Mr. HIMES. Of course, Mr. Speaker. I am not an attorney. I am just stating the opinion of others. I have been advised by different attorneys that it did not come within the call of the Governor.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Byrne and Mr. Hartsock.

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified as follows:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BAUER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is my first session in the House. This is my first time on the floor. This, sir, is the first time that I have ever called for a vote on the floor of this House, and I appreciate that vote.

There has been a mandate given out to every one in this House, even from Westmoreland County—even, I say, from Westmoreland County—that we are demanded to do certain things. I have obeyed that mandate. I am not sorry for it, and if I had it to do over again I would do the same thing. I sincerely appreciate the votes that were given to one thing, and that one thing is the thing and the only thing that is corrupting this American republic today. I believe that to the bottom of my heart. I am sincere in this motion. I am so sincere, sir, that I believe this motion should have passed this House, and with that, sir, I am done.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to draft an income tax bill has performed that duty and is prepared to report. Mr. Black of Fayette County will offer the bill.

I ask, in accordance with the resolution, that the bill be numbered and be committed to the special committee appointed by the Speaker, in pursuance to the resolution. I ask consent that it be done now so that the bill can be reported to the House and printed promptly.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be so referred.

By Mr. BLACK. (By request). HOUSE BILL No. 246.

An Act imposing an emergency State income tax for unemployment relief, and providing for the distribution of the proceeds thereof.

Referred to the Special Committee appointed in pursuance to Resolution No. 22.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 71

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 28, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 71, Printer's No. 65, entitled "An act relating to public improvements undertaken and made in times of economic depression for the purpose of furnishing employment for persons otherwise unemployed authorizing any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth to undertake and make such public improvements under certain conditions authorizing one or more poor districts to furnish the labor for such public improvements from among the persons entitled to relief and other citizens of this Commonwealth under certain circumstances and to make such public improvements in and for such poor districts under certain conditions with the approval of the court of common pleas providing for reimbursement of such poor districts under certain circumstances out of a State loan when and if approved providing that such poor districts be reimbursed when not coextensive with the municipal subdivision out of any funds lawfully available for the purpose by general taxation or out of municipal liens and providing for interest providing that the provisions of this act are severable as affected by the Constitution and repealing inconsistent laws and defining municipal subdivision as meaning any county city borough township or poor district of this Commonwealth."

This bill would authorize political subdivisions of the Commonwealth, for the purpose of furnishing employment to poor persons in need of relief, to undertake improvement projects for which poor districts would contract to furnish the labor. The bill provides that all costs of such projects, except labor, shall not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitations on indebtedness; but as to labor, the bill does not provide that the constitutional and statutory limitations must be respected. This would mean that contracts by the municipalities and poor districts for labor would, in certain cases, be unconstitutional and unenforceable by the poor districts.

In addition, the bill provides that if and when an issue of State bonds is approved, as provided in paragraph 5 of the call for this Extraordinary Session, the poor districts availing themselves of the provisions of this act may be reimbursed to the same extent as if the funds had been expended for unemployment relief in any other manner. This provision would conflict with the proposed constitutional amendment in two respects. The amendment provides that reimbursement shall be made only for money spent for food, clothing, fuel, and shelter for the unemployed and also that reimbursement shall be made as provided by an Act of Assembly enacted prior to the submission of the amendment to the electors for approval.

It would be most unwise to attempt in a piece-meal way to regulate the distribution of money borrowed by the Commonwealth to reimburse political subdivisions for their expenditures for unemployment relief. This entire subject should be carefully considered by the Legislature at its regular session in 1933.

Finally, this bill does not relate to any subject stated in my proclamation convening this Special Session.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill and the amendments be placed on the postponed calendar, so that we will have an opportunity to read the bill with its amendments.

The SPEAKER. Do you desire it to pass second reading first?

Mr. SOWERS. No, Mr. Speaker; to remain as is and be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. Speaker, many of us are in favor of this bill, but in favor of it properly amended. The great difficulty with the bill at the present time is that it gives the power of eminent domain to some board in Harrisburg, and the thought in a number of our minds is that that power should not be exercised without the consent of the ruling body in a county, either the city councils or the county commissioners, and that Harrisburg ought not to have the authority to come into your county and condemn real estate without the approval of your neighbors. For that reason I would ask that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar, that we all may read it and see how broad it is and then, if necessary, it can be amended and passed.

Mr. RICHARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I agree thoroughly with what the gentleman from Philadelphia has said, but I would like to ask him this question: because of the fact that we are nearing the end of this session, does he have any idea when this bill can be called up?

Mr. SOWERS. I am very glad to know, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman thinks that we are nearing the close of this session.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I am an optimist.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I would just like to say that I think we can have our amendments ready tomorrow and call the bill up and have it read and passed on second reading, and I will also say that I will endeavor to see that it is done tomorrow.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, the explanation is satisfactory. May I say that the board that the gentleman from Philadelphia has mentioned—I am not discussing the amendments now—but the board that he has mentioned, is only to be appointed and approved by the two-thirds vote of the Senate. As to the eminent domain feature, I agree that it should be watched very carefully, and with the explanation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I agree to his motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar, with the idea that we can get it off to-morrow.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is somewhat confused for the reason that the House has agreed to certain amendments. In the event that we do not agree to the bill on second reading, as amended, it would seem to the Chair that the amendments fall and the bill would remain in the position that it is now.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I do not ask that the amendments fall. All I ask and move is that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar, together with the amendments, as it now is.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understood the gentleman to ask that it should not pass second reading.

Mr. SOWERS. Not pass second reading, but be placed on the postponed calendar as it now is, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia inform the Chair how the House can decline to agree to the bill on second reading as amended and still not have it amended?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the House has now before it the passage of the bill on second reading, and I am making that motion, that the passage of the bill on second reading be postponed until to-morrow, together with the amendments.

The SPEAKER. Then the bill would not be reprinted.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Sowers, would it not serve the same purpose if the bill went over on third reading and was placed on the postponed calendar at that time.

Mr. SOWERS. Then you would have to have consent to offer the amendments, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not have confidence that the House will consent.

Mr. SOWERS. Well, Mr. Speaker, there might be an objection to offering an amendment at that time.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman knows, these bills have their origin in Philadelphia. They are not primarily my own amendments or bills, as the gentleman knows. Would it not serve his purpose as well assuming that the House passes the bill as amended on second reading, assuming that it passes on third reading and final passage, then if the Senate would not concur in the amendments, have a conference committee to iron it out; wouldn't that serve the purpose just as well?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the Senate might be better induced to recede from its amendments if the amendments are inserted in the bill providing that the Board shall not have the power to condemn land in the respective counties without the consent of that county government.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I agree with that, but could that not be done in conference committee just as easily and save a lot of time.

Mr. SOWERS. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but the Senate may refuse to concur in our amendments, and then we will never get anywhere. We hope to pass the bill.

Mr. RICHARDS. That is exactly what you are not doing now, Mr. Speaker, if you wish to insert a further amendment so the Senate would be doing the very thing that you are now trying to accomplish.

Mr. SOWERS. I don't think so.

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, that if this bill is permitted to pass second reading, it would then appear on the calendar for third reading and when in that position it would necessarily require the unanimous consent of the House to offer amendments. The gentleman can, by a majority vote of the House reconsider the vote by which the bill passed second reading and place it back on second reading at which time the amendments can be inserted if the House desires.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, in view of your suggestion I withdraw my motion.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, is there any business before the House at the present time.

The SPEAKER. Senate Bill No. 42 is now before the House on second reading. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if a motion to lay this bill on the table with amendments, would not accomplish what he wants?

Mr. SOWERS. I think the Speaker's suggestion will probably accomplish what we desire.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

NAYS—3

Bidelspacher,	Fitzgerald,	Goodnough, Speaker.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, by the vote, which has just now been recorded, this House is on record that twelve million dollars shall be appropriated for unemployment relief.

When I addressed this House last week I pointed out that unless from some other authority it is shown to the members of this House that funds will be available in the Treasury of the Commonwealth to meet this obligation, in the event that the bill is passed by the Senate and approved by the Governor, it will become necessary to raise revenues at least equal in amount to the twelve million dollars provided for in this bill.

Last week I called to the attention of the House that if the House, in its wisdom, chose to pass a direct relief bill in any amount, the Ways and Means Committee would then be prepared to consider means by which that revenue might be raised.

There are now in the Way and Means Committee one or more bills that should have its consideration. There have been mentioned in the public press, and unofficially on the floor of this House, various other sources of revenue from which by taxation we may find sufficient monies to meet this obligation.

For these reasons, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Ways and Means Committee I ask that that committee be now allowed to meet to consider those bills, to which I have referred, and other bills which if passed or rather introduced, because they have not yet been introduced, may provide sufficent revenue to meet this obligation. If the House sees fit to permit the Ways and Means Committee to meet, as I have suggested, then it will meet in the House Caucus Room immediately upon the approval of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to say that practically the desk is clear, and may we ask if it is the intention of the Ways and Means Committee to make a report on the bills this evening, or will it meet with the convenience of that committee if they are allowed to sit at this time and before they rise the House should adjourn until tomorrow morning?

Mr. STERLING. The question that will come before the Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Speaker, are very momentous, and I would hesitate to ask this House to wait until the Ways and Means Committee has disposed of the questions that will come before it.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of information in connection with the request of the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; may I ask if there are bills referred to that Committee tonight, if the Committee will have those bills in its possession to act upon.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Heffran, and the members of the House, the Chair desires to say that if permission is given, we will immediately refer all bills that have been introduced this evening, and if any are referred to the Way and Means Committee, they will be in the possession of the Resident Clerk from whom, we have no doubt, they can be immediately procured.

Mr. STERLING. If, as the Speaker has said, the desk is clear, then the request that I make need not be pressed, and the Committee will meet immediately after adjournment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has these bills that it would like to refer and some little business that might require the attention of the House for a few minutes. Are there objections to this committee meeting during the session of the House? The Chair hears none, and permission is granted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, we have just passed an unemployment relief bill. I suppose we ought to be congratulated, having been here nearly six weeks, for having passed one unemployment relief bill, and I don't know just how many congratulations we should heap upon ourselves for having passed this particular one. When this bill was first introduced it appropriated twenty-four million dollars for unemployment relief, then it was amended so that when we passed it, it was twelve million dollars. I see by reading the bill that it now provides for one million and a half dollars to be distributed each month over a period of eight months. We have been told that there are one million two hundred thousand unemployed in Pennsylvania. We are going to give them a million and a half dollars a month, and it does not take a great deal of arithmetic to figure out that this is one dollar and a quarter apiece. I would like to know how many members of this House would care to live on one dollar and a quarter a month. Please raise your hands. Really, members, I think you are trying to insult the unemployed. This is not relief—a dollar and a quarter a month, ten dollars for eight months. Certainly no member of this House thinks that an unemployed person can live or exist on that amount, and it is idle to say that the Federal government may give us something. True, they may, but I understand that in that Federal bill there is a provision to the effect that the states must show that they have done their utmost, and something tells me we may have difficulty in convincing anybody that the wealthy State of Pennsylvania has done its utmost in giving a dollar and a quarter apiece to the unemployed per month.

Last week a member of the House made a statement to the effect that if we did not give more unemployment relief, there might be more Socialists elected to the next House, and then you promptly expunged it from the record. You may have difficulty in expunging a fact such as this from the minds of the people of the State of Pennsylvania. They may remember that this House thought of the unemployed to the extent of a dollar and a quarter a month and no more, and they may think that it is desirable to make changes. If that was all that the people would probably do about it, there wouldn't be much use of my getting up here and talking, but really I feel there is a danger. I don't believe that the unemployed are going to go on starving indefinitely. I don't believe that they are going to exist on a dollar and a quarter a month indefinitely. They can't. You know quite well, they can't. You and your family can't get on with any such amount and you would not try to. Are you going to tell the unemployed of Pennsylvania, "We can't give you jobs. We can't give you the right to make a living for yourselves, and we won't give you enough to exist in decency." If you do, are you still going to say to them, "You must respect the government; you must not do anyhing about it." If you do, you are asking a great deal.

I am one that does not want to see a violent revolution; I don't want to see food riots; I don't want to see a violent upheaval. I want to see conditions change by peaceful legislative means. If we want to do it, I want to say that it is our first duty to provide sufficient relief to keep the unemployed decently throughout the coming Winter, and I say that in order to do that we will have to make an appropriation at least five times as big as the one we have made here tonight, and if you get that, plus all we are likely to get from the Federal government, it is still doubtful whether you will be able to keep the unemployed in decency. But at least we can go back and say that we made a real attempt, we have tried to do something substantial, but to go back home and say, "Here's a dollar and a quarter a month, get along with it the best you can," is an insult and I don't believe the unemployed of Pennsylvania are going to take it any other way.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened patiently and with a great deal of interest to the remarks of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, and I think it is time than an answer was made to the charge that the unemployed and those in distress in this State are only receiving one dollar and twenty-five cents per month.

I have figures before me, that were given to me this morning by the Auditor General, showing that the county of Berks received under the Talbot act $246,235.74. They show that the county had disbursed, as of July 28th, the sum of $125,750.15, leaving a cash balance in bank of this fund, insofar as pertains to Berks County, of $120,485.59. They show that they had bills outsanding, as of that date, amounting to $90,971.42. So, may I say to the gentleman from Berks that when all the bills have been paid, for which obligations have been made, there will remain an unencumbered balance, as of July 28th, of $29,514.17.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot, I desire to read from the first page of the "Reading Eagle" of August 1st, 1932, this evening, an article headed:

"RELIEF WORK FACES CRISIS

"Additional Funds Needed Here to Continue Aid to Distressed Families

"Poor Directors Decide to Continue Relief

"Directors of the poor at a conference with relief officials late this afternoon decided to continue unemployment relief work.

" 'We dare not stop operating our relief organization,' declared Poor Director Milton Luft and J. Clinton Bach, president of the Board of Poor Directors, agreed with him.

"The poor directors decided to keep the relief organization operating and for that purpose new vouchers will be procured to replace the Talbot forms when money from the State fund is gone at the end of this week. Grocers were urged to return the Talbot vouchers to the relief headquarters as soon as possible after Saturday.

"Mr. Luft reported that he understood a provision will be made in the relief measure now before the State Legislature to reimburse communities for money they spend on relief, until State aid is available. In case the communities are not allowed this reimbursement, the directors of the poor will float a loan to take care of all relief vouchers issued between the time the present Talbot fund is depleted and additional State aid is forthcoming.

"Unemployment relief in Reading and Berks county must be discontinued unless additional funds are secured by the end of this week.

"Seibert L. Witman, director of relief, said today that sufficient funds are on hand to carry on the work until Saturday.

" 'By the end of the week there might be $4,000 or $5,000 left in our treasury,' he said. 'We are taking no chances, however, so we will not exceed our funds. Talbot relief forms may not be issued unless there is money on hand to pay the bills. We will not spend the fund to the last penny because we don't know what emergency may arise. That reserve of about $5,000 will be disbursed over the following week or two from the central office.'

"Letters have been sent to the district offices by Mr. Witman to notify the voucher writers not to issue any Talbot forms after Saturday. All unused Talbot forms are to be returned to the central headquarters after Saturday.

"Instructions Issued

" 'Do not issue any two-week allowances, as these charges would carry over beyond the limit of the money allotted,' Mr. Witman informed the voucher writers. 'At this date we cannot tell just what our system hereafter will be, as we are awaiting the orders of the Poor Board. However, we would suggest that you advise your families to spend their vouchers sparingly, as we are not sure whether funds from the Poor Board will be available on August 6. We will give you further instructions within a week.'

"Mr. Witman wrote a second letter to the Poor Board, notifying the members of the action he had taken relative to the vouchers, and adding:

"'It is imperative that the Poor Board immediately make further arrangements that the service thus far rendered to our citizens who are in distress may not be discontinued.'

"To discuss the relief situation and to determine in what manner aid is to be rendered after August 6, members of the Poor Board held a conference this afternoon with Mr. Witman.

"'If no money is forthcoming,' declared Mr. Witman, 'there is nothing else to do but close down. I am hoping that fur 's will be provided either locally or by the State or Federal government.'

"Free Flour Available

"Should the work have to cease, the central headquarters will remain open a few weeks longer. The accounting department must continue to operate to take care of outstanding bills and vouchers. Workers also will be on hand to distribute free flour sent here by the Federal Farm Board. At present, there are still about three car loads on hand.

"'Should we be compelled to shut off the work,' explained Mr. Witman, 'the only forms of relief that the unemployed will have left will be food from the garden plots and the free flour. When our work ceases, the unemployment problem will be exclusively in the hands of the county commissioners and the poor directors. In some cases we may be able to stretch the relief vouchers for two weeks instead of one and for that reason we are advising our families to use them sparingly. We will hold a meeting some time this week to determine what is to be done with our staff, including the home visitors. There is a possibility that the poor directors may wish to retain the staff of visitors to keep in contact with the families.'

"Should relief be forthcoming from the State or from the $45,000,000 loan that Governor Pinchot has asked of the Reconstruction Finance Board, no assistance can be looked for until several weeks hence. With any additional funds coming in, new vouchers and forms must be printed as the Talbot forms could not be used.

"5,100 Families Get Aid

"Mr. Witman said that at present there are 5,100 families on the relief list, totaling 19,000 persons. When the city was compelled to cease its boulevard project on Mt. Penn, due to lack of funds, practically all men employed there turned to the Relief Board for aid. With the small amount that remained in the boulevard fund a group of about 50 men were kept on the job taking care of finishing touches. City officials today notified Mr. Witman that the remainder of this fund would be depleted by the end of the week and the small squad must be laid off.

"Since last Fall approximately $646,000 has been dispersed here for unemployment relief, either in the form of relief vouchers, or for a work-relief program. Of this total, $246,-235.74 was from the Talbot relief fund. Public subscriptions totaled $100,000, the city floated a relief bond issue for $100,000, and the county pledged $200,000. The county still owes $6,000 on this pledge, but this money will go in paying vouchers already distributed.

"Mr. Witman estimated that to carry on unemployment relief work to the end of the year the cost will be $80,000 a month, or a total of $400,000."

The relief funds in Berks County are practically exhausted or will be exhausted in the coming week. The figures on unemployment throughout the State as compiled by the various State departments show that there are one million two hundred thousand unemployed. This bill provides for one million five hundred thousand dollars per month, and I still contend that it means a dollar and a quarter per month, and no more.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, about ten days ago House Bill 129 was before the members for their consideration, and I was one of the members who spoke on this floor against that bill. That bill had about twenty-three million dollars which was to be taken from various departments of the State, and if it had passed the Senate and been signed by the Governor, that amount of money would have been given for relief. Now tonight I voted for this twelve million dollar bill. Some may say to me, "How does it come that you voted against House Bill 129 and yet you support this bill?" Well, my answer to that question is this: If according to the information I receive, that the bill before the House tonight would be signed, is correct, I shall be willing to give, as Mr. Hoopes has stated, one dollar and a quarter to each of the unemployed in this State. A dollar and a quarter is very insignificant.

I do not doubt that if every member of this House would be just as energetic in behalf of many other bills as this bill, we could get one hundred million dollars out and give it to those who are out of work and those who are incapacitated and cannot work. Therefore, I make this statement. Those of you who are chairmen of various committees and have these various important bills in those committees, please report them out so that we can do something for the unfortunates in this State.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Our blessed Heavenly Father, we humbly bow before Thee in recognition of Thy sovereignty and the majesty of Thy being. Thou hast wrought marvelously in ages past in the carrying out of Thy great designs. Thou art the Supreme Ruler this hour, and our hope for the years to come.

Since Thou art guided by unerring wisdom and purest benevolence in all Thy dealings with men, we entreat Thee that we may harmonize our deeds with Thy great purposes. We would not set up our weak human will against Thy divine will.

Make known to us from day to day what Thou dost demand of us, and then give us grace to serve Thee acceptably, in our Redeemer's Name. Amen.

RESIGNATION OF Mr. W. D. B. AINEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Mr. RAIL. Mr. President, I present the following communication from Mr. W. D. B. Ainey, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, accompanied by a statement:

Harrisburg, Pa., August 2, 1932.

To the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:
Gentlemen:

I hereby tender to you my resignation as a member of the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Yours respectfully,

WM. D. B. AINEY.

Harrisburg, Pa., August 2, 1932.

I am nearly seventy years of age and owing to my physical condition, which has grown steadily worse, I am advised by my physician, Dr. Shaw, that I cannot undertake to go through the arduous trial which now confronts me in view of the Senate Investigation.

It is with keen regret that I am compelled to make this statement. I owe it to the public as well as to myself to face my accusers and to demonstrate my innocence, but my physical condition is such that I would not be able to stand up under the strain of a trial. I have come to this conclusion with a great deal of reluctance.

I am a poor man. I have no means of carrying on this trial and were it not for the faithful and loyal devotion of my personal counsel I would not be able to go as fas as I have.

In tendering my resignation to the Senate and the Governor I want to say to the people of this Commonwealth and to the friends who have loyally stood by me in this matter that I am innocent of the various charges that have been made against me.

The Chapman charges were founded in blackmail and my answer as furnished to the Governor under date of July 11, 1932 is a complete refutation of these charges.

The Governor has seen fit to make additional charges and for which he has fixed a public hearing on August 8, 1932. As to these latter charges I want to deny each and every one of them.

I never directly or indirectly had any notice or knowledge that A. W. Thompson paid my hospital expenses at the John Hopkin's Hospital if he did pay the same. Mr. Thompson had no authority from me directly or indirectly to pay these bills if they were paid by him. It was a distinct revelation to me when this charge was presented against me.

During the time that I was at the John Hopkins Hospital, I paid whatever bills were rendered to me and if my physical condition would permit, it was my intention to show to the Senate of Pennsylvania or any Committee thereof, the amounts of money that I paid while in this hospital. This being so it is manifest that the Thompson story could not have been true. I was a very ill man while I was in the John Hopkin's Hospital and my life was despaired of and I am not familiar with what took place in the Hospital owing to my condition.

I have asked no charity from anyone and this applies to Thompson as well as anyone else.

I have not received any favors from railroads. When I traveled on the railroads of this and other states I paid my railroad fares and the charges incident to the same.

When I went abroad in 1927 on the Berengaria I paid Mr. Millar $940.00 or $960.00 representing the amount of my transportation and neither the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, the Mitten Men and Management Company, A. B. Millar or any one else ever paid my expenses to Europe.

As to the allegations of the Governor that I am a rich man, I can only say that this charge is untrue and unfounded. When I came to Harrisburg from my native town of Montrose, Susquehanna County, Pa., I had by thrift and industry acquired some means. I had been a successful practicing attorney. My wants were few and my demands were simple. I leave Public Service today a poor man, broken in health and in spirit and my only regret is that I am not able to face the enemies who gather around to destroy my reputation in the twilight of my lift. I bow to the inevitable for I have no control over my physical condition.

I have been a member of the Public Service Commission for seventeen years. During that time I have endeavored to do my duty in accordance with my oath of office and of conscience.

In leaving the scenes of these activities, my delightful associations with the members of the Commission, I do so with the keenest regret, but more so the fact that base imputations have been cast upon my fair name. I leave it to those who know me and who have had daily contact with me and those who had public relationship with me to judge whether or not the statements as made and widely broadcast without an opportunity of explanation on my part are true or false. I can say to those who know me that they are false and so I rest my case.

WILLIAM D. B. AINEY.

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I move that the resignation of Mr. W. D. B. Ainey as a member of the Public Service Commission be accepted and the office declared vacant.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE THE CHARGES AGAINST W. D. B. AINEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to present report of committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Whereas, Your Committee was appointed on the first day of August, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two, by the President pro tempore of the Senate, pursuant to Senate Resolution Serial Number 8, to investigate charges of misconduct in office against Honorable W. D. B. Ainey, a member of and Chairman of the Public Service Commission, and

Whereas, The said W. D. B. Ainey has this day resigned as a Public Service Commissioner, his resignation has been accepted and the office declared vacant, and

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. Hagmaier, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. WALL asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Wade for today.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have a matter here that I think is worthy of our serious consideration.

Yesterday, during the morning, I looked into the finances of the State, and I found in a report of the budget officer a statement that was made as of June 30th. It gives the appropriations made for this biennium, and it shows how much was appropriated and how much was expended during the first thirteen months of the biennium.

I ascertained that there has been appropriated $191,447,803.08; I want to be very explicit. The expenditures for the first thirteen months were $88,449,331.60. Understand, these figures are taken from a report made to an officer in the Treasury Department by, I undestood, the budget officer—I judge Mr. Logan. The expenditures for the thirteen months would roughly be about $7,000,000 a month. With that expenditure made, there would remain $103,951,575.91. If we could look into the affairs of our fiscal officers carefully and sincerely—I use that word "sincerely" in an attempt to accuse or criticize these sub-committees and other committees of not being very sincere, that they do not seem to be as explicit or as careful as they should be, and I hope you will pardon me for criticizing a little bit. If we use that $7,000,000 as a criterion, and continue to expend that during the next eleven months, we will have an expenditure of $74,841,638.96. That would leave remaining $29,118,864.93. In that balance of $29,000,000 there is about $8,733,508 that would be needed perhaps, by the Department of Property and Supplies to construct their different buildings, so that that would leave then about $20,000,000 of money not now needed, if we can find that the $7,000,000 a month is all the appropriation that is needed for the balance of the year. This report mentions each department and its appropriation, and it shows how much each one had appropriated to it, and how much each one has spent. So, I think this matter is worthy of some serious consideration if we want to go any further into it.

I think we should remain here until we have found out whether it is true there is a deficit. I doubt very much whether there is a deficit. I think that our officials here, generally, are very selfish, they want to keep all the money they can in their possession. So, under the circumstances, I felt that I should bring this matter up here, and I ask that it be not only entered in the Journal, but in some way brought to the attention of some committee or a number of men here who could straighten this matter out.

It is very likely that these figures are correct, because they have been taken from official figures in the book that I have right here. Maybe some of you have seen this book, because it can be obtained by a little bit of sneaking around. I feel that if the matter is serious enough for our attention, we should ascertain, when there is an opportunity to find out, whether at this late date it is worthy of further consideration. I do not say that everything here is exactly correct. Possibly there are some differences that will affect the report, but at the same time I think that inasmuch as it is recorded in this book, and, by the way, here is an analysis I have made of it, we should not let it pass. So, in bringing it before you, I ask you to give it your serious consideration, and let us proceed along these lines, together with the others that we have before us.

Another matter I want to bring to your attention is the fact that these figures cannot disturb a salary nor the personnel; they would remain just as they are.

I met Clyde Sheaffer on the street yesterday, and I interrogated him. I said to him, "Clyde, how much money do you expend monthly?" Well, right away, he said, "about seven million dollars." I said, "How would you feel if you had that much per month to the end of this biennium?" He said, "Oh, that would be fine." That was his reply. That gave me encouragement, I felt, for analyzing this book here, and I have the result of that analysis on this yellow sheet of paper, which I would like to be entered in the Journal, and that I should come before the House and make this statement.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to have this analysis of the budget report recorded in the Journal.

Perhaps some of you might have some questions or some thoughts that come to your minds, and I, perhaps, am prepared to answer them. So, I would appreciate it if you do have any questions to ask or suggestions to make, or if this thing looks good to you, to come along.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege and the statement referred to by him will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Patterson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I just wish to preface my question with the remark that I am in sympathy and in favor of the great work that my good friend, Mr. Patterson, has done in this Legislature, and the patience that he has shown in delving into intricate figures of the finances of the Commonwealth, in order to reach the conclusions, which I believe are sound, that he has reached.

I wish to ask the gentleman from Beaver whether, according to the calculations that he has made, that instead of having a deficit at the end of this biennium of some five million dollars, we will have not a deficit of five million dollars, but a surplus at the end of the biennium of some twenty millions of dollars.

Mr. PATTERSON. In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, if these figures are correct—and I only have what I found in this book—there will likely be twenty million dollars of a balance.

Mr. SPANGLER. Has the gentleman taken into consideration, Mr. Speaker, in his calculations, the fact that there will be a falling off of revenue in this State during the next seven or eight months?

Mr. PATTERSON. No, I have not in this statement, Mr. Speaker, but I understand that the revenues are larger than were anticipated; about seven or eight million dollars.

Mr. SPANGLER. That is, up to the present time, may I ask, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. PATTERSON. That is what I understand from the information I have obtained by going around to the different departments and getting what I have got.

Mr. SPANGLER. Do I understand, then, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman has taken into consideration the factors that were taken into consideration by the Revenue Department of the State relative to the falling off of revenues, the depreciation that is apt to take place in the next seven or eight or ten months, and that, taking into consideration the falling off of revenues due to the falling off of business, we still will have a sizeable surplus rather than a deficit?

Mr. PATTERSON. I do not know what the Revenue Department has done, nor does anybody else, excepting themselves, or what they intend to do with the revenues. I am only taking advantage of what I have found which, in my humble opinion, prompts me to believe that the Revenue Department gives us just what they want us to have and nothing more. I am unkind enough to assert that, in my opinion, the Revenue Department does not want us to know everything about our affairs—they are our affairs, not the Revenue Department's, for they are our employes.

Mr. SPANGLER. From a study of the finances of the State, would you be willing to say that this so-called five million dollar deficit, that the Governor has brought out so prominently before us, for this biennium is a myth and does not exist?

Mr. PATTERSON. Of course, Mr. Speaker, I do not want to make that assertion as a fact, but it is my opinion based on what I have learned, and from what investigations I have made, that there is not a deficit, but I do not want you to think that there is not. I am not capable of telling this House that there is no deficit, but in my opinion there is not, and I think it is our duty to find out, in some manner, whether or not that deficit does exist. The other fiscal officers do not come in and help us. I want to criticize them, too. There are two fiscal officers, who are statutory officers, who have never come around to help us, but they do let me in. I get in both the Auditor General's office and the Treasurer's office. I do not go to the Treasurer, but I go to some of his officials that are reasonably and kindly disposed to a man who shows enough interest to go around and spend his time finding out things.

Mr. SPANGLER. They should show interest in such an important matter.

Mr. PATTERSON. The only one that shows any interest is the Revenue Department, and they do that, in my opinion, because it is to their interest to go along with us, but the regular fiscal officers do not show, in my opinion, any interest whatever. I might say another thing: Governor Pinchot claims that he had the understanding with the Republican Organization that they were satisfied with this program.

Mr. SPANGLER. The Fourteen Point Program?

Mr. PATTERSON. The Fourteen Point Program. Now, we are the ones to be satisfied, not the Republican Organization. I do not say that because I am both Republican and Democrat, but I do say it because I think we ought to be ashamed of ourselves to find ourselves in a position where the Governor can say, "Well General Martin, as Chairman of the Republican Organization, agreed with me on these points." We did not agree with it, did we? Not a bit of it, and I might say, while I am here—now, I am going to take advantage of you—that when these blocs met prior to the call of the Governor on June 6th (the first one), I had the honor perhaps, of being invited to both blocs, the Talbot-Turner bloc and the Wade Sheffer bloc.

Mr. SPANGLER. They regarded you as the cement to hold those two blocs together?

Mr. PATTERSON. I do not know whether that was the case or not, but anyhow I went, for I will go anywhere I am invited. I am invited to but very few places, but I go anywhere I am invited if I have the time and the inclination to go.

When the Talbot Bloc met they conferred with the other blocs and agreed on a program. The two blocs agreed, I believe, on the 20th of June—that is my recollection—and their programs were almost identical, and the Governor, I understand, agreed with the program presented by the Wade-Sheffer Bloc, and stated that it was satisfactory, but the next think I learned was that these fourteen points had been approved by the State Organization.

When we were called into session, I thought that we were going to be able to present any kind of a bill that we desired. Accordingly, I put in several bills; in fact, a great many. One of the calendars was composed almost entirely of my bills, and then I learned from Mr. Fertig that my bills were not in accordance with the Governor's call, and I had the courage, the same as I had to put them in, to take them out.

All those boards and commissions ought to be removed, but I have ascertained that that could not be done at this time. So, when I discovered that I was mistaken, I pulled those bills out to save the expense of printing.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I have one more question to ask the gentleman: Does not the gentleman believe, taking into consideration the text of the Governor's call, that this Legislature has been largely hamstrung by the Governor?

Mr. PATTERSON. I think so. I think our Governor should have given us our plenary rights.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, briefly summarizing the remarks of my colleague and esteemed friend, the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Patterson, and deprecating the lack of attention and courtesy on the part of some of my colleagues, in not giving him the attention which I think this tremendous subject deserves may I inquire of the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Patterson, or anyone, who might be able to summarize this recapitulation of the State finances, which I understand the Governor has not permitted to be presented in the form of a readable bank statement, by virtue of the vetoing of the resolution of my colleague, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner—may I inquire whether you so stated that the appropriations to date aggregate $191,447,908.08, of which in the first thirteen months, $88,449,331.60 were expended, or an average of about seven million dollars a month?

Mr. PATTERSON. Yes.

Mr. KLECKNER. And do I understand the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Speaker, to say that Mr. Clyde Sheaffer of the Department of Revenue stated that about seven million dollars a month would be sufficient to operate this government properly?

Mr. PATTERSON. Yes sir.

Mr. KLECKNER. Under the figures that you submitted, is it your understanding and am I to believe that the balance of $103,951,575.91 would be sufficient on the same basis of meeting the ordinary expenses of the government, to continue at the rate of seven million dollars a month, and that a balance of approximately twenty-nine million dollars would remain at the end of the current biennium?

Mr. PATTERSON. I said that.

Mr. KLECKNER. And am I to understand, Mr. Speaker, that approximately $74,841,638.96 would be needed to operate this government, for the ordinary expenses to May 31, 1933?

Mr. PATTERSON. I said, seventy-seven. I just gave you a round figure.

Mr. KLECKNER. That would be about seven million dollars a month, Mr. Speaker.

Has the Department of Revenue given us any information as to the anticipated amount of funds that will come into the State in the next ten months, or to the close of the biennium?

Mr. PATTERSON. I did not mention anything about that, Mr. Speaker. I believe you will find in the paper you have there what the Revenue Department has estimated.

Mr. KLECKNER. Thank you. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, to the Legislative Journal of Tuesday, July 5, 1932, Volume 14, No. 4, may I refer and call your attention to the statement which was submitted by the Secretary of Revenue and urge upon you its serious consideration, urge it upon you individually and as a Committee of the Whole, and at the same time the delegation of this most important work to sub-committees. There seems to be a reaction to the reference of this work to sub-committees. I am not criticizing the appropriations sub-committees, because this is a tremendous task, gentlemen; it is your task and it is my task to analyze these figures, and there seems to be a growing sentiment against the delegation of this task to sub-committees. May I ask that you demand that this work and this task of analyzing and breaking down this report, to show just what it means in the cost per day and the cost per month and the cost per biennium, as to just what those costs are, that you, as an individual, as a Committee of the Whole on the Floor, and not the Legislature, demand from the proper fiscal authorities just how much is required, how much will come in, and demand facts and not an estimate?

For that purpose, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I contend that the step of Mr. Patterson, the gentleman from Beaver, is a step in the right direction; that we are getting somewhere and that the figures, which will be here assembled and presented to you will assist this conference, will guide this conference committee, will guide the Legislature, and will, at least, give the people back home a readable bank statement, so that they can see how much money has gone into the General Fund, and how much will be available, and whether it is to be regarded as a surplus or as an amount, at the end of the biennium, to present to the next administration.

In the same report may I call your earnest attention to this point and this apparent discrepancy, between the statement given by the Secretary of Revenue, Dr. King, before the Court when the Tablot Bill was construed, in regard to the estimates and the inclusive estimates in the return of the Delaware River Bridge Bonds? In one breath, I understand, he said that it was included, and in another statement to the Committee, he said that it was not included, but in that same statement he said that $156,617,572 represented the budget estimate. To that you must add the $35,000,000 turned over to the Treasury at the close of the last administration, making in round figures, $192,000,000. Now, there were certain other funds that were in there, that were earmarked for certain purposes. We know of the $10,000,000 fund in the Highway Department, of which, I believe, $1,600,000, in rough figures, has been repaid. Taking all those figures into consideration, I urge your serious attention individually and as a Committee of the Whole, and not by reference of them to a separate committee, because we must consider the problems that are confronting us today ourselves. Our Speaker very ably spoke to us last week, and the Press Daily says that so and so is in favor of taxes but against a bond issue, and in principle and theory that is perfectly proper, but in the final analysis you and I must decide whether we are going to tax our constituents back home. I think His Excellency, the Governor, made in the first week of this Extraordinary Session, a statement that he was against the imposition of any taxes. I ask you, from the figures submitted, how are we intelligently to pass upon the necessity for or against the imposition of extra taxes? If, in the first week of this session, His Excellency and the Secretary of Revenue did not see fit to recommend the imposition of additional taxes, I contend that at this time there is no greater necessity for the imposition of additional taxes.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened with a very great deal of interest to the statement made by the gentleman from Beaver, the interrogations of the gentleman from York, and the comment of the gentleman from Lehigh.

I think it all calls to our attention something of vital importance at this particular moment, and that it should be taken up by each one of us now, and not deferred any longer, so as not to permit any more appropriations that might lead to additional taxation.

If there was an appropriation of $191,000,000, and there has been expended in thirteen months more than $88,000,000, and there is one hundred and three or almost one hundred and four million dollars yet remaining for the eleven months, and if it is correct that it takes $7,000,000 per month to run the government of the State of Pennsylvania, there will be a balance of something like $29,000,000 still remaining unaccounted for. It has been said that $35,000,000 was handed by the past administration to the present administration, and adding that to the figure of the appropriation of $191,000,000 that was spoken of, would make it practically $192,000,000, and that something like $9,000,000 was under commitment by the Department of Property and Supplies, leaving a balance of $20,000,000 unaccounted for somewhere. I believe that it is the duty of every individual member of this House to stop now, analyze the situation, learn exactly what is being done, and keep from passing any sort of measure that would add a single cent in the way of taxation to the burden of the citizens of Pennsylvania.

I am in hearty accord with what the gentleman has said, and I insist, as a member of this House, that each one of us treat it as seriously as it has been by him who made that investigation, and if there be $20,000,000 in the hands of the authorities today in the State of Pennsylvania, let us get it out and apply it to where it belongs, and solve this problem, before the addition of any other taxes. If that be the case, let us do it and do it now.

The SPEAKER. The remarks by the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 240 (Senate Bill No. 174), entitled:

An Act creating the State Emergency Relief Board naming the first members of said board prescribing its powers and duties and making an appropriation to be disbursed by the board for the relief of the unemployed and empowering the board to disburse moneys received from the State and Federal government for the relief of the unemployed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it ust occurred to me that possibly we woujld not like to add to this farce in this session by voting for this bill in the form in which it comes to us from the Senate.. Just as a matter of mere curiosity, the other day I looked up in the Congressional Record to see just what authority the Legislature had over this proposed Federal fund. I found these words: "The amount paid to the governor of a state or territory shall be administered by the governor, under his direction and upon his responsibility. The governor shall file with the secretary and with the auditor of the state or territory a statement of the disbursements made by him under this section." Now, there is no obscurity to this language, it puts the responsibility and authority solely upon the chief executive of the states who acquire aid from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. I don't know where the Legislature of Pennsylvania, or the legislature of any other state, got authority to amend a federal enactment, and certainly we don't want to set ourselves up as a lot of dumb-bells by trying to butt in on what Congress did. Naturally, the administration of this money will involve a whole lot of grief, and personally I am willing to let Congress determine who shall bear that grief.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, owing to the fact that I was studying another bill I missed the calling up of this bill. It was my intention to move to place this bill upon the postponed calendar and I now move that that be done.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION NO. 25

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 25, Printer's No. 242.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 26, 1932.

Whereas The members of the General Assembly are legally entitled to compensation amounting to five hundred dollars ($500.00) for attendance at this special session and

Whereas To the date of this resolution after almost five weeks of session the members of the General Assembly have each received two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) in part payment of their compensation and

Whereas This Legislature has passed resolutions requesting judges and officers of the executive branch of government to accept reduced compensation for their services therefore be it

Rsolved (if the Senate concur) That the members of the General Assembly hereby agree to accept a reduction of one hundred dollars ($100.00) from the amount of compensation to be paid by the Commonwealth at the end of this Special Session of the Legislature and hereby further agree that said amount so to be deducted by the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth from their compensation shall be paid by warrant of the Auditor General on the State Treasurer into the county treasuries of the respective counties in which the members suffering the reduction in compensation reside which moneys shall be expended by said counties only for the payment of wages to unemployed persons for the performance of such work as the county commissioners of the several counties and the city council of cities coextensive with counties shall prescribe

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of Mr. Williams whether this resolution represents a twenty per cent reduction of the compensation paid to each member of this House?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Lehigh, I would say it does not, so far as the salary of the present session is concerned, but if the gentleman will take into consideration the fact that he drew five hundred dollars for the previous extraordinary session he would realize that it amounts to only ten per cent.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, is it the sentiment of the gentleman from Tioga to encourage a twenty per cent reduction in the compensation of all State officers from the Governor on down to the lowest member of the House of Representatives?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I have no thought on that matter.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire whether it would be proper to move for the reference of this resolution to a committee to permit its amendment so that a twenty per cent reduction in salary may be attached to this resolution so that the House may also express its opinion on the desirability of reducing the salaries of all State officers?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, it is entirely up to the gentleman from Lehigh to offer an amendment.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I now offer that amendment and ask for the gentleman's approval of that amendment.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I do not approve of it, and on the motion of the gentleman from Lehigh I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Kleckner, move the reference of the resolution to a committee?

RESOLUTION COMMITTED

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that Resolution No. 25, Printer's No. 242, be referred to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. George W. Williams and Mr. Joseph T. Evans, and were as follows:

RESOLUTION No. 27

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 27, Printer's No. 249.

In the House of Representatives, August 1, 1932.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee on Ways and Means be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 72, entitled:

An act abating penalties on State and local taxes and providing for the collection of interest on delinquent taxes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, this bill proposes a principle that is very important at this time. The bill was introduced at the early part of the session and referred to the Ways and Means Committee, and there was also a similar bill introduced by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Nothnagle, and both bills have been reposing in the Committee on Ways and Means and the committee has refused to report either of these bills to the floor of the House. Now this bill, House Bill No. 72, is identical with the bill introduced by Mr. Nothnagle, with the exception that it includes State taxes as well as city, borough, town, township, school district and poor district taxes, and the bill provides for the abatement of penalties on the payment of delinquent taxes until the fisrt day of June, 1935. Now, we all realize that at the present time—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, though I am very reluctant to close the debate on the merits of the bill, yet I believe that the motion before this House is to discharge a committee.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken and the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler, will confine himself to the motion before the House.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the Clerk read this bill in full to the members of the House so the members will understand it.

The Clerk read the bill in full as follows:

An Act abating penalties on State and local taxes and providing for the collection of interest on delinquent taxes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all tax penalties imposed by existing laws on State county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes are hereby abolished during the time this act is in effect and all penalties now added to such taxes remaining unpaid when this becomes effective are hereby abated On all State and local taxes delinquent and unpaid at the time this act takes effect and on all such taxes which shall become delinquent during the time this act remains in force interest at the rate of six per centum per annum shall be added from the date the same became delinquent until taxes are paid

This act shall be construed to apply to all taxes whether or not liens for such taxes have been filed in the office of the prothonotary of any county or the lands against which such taxes are charged have been returned to county commissioners for tax sale purposes

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and remain in force until the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to explain to the House that this motion in no way concerns the merits of this bill. The question before the House now is whether the House considers that the provisions of this bill are of sufficient importance to be considered by the whole House in view of the fact that the committee has refused to report this bill out. I am, therefore, asking the members of this House to vote for this motion to put the bill upon the calendar and after it is placed upon the calendar they can determine for themselves as to the merits thereof.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as I conceive it, a committee may be discharged from the further consideration of a measure if the records of that committee indicate that it has given no consideration to a measure or measures. But referring to the original minutes of the Ways and Means Committee in respect to these bills I find that on or about July 6th that they were referred to a sub-committee, that subsequently on July 12th the bills were again brought before the committee for consideration and they were remanded with the sub-committee. Finally on July 27th, which you will note is not much more than a week ago, the committee on Ways and Means considered both bills to which my friend from York, Mr. Spangler, referred, known as House Bills No. 104 and 72, and as I read from the original records of the committee I find that a motion prevailed that the consideration of the measures be postponed for the present.

Now, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my good friend from York is probably as well informed on parliamentary procedure and committee procedure as any member of this House, and he well knows that when a committee can demonstrate by its record that on three occasions in the short period of six weeks it considered a measure, it deserves by all means to have the support of this House and that support justifies the defeat of this motion.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just wish to say that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, is correct; that both these bills were referred to a sub-committee and that the sub-committee decided to submit House Bill No. 104 to the general committee. It was the greatest difficulty that I got any hearing at all in the Ways and Means Committee with respect to either of these two bills. At the time that this bill was taken up by me in committee, the committee had been engaged with other questions and I am not certain that the committee on Ways and Means ever gave a thorough deliberation to the merits or demerits of this particular bill, or House Bill No. 104. The bill, as I say, was hastily considered and hastily returned and that is where the situation stands today, and now I say in view of the fact that the bill embodied such an important question to the taxpayers and to the people of this State, that we certainly should have the privilege of having a bill of this character placed upon the calendar where its merits can be determined and be passed upon at another time. I therefore ask you to support this motion.

Mr. MATHAY. Mr. Speaker, the two bills that the gentleman from York refers to, House Bills Nos. 104 and 72, were referred to a sub-committee composed of Messrs, Wilson, Wike, Simon, Haines and myself as chairman, and both bills received consideration by the sub-committee. It was decided to report out House Bill No. 104, which was reported out. Subsequently the bill was reported to the Committee on Ways and Means. I want to impress upon the membership of the House that these bills received consideration by the sub-committee and the sub-committee agreed to keep House Bill No. 72 in the sub-committee of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mathay?

Mr. MATHAY. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if he will kindly inform me who the members of the sub-committee were.

Mr. MATHAY. Messrs. Wilson, Simon, Wike, Haines and myself, and I discussed the bill with you.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further ask the gentleman—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, it is my impression that the deliberations of a committee are secret and no part or parcel of the records of the House, and therefore I think both gentlemen are out of order.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman is right about that.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken, the proceedings of the committee may not be divulged except as the the proceedings may appear at a public hearing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Ways and Means Committee has been called for a meeting at 8 o'clock this evening, Standard Time. It is possible that that committee will report certain bills for the consideration of the House. Therefore, it seems advisable that we should have a meeting of the House at 9.30 o'clock, Standard Time, this evening for the purpose of receiving reports, in the event that the Ways and Means Committee will report out bills. In that case it will enable us to read the bills for the first time, and the second time to-morrow, and have the bills on third reading and final passage on next Monday night, thus permitting the House to adjourn to-morrow for the week.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. BLACK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 246, Printer's No. 252 on page 1 of to-day's calendar, bills on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 246, entitled:

An Act imposing an emergency State income tax for unemployment relief and providing for the distribution of the proceeds thereof

The first section was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That DEFINITIONS For the purpose of this act the following words and terms shall be construed to mean

"Department" shall mean the Department of Revenue of the Commonwealth created by The Administrative Code of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine

"Taxpayer" means a natural person and any estate

"Taxable year" means the year upon the basis of which the net income of a taxpayer is computed under this act

"Resident" as applied to an individual means any person domiciled in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and any person who maintains a permanent place of abode within the Commonwealth

"Dividend" means any distribution made by a corporation joint stock association or any limited partnership subject or not subject to the payment of a tax on capital stock under the laws of the Commonwealth out of its net earnings or profits to its stockholders or members whether in cash or in other property or in stock other than stock dividends as hereinafter defined

"Stock dividends" mean new stock for surplus or profits capitalized issued to stockholders in proportion to their previous holdings

"Fiduciary" means a guardian committee executor or administrator acting in any fiduciary capacity for any person under legal disability or estate

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 IMPOSITION OF INCOME TAX An emergency excise tax is hereby imposed annually for three years upon the net income as defined and determined in this act of every taxpayer resident in this Commonwealth at the rate of one per cent (1%) Such tax shall be levied collected and paid on or before the fifteenth day of April in the years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five for the taxable years ending on the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four respectively

A like tax is hereby imposed and shall be levied and collected and paid annually at the rate specified in this section upon and with respect to the entire net income as herein defined from all property owned and from every business trade occupation or profession carried on in this State by natural persons not residents of this State

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 2, line 22 by striking out "one" and inserting "three."'

Amend Section 2, page 2, line 22 by striking out the figure "1" and inserting in lieu there of the figure "3."

One the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. We have before the House two amendments to Section No. 2 of this bill, one provides that the word "one" shall be stricken out and the word "two" inserted. Another amendment, which has not yet been read, provides that the word "one" shall be stricken out and the word "three" shall be inserted. The amendment now before the House if adopted will strike out the provisions for one per cent. and make it two per cent.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that it might be proper to vote on the change from one per cent. to three per cent. first and then vote on the change from one per cent. to two per cent. next.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to say that the suggestion of the gentleman from Philadelphia is a very good one; that is to say that in the first instance the House will vote on the amendment for the larger percentage, that is, striking out "one" and making it "three", after which the question will be, whether or not it shall be amended to read "two" instead of "one".

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, if the House adoptes that amendment, does that not preclude the possibility of adopting the other one unless the action of the House is rescinded by a motion?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is advised that in the event the House should adopt the first amendment, it would be an amendment making it three per cent. instead of one per cent. Then the question would be, will the House strike out "three" and make it "two." In other words, on second reading it will be an amendment to an amendment.

Mr. PERRY. That will rescind the proposition of striking out something they have already done, would it not?

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Roan, to Section 2, striking out the word "one" and the figure "1" and inserting the word "three" and the figure "3". That is the question before the House.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that it would be in order, in view of the argument in regard to percentages, to refer this back to committee for disposition and I so move you.

The SPEAKER. The motion is to refer the bill back to the Special Committee for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the Special Committee, in considering this bill and in drafting the bill, drafted it in such a way that it could be readily amended on the floor of the House. Your committee was directed to insert in the bill a one per cent. flat tax. A number of the members wanted a two per cent. tax inserted, others wanted three per cent., and some as much as five per cent. Your committee feels that this is a matter for the House to decide, and that the House, as a body, should vote whether they think three per cent. is proper, or whether two per cent. is proper, or whether one per cent. is proper, and I ask the House to vote down this motion to recommit and that the House itself decide whether the proper amount is three per cent., two per cent. or one per cent.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I am informed that the Ways and Means Committee will hold a meeting this evening to pass on tax measures. At that time it seems to me that this question of rates of percentages can be fully considered before the House would pass on this question. Accordingly, I stand on my original motion to refer this bill and the amendments thereto to the Ways and Means Committee and not the Special Committee.

The SPEAKER. Was that your original motion?

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, it was inadvertently omitted in my motion to refer to the committee, but I had that in mind although I did not so state.

Mr. SOWERS. This goes right to the meat of the matter. If you are for an income tax you will vote "no" on this motion. If you are against an income tax you will vote "yes" on the motion.

Mr. SPEAKER. I ask for a roll call.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, if the motion of the gentleman from Lehigh prevails, there will be nothing to prevent the bill when it comes out of the committee in amended form to be further amended on the floor, so, I think the simpler way is to dispose of it at the present time.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw my request for a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the Noes appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, forty members voting in the affirmative and eighty-three in the negative, the question was decided in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the amendment that is now before the House is the amendment amending Section 2 of House Bill No. 246 by striking out the one per cent. flat rate tax and inserting in lieu thereof a two per cent. flat tax rate. It seems to me that this bill, as drawn, with one per cent. in it will raise approximately five million dollars by way of taxtion and that three per cent. will raise approximately fifteen million dollars.

From the information that I obtained this afternoon I am inclined to believe that with the passage of the Talbot bill making good the abatements and other shortages, the amount of revenue we can recover from extravagance and waste and through economies, approximately seven million dollars is needed to balance our budget. It seems to me that a flat rate of one per cent., with the other items that may be recovered, will probably balance the budget, and I, for one, would prefer if this bill were to start with one per cent. rather than with a larger amount, but I want to be impartial in the matter and leave it to the decision of the House. If the House votes for this amendment it means three per cent. in the bill. If the House says no, then the bill will go back to one per cent., and then the next motion to amend, as I understand, will be the two per cent.

On the queston recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 2, line 22 by striking out "one and inserting "two."

Amend Section 2, page, 2, line 22 by striking out the figure "1" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "2."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The third section was read and agreed to as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 4, page 7, by adding a new clause or paragraph as follows:—"(j) The expenses of maintaining a home for the taxpayer not exceeding the sum of two thousand ($2,000)."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the amendment now before the House is an amendment that I would like to see passed, in order that it may be submitted to the Attorney General tomorrow and some other interested persons. The amendment is peculiar. It may be good and it may be bad. It provides for a deduction to everybody of an allowance of two thousand dollars for the maintenance of a home. That might make the bill unconstitutional or it might not, but the thought is that if it is passed and printed in the bill it can be taken out readily, and then everybody can read it and study it and have some idea to express at a later date.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The fifth section was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 5 HOW TAX COMPUTED On the net income thus determined the tax is imposed by this act shall be computed

The sixth section was read as follows:

Section 6 DEDUCTION FOR MAKING RETURN OR STATEMENTS VERIFICATION PENALTY Every taxpayer shall be allowed a deduction from the tax payable on net income under this act of twenty dollars ($20) and if after making such deduction no tax is actually payable under this act the taxpayer may in lieu of the return file a statement with the Department setting forth his name age compensation and precise residence certifying that after deducting the amount allowed for making the return no tax is actually due and payable by him or her to the Commonwealth and that he or she verfies the truth of such statement and upon conviction of making a false statement in any court of quarter sessions shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth for perjury Provided That no deduction from the tax shall be allowed unless the statement is filed or the tax paid when due

The return of a taxpayer shall be verified in like form and subject to like penalties for false statements as provided above for statements

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 6 by striking out the word "twenty" wherever it appears and inserting in lieu thereof the word "sixty".

Amend the same Section by striking out the figures "$20" wherever they appear and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "$60".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have that amendment withdrawn.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer that amendment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Roan, withdraws the amendment and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, offers the same amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the amendment now offered by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, provides for an allowance of sixty dollars for the preparation of the report and filing it. If that amendment were to prevail you would then have, in effect, an exemption of six thousand dollars. I realize that in Delaware County they earn large sums of money and that the price has to be raised high enough in order that they may secure the exemption. It seems to me, however, that we ought to see that we get some revenue from Delaware County and endeavor—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, referring to Delaware County and myself, that we had to put up this figure, so we could get it under six thousand dollars, I consider as a rather insulting reference to a fellow member of the House. To infer that my salary is under six thousand dollars a year, that is putting it mildly.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will treat the members of the House with respect.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I want to have all the respect that I can for the gentleman from Delaware. I realize that his labors in this House are worth much more than five hundred dollars reduced by one hundred dollars. I realize that he has rendered great service to the Commonwealth and I realize he has rendered great service to this body, and I also think that if there was any way to specially amend the bill that he might have a preference with reference to his income, we ought to try to do it.

Now, members of the House, the motion before you is this: Do you want an exemption of six thousand dollars? If you do vote "aye". If you want to retain the exemption as it now appears at two thousand dollars, vote "no."

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if this is an exemption for the sixty dollars or twenty dollars, as placed in the bill, to provide an exemption, then the bill is clearly unconstitutional and there is no use of our spending the taxpayers' money to have it printed and have it pass through this House. I understand that this fee of twenty dollars, that was put in this bill, was for the purpose of repaying these people for the work they had to go to in preparing the return.

I ask the members of this House just to study this bill a little bit and see what they have to do in order to make up a return to the Commonwealth under this bill. Remember, under this bill it is not only the people who make two thousand or three thousand or five thousand or ten thousand that will have to make a return, but that every man and woman in the Commonwealth will have to make a return. I will ask you to read the bill and see whether or not there are thousands of people in this Commonwealth who will be unable to make that return as provided under this act. Therefore, as it is an arduous duty it seems to me that sixty dollars would only pay an attorney's fee, and in the second place many persons will have to seek some attorney to make out their returns for them. Looking at my good friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, and knowing the purpose for which he generally introduces legislation of this kind, to aid poor lawyers, I feel that it should be made sixty dollars.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I regret that my friend from Delaware, Mr. Turner, thinks that this bill was offered for the purpose of making business for lawyers. Why, this can't make business for lawyers, it can only make business for accountants, not lawyers; even the notary public is eliminated.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia why under that section he allows a person with a two thousand dollar income to be paid twenty dollars for making out an income return, and the man that might have twenty-one hundred dollars of an income receives nothing for making out his return?

Mr. SOWERS. He receives twenty dollars, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. No, he doesn't, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Oh, yes, you read it again.

Mr. SPANGLER. How about the man who makes out an income tax of less than two thousand dollars? He does not make out any income tax return.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York is in error. The allowance of twenty dollars is as stated by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, an allowance for the preparation, filing and prompt payment of the tax, and the allowance of twenty dollars is from the tax that is assessed on the net income. I ask you to vote "no" on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Delaware.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 6 by striking out the word "twenty" wherever it appears and inserting in lieu thereof the word "forty."

Amend the same Section by striking out the figures "$20" wherever they appear and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "$40."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 6, page 8, line 1 to 17, by striking out all contained in lines 1 to 17 inclusive and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Section 6. Deduction for making return or statement, keeping records and accounts, verification, penalty. Every taxpayer shall be allowed an allowance, compensation or deduction from the income tax payable on net income under this act of twenty dollars ($20) for his or her work, labor and services and the work, labor and services of others in and about the making of the accounting, computation and figuring necessary to be made and done to comply with this act and the keeping of a record of his or her gross income and allowable deductions as provided in this act during the taxable year and the said allowances or deductions shall not be construed to be and are not meant to be and are not an exemption of the taxpayer from the payment of the tax in whole or in part but is made only and solely for encouraging the taxpayer to keep proper accounts of his gross income and his net income and the proper deductions allowable by law if after making such accounting and computation no money is actually payable under this act the taxpayer may in lieu of the return file a statement with the department setting forth his name, age net income and precise residence, certifying that after deducting the amount allowed for making, preparing the computation and return no money is actually due and payable by him or her to the Commonwealth and that he or she verifies the truth of such statement and upon conviction of making a false statement in any Court of Quarter Sessions shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth for perjury provided that no deduction from the tax shall be allowed unless the statement or report or return is filed according to law and the tax paid when due according to law. Should the compensation payable to the taxpayer for performing his or her duties as herein above set forth be more than the amount of money required to be paid by the taxpayer then the taxpayer may for the following year or years deduct from the taxes due under this act the sum or sums not deducted retined held or paid to him or her by deduction as aforesaid from the tax due by him or her in the following year or years and until he or she has been fully or partly compensated as provided by this act for making the accounting and keeping the records herein set forth."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the amendment offered to Section 6 is really enlarging Section 6 with the idea of complying fully with our present constitution. The amendment, as rewritten, complies fully with the decisions of the Supreme Courts of three states of this Union that have identical clauses in their constitutions with our. I would ask the members of the House to vote for the amendment.

On the question recurring,

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The hour of 9.30 o'clock having arrived the House will be in order.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, last evening this House passed the Talbot Relief Bill appropriating the sum of $12,000,000 for the relief of the unemployed in the State of Pennsylvania. As has been previously announced by the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of this House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, immediately upon the passsage of that bill it would become incumbent upon the Ways and Means Committee to meet and decide as promptly as possible the manner in which that money shall be raised, and in accord with the previous statement made by the Chairman of that Committee, the Ways and Means Committee met immediately after adjournment last night. A sub-committee was appointed to take and study various revenue raising measures that had been introduced and were before that committee.

In accord with the expedition promised by the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, that Committee met and considered the various tax measures that were before it.

The Committee tonight takes a great deal of gratification in being able to present to you a bill that will tax the greatest number of people in the State of Pennsylvania the least amount of money, in order to be able to meet the $12,000,000 of revenue which we will need in order to make the Talbot Relief Bill practical as well as legal.

In accord therewith, this Committee reports a bill known as the State Emergency Relief Tax, which is a tax in line with an occupational tax, and with which most of you men are familiar.

May I simply say this to the members of the House; that although there is opposition to the imposition of new taxes, nevertheless as you study this bill, may we ask you to study it in the light of this plain, simple fact: You have passed a relief measure. Either the passage of that measure by this House is an idle gesture, because without the necessary moneys it merely becomes an idle gesture or it is the passage of a bill designed actually to take care of unemployment relief in Pennsylvania. When you study this bill please study it in the light that we must have the revenue and that that revenue must be in existence, and remember that when you have to tax, the thought occurs to you, "How can we lighten the burden upon the people of the State of Pennsylvania?"

We have endeavored to give you such a tax that will tax all the people, the greatest number of people, the least amount of money. Members of the House, we urge upon you and we know you urge upon yourselves to give this bill your utmost consideration, and when you read it in the light that you have already passed a tax relief bill, which, without the necessary revenue, will be nothing, because if this House adjourns and this Assembly adjourns without the necessary relief for the people of Pennsylvania, you know and I know that the House shall have failed in its duty. But if we pass this tax measure, which is the simplest and the easiest way of taxing the people with the lightest amount of burden, then we shall be able to go home next week saying unto ourselves, saying to our constitutents, and saying unto all the citizenry of Pennsylvania, as well as to the National Government at Washington, that we have done all in our power; that we have given the people who are in need and destitute $12,000,000, and that we were thoroughly thoughtful of the manner in which we will tax the people, and I iterate and I reiterate, and you may take this home with you, it is the only tax measure that taxes the greatest number of people the least amount of money.

Mr. Speaker, I report House Bill No. 251 as amended from the Committee of Ways and Means.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

In the House of Representatives, August 2, 1932.

Whereas, There is widespread criticism in the city of Philadelphia of the manner in which the financial affairs of the various special poor districts within said city are being administered; and

Whereas, It is rumored that those in charge of such poor districts are administering the same in such a manner as to produce waste and that the officials in charge of public institutions are continuing in such management with an utter disregard of the rights of the public to have its taxes wisely expended and its affairs economically administered; and

Whereas, Such criticism reflects upon these public officials in charge of the affairs of special poor districts and destroys the confidence of the public in the efficiency of our form of Government; therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five Members of this House be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the purpose of conducting a thorough investigation of the manner in which the affairs of the various special poor districts in the city of Philadelphia are being administered, and the manner in which public moneys in the control of such districts are being expended, and particularly of the manner in which the money paid to said poor districts under the Talbot Act was used and expended by said boards;

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there may be some that would like to know the authorities that relate to the constitutionality of the income tax bill.

Article IX, Section 1, of the Pennsylvania Constitution provides as follows: "All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected under general laws * * *."

A number of states have either the identical or substantially identical constitutional provisions as our State.

Arizona, Article IX, Section 1, has practically the same clause.

Colorado, Article IX, Section 3, has practically the same clause.

Delaware, Article VIII, Section 1, has practically the same clause.

Georgia, Article VII, Section 1 and Section 2.

Kentucky, Article CLXXI.

Minnesota, Article IX, Section 1.

Missouri, Article X, Section 3.

Montana, Article XII, Section 11.

New Mexico, Article VIII, Section 1.

North Dakota, Article IX, Section 176.

Virginia, Article XIII, Section 168.

Of all these states, the following: Delaware, Georgia, Missouri, North Dakota, Oklahoma and Virginia have personal income taxes that are either graduated rates or exemptions. In Arizona, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Virginia, the constitutions specifically provide for income taxes.

Those that want to look up the authorities will find that the income tax law in Delaware was sustained as to constitutionality State vs, Pinder, 7 Boyce 416, 108 Atlantic Reports 43; that in Georgia the income tax was sustained in the case of Featherstone vs. Norman, 170 Georgia 370, 153 S. E. 58; that in Missouri in the case of Ludlow-Taylor Wire Company vs. Wollbrink, 257 Missouri 339, and 205 S. W. 196. The income tax law of that state was sustained.

There are numerous cases reported in nearly every state to the effect that excise taxes are distinguished from property taxes and do not come within the inhibition of the constitutional uniformity clauses.

If any member desires a copy of this brief I will be glad to give it to him.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. EDWIN P. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 9.00 o'clock.

PRAYER

Rev. Sidney V. Carmany, a member of the House, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, we bless Thee for all Thy care. The very hairs of our head are all numbered. Thou hearest the throbbing of our hearts; yea, Thou understandeth our thought afar off. We would not live one day without Thee. Give unto us wisdom and understanding, that we may behold the things that are right for us to do and bring our powers into Thy service.

Help us in this new day to "cast our burden on the Lord for He shall sustain us; He shall never suffer the righteous to be moved." Fold us to Thy loving breast and "Let the words of our mouth and the meditation of our hearts be acceptable in Thy sight, O Jehovah, our Rock, and our Redeemer." Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 2, 1932.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 121, Printer's No. 238, entitled:

A Supplement to an act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Appropriation Acts page one hundred six) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals" making an additional emergency appropriation.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I have a letter which I wish to have read into the Journal, about taxes, that I think would be interesting to the House.

Rochester, Pa., August 2, 1932.

Messrs. Fred Patterson,
Leon Batchelor,
Members of the House of Legislature from Beaver County.

Dear Sirs:—

In regards to the proposed new tax measures, you men have in mind; I would like to suggest other tax laws such as they would not overburden the working man, as follows:—

Tax all house cats to the limit;
Tax on golf balls and clubs and bags;
Tax private and public golf clubs courses or limits;
Tax cigars costing over 15 cents;
Tax automobiles costing over $1000 F. O. B.;
Tax on baseballs over 75 cents and bats over $1.00;
Tax on R R tickets over $10.00, one way, such as people going south for winter;
Tax on real estate sales and transfers over $5,000.00;
Tax on cosmetics costing over 25 cents or 50 cents;
Tax on house rugs over $100.00 and other such items;

But for goodness sake don't put any more tax on cigarets and gasoline and on small cars and licenses. Our backs are bent now so low on these items we can lick the dust. So don't push our nose into the ground.

Put tax where people can pay them.

You know we can't drink the city water here and if you put a tax on soft drinks here there is nothing left but to thirst to death.

Yours truly,
B.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Patterson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PATTERSON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Beaver, if the tax was put on cats, does it begin from birth or a certain age?

Mr. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I don't know; I will have to ask that man. I will have to call on him; but it is a good idea, I think.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 8, 1932.

Honorable C. J. Goodnough, Speaker, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Jay:

I am sending you herewith a statement showing the condition of the General Fund budget after bills restoring abatements to the amount of $6,357,192.05 have been approved and after bills have been passed providing for Legislative expenses to the amount of $398,803.04. The statement shows that the budget is not balanced by $2,801,481.79.

Also, to correct statements which have been made in the newspapers recently, I want to remind you that the transfer of $10,000,000 from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund does not make money available for relief. That $10,000,000 was included in our estimate of available funds at the time appropriation bills were approved after the regular session of the Legislature and that $10,000,000 is needed along with the other available funds to meet the appropriation liabilities incurred at that time.

Sincerely yours,
GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Statement showing the condition of the General Fund budget since bills restoring $6,357,192.05 in abatements made by the Talbot Act decision have been approved by the Governor. Approximately $13,500,000 reduction in appropriations now contemplated by the General Assembly is taken into consideration. It is assumed the reductions will equal this amount.

		August 8, 1932
Total 1931-1933 appropriations, less $31,252.30 expended prior to June 1, 1931. The proposed reductions of $13,500,000 apply against this total		$203,804,356.12
Less: Reductions contemplated by General Assembly		13,500,000.00
Remainder of 1931-1933 appropriations. This remainder includes restorations in the amount of $6,357,192.05 approved by the Governor		$190,304,356.12
To this must be added the June 1, 1931 liabilities on account of appropriations for bienniums prior to June 1, 1931, ($14,756,196.76) less estimated lapses ($3,546,371.17)		11,209,825.59
The total of appropriations to be met during 1931-1933, taking into consideration $6,357,192.05 of abatements restored and approximately $13,500,000 of cuts, is		$201,514,181.71
To meet this, there are:
Cash balance in the General Fund June 1, 1931	$49,070,690.96
Estimated General Fund Revenue 1931-1933	150,040,812.00
Total		$199,111,502.96
With restorations in the amount of $6,357,192.05 made and approximately $13,500,000 in appropriation reductions considered, and without considering any additional revenue or appropriations provided for or contemplated by the present Special Session, the budget is not balanced by		2,402,678.75
If we add the two additional appropriations approved:
Expenses of Special Session—H. B. 64	$363,803.04
Legislative Printing—S. B. 83	35,000.00	398,803.04
The total amount to date by which the budget is not balanced is		$2,801,481.79

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STRICKLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Strickler, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STRICKLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have met here this evening to start the most crucial week in this Special Session of the Legislature.

It will be during this week that we will determine the question whether to tax or whether not to tax. Whether we, as members, of the House, will be taxers and offend the people, or whether we will be representatives and defend the people.

The issue is, whether or not it is necessary for us to pass certain tax measures in order to get a certain share of a federal fund. I believe that every member came to this House at this Special Session convinced that the people of this Comomnwealth did not want any new taxes and could not pay any new taxes. Now, we are faced with the issue, whether or not it is necessary to tax the people in order that we may share a fund which has been raised by federal taxation.

Let us look at this federal situation. The federal government in a session of Congress, provided for the raising of a fund of three hundred million dollars by taxation. That taxation, has been raised, or will be raised, by a tax on many commodities, by an increased income tax, by a manufacturer's excise tax, by a tax on stamps, bonds, stocks, partnerships, and most everything that it is possible for them to tax, and the people of Pennsylvania will pay in proportion and at the rate at which they have always heretofore paid, approximately ten per centum of the tax paid in to the Federal Government. Surely the Federal Government does not think that it is necessary for us to tax our people again in order that we may share in a portion of the tax money which is raised and which we have helped to pay; but the Federal Government does want to know what we are going to do at this Special Session, what we can do; and what we can do will be determined by this week or by the week that is to follow, if necessary. What have we done? We passed a ten million dollar relief fund at the last session of the legislature and at this session we have appropriated for the payment of that fund by economies in government. In addition to that we have saved enough of money thus far by the passage of the Steedle bill to balance the budget and cover a deficit which has been estimated at some five million dollars. We have passed enabling legislation to enable the political subdivisions of this state so that they may in their extremity, if need be, borrow money if they cannot get it from other places.

So, as we draw near to the time to vote on these tax bills, we must consider what the people want; we must not make them pay what they voluntarily will not pay, and we must not make them pay additional taxes in order to cast the burden of financing direct relief on the people without knowing whether or not they can pay and thereby rob the future of prosperity.

Let us consider this problem and in considering it let us do everything that we can; by using all the surplus funds, the unexpended funds and by making additional economies if possible and even by borrowing from certain funds if that is necessary and then we can come back here five months from now at the General Session and at that time reform the tax situation in this state and revamp the whole proceedings.

Our people cannot stand additional taxes. We have done all we could; we have provided for the borrowing of the money if these people have to have it, and then the Federal Government will give you your ten per centum of your $300,000,000, so the people of Pennsylvania will not be in want. So let us vote down all these measures.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I had intended to speak later in the evening when the particular tax measures were before this House, but realizing that the issue already before us pertains more to the general finances of the State and is germane to the subject which my colleague from Lancaster has already introduced, I am going to ask the indulgence of the House for a few moments while I read you something that I have prepared with reference to the subject. I dislike, as the members of the House know, and as I have expressed in the past, to read things of this kind, but I am going to read a number of figures and I feel I can do it more quickly and make it more plain to the members of the House by reading it than I could by simply giving my recollection of these figures.

I believe this is the most important problem, as my friend has said, before this House. I think it challenges your attention at this time.

The House has passed a new Talbot Bill calling for $12,000,000 of direct relief. The question now arises whether the money is available to meet that appropriation or whether new taxes will have to be imposed to provide the funds.

To determine this question, one must go back to the end of the 1931 Session. On June 1, 1931, the Secretary of Revenue estimated the income for the biennium of 1931-1933 at $155,040,812.00. This was divided as follows:

1932-1933	76,224,149.00

To this amount of $155,000,000 the Secretary of Revenue added a surplus of $37,874,394 from the previous biennium estimating the total available for appropriation at $192,915,206.

All of this money was appropriated by the Legislature in the 1931 Session.

At the Special Session of 1931, $10,000,000 was appropriated for direct relief under the Talbot Bill. The Legislature anticipated that this appropriation could be paid from monies due the Commonwealth from the sale of Delaware River Bridge Bonds.

On November 23, 1931, during the Special Session, at a hearing before the Ways and Means Committee, the Secretary of Revenue testified that in his estimate of June 1, 1931, he had taken into account the Delaware River Bridge Bonds amounting to $9,500,000 and that therefore this money was not available for appropriation by the Special Session.

In the Talbot Bill case, the Attorney General urged as one of his grounds for declaring the Act unconstitutional, that the appropriation of $10,000,000 under the Talbot Act created a debt, as all of the anticipated revenue and expended balance from the Fisher Administration had been appropriated at the 1931 Session.

To prove this he had Dr. King, Secretary of Revenue, testify that all of the anticipated revenue, etc., had been appropriated including the receipts from the Delaware River Bridge Bonds, which the Legislature had anticipated using to meet the Talbot Bill appropriations.

I quote from page 17 of the printed argument of the Attorney General on the Talbot case, where appears this agreed statement of fact:

"Dr. King testified that he made the estimate of revenue, contained in Exhibit No. 6; that on November 23, 1931, he testified before the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, that in said estimates he had taken into account the possibility that the Commonwealth would receive approximately $9,000,000 or $10,000,000 from the Delaware River Bond Commission."

At the beginning of this Special Session, this House by resolution, called upon the Secretary of Revenue to produce his June estimates of revenue for the biennium beginning June 1, 1931, on which the Governor acted in appropriating appropriation bills. Photostatic copies of those estimates were turned over to the sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee working on the economy program, and I am advised that the estimate sheets as of June 1, 1931, did not contain as anticipated revenue, the item of between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 from the Delaware River Bridge Bonds.

Therefore, this money to be derived from the sale of the Delaware River Bridge Bonds, amounting as I have said, to a sum between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 was never used to make up the figure of $155,040,812. And the Legislature was therefore right in appropriating the said moneys at the Special Session of 1931 to meet the demands under the Talbot Act.

Further as this Delaware River Bridge Bond money does not appear in the Secretary of Revenue's estimate as of June 1, 1931, and as it was not used to meet the payments under the Talbot Bill, nor has it been paid into the Treasury, the said bond money is still available for appropriation.

The next question to be determined is how much money will it take to meet the appropriations until June 1, 1933. The following figures are taken from the actual records. They do not, of course, include any appropriations that will be made at this present Special Session.

Appropriation Liability, June 1, 1932	$119,402,980.46
Treasury Balance, June 1, 1932	$25,929,598.07
Due from Motor Fund	10,000,000.00
Due from School Districts	460,700.00	36,390,298.07
Estimated Liability after deducting Bank balance and amounts due from Motor Fund and School Districts	$83,012,682.39
Lapses under House Bill No. 66	2,629,000.00	$80,383,682.39
Total appropriations 1931 Regular and Special Sessions together with appropriations for Electoral College and Senate Committee	$203,986,608.41
Appropriation Bills — Conference Reports	190,195,132.22	$13,791,476.20
Appropriation Liability after Reduction in Appropriation Acts		$66,592,206.19

We will now consider the estimates of the Secretary of Revenue.

The budget as submitted to the Legislature of 1931, estimated revenue at	$159,000,000.00	plus
As of June 1, 1931, the Secretary of Revenue estimated it at	155,040,812.00
Five or six months later the Secretary of Revenue said that a further reduction of would have to be taken from his estimate, which reduced the amount to	5,000,000.00	$150,040,812.00

You will recall that the estimate of revenue for the year ending June 1, 1932, was $78,816,663. As a matter of fact, there was actually collected during that year $85,500,000. The Commonwealth received $6,183,337 more in the first year of this biennium than it was estimated would be collected.

For the second year of the biennium it was estimated on June 1, 1931, that the revenue would be $76,224,149. As of June 1, 1932, the Secretary of Revenue has offered an estimate in which he now says that the collections for this year will be $64,480,283. But we discover in this estimate that he is using as anticipated revenue $8,000,000 from the Delaware River Bridge Bonds. Why this nine and one-half million item should have shrunk to $8,000,000 is not explained.

Therefore, the Secretary's estimate of revenue to be derived from the same sources as his estimate of June 1, 1931, has fallen to the figure of $56,480,283 which is approximately $30,000,000 less than the amount received during the first year, and is $20,000,000 below his estimate of June 1, 1931. In other words, revenues for the year would have to fall off more than 33 1/3 per cent of the actual receipts for 1931-1932 to reach the Secretary's estimate, and more than 25 per cent under the original estimate of anticipated revenue for the year.

Does this sound reasonable?

But fortunately we do not have to decide that question.

In the Attorney General's formal opinion No. 51-A, he says:

"We are firmly of the opinion that the budget estimates as officially submitted to the Governor as a basis for his action on appropriation measures at the close of the regular biennial session of the Legislature must be treated as the inflexible test by which fiscal legislation is evaluated for the biennium. It is true that an estimate is not a fact but only a prediction, and that the prediction may fail by being either too high or too low. That, however, is an inescapable uncertainty in the administration of any budget system. An estimate of revenue can never be guaranteed as accurate. In times of prosperity it is almost certain to be too conservative and in times of depression it is almost certain to be the reverse; but we cannot believe that it was the intention of the framers of our Constitution and of the people who adopted it, to provide a system under which an appropriation valid on the date of its approval could later be invalidated by the action of a single executive officer."

Therefore, the Legislature must, in making its appropriations, go back to the original estimate of the Secretary of Revenue as of June 1, 1931.

Estimates of revenue for this year as of June 1, 1931, was	$76,224,149.00
However, while the Attorney General had said that the	5,000,000.00
error which the Secretary of Revenue had made, could not be deducted, still, in order that we may be on the safe side, and as good business, we will deduct the said $5,000,000, which would mean that the estimate for the year ending June 1, 1931, would be	71,224,149.00
As the amount needed to meet the Appropriation liabilities, except those of this Special Session is	66,592,206.00
there is a surplus of which amount would be available for appropriation during the coming year.	4,631,943.00
To this add Delaware River Bridge Bond which Secretary of Revenue estimates we will receive (Remembering this is said to be $9,500,000.00)	8,000,000.00

Add the transfer of unobligated surplus of Fire Insurance Tax Fund	800,000.00
Total available for appropriation by this Session	$13,431,943.00

In addition to the foregoing amounts there might be available $1,500,000.00 from the Delaware River Bridge Bond money, which has not been included. (Also amounts up to approximately $3,000,000.00 of abatements, for which no reappropriations have been made). As the Constitution allows us to exceed our income by $1,000,000.00, it may be seen that there is possibly four or five millions of dollars to bridge any deficiency in actual revenue as against the above estimated revenue, in addition to the $5,000,000.00 already deducted.

Therefore it is obvious that we can appropriate $12,000,000. for direct relief and cover any additional appropriations of this Session, which will possibly not exceed $500,000.00, and still leave ourselves a margin below the estimated revenue.

The question then arises in the minds of the Legislature, what will be the effect of using these figures and making appropriations on this basis.

In the first place, if the Attorney General is correct in his opinion as set forth above, then we are entitled to use the figure as of June 1, 1931.

But some will say, suppose the Attorney General now says that we do not have the right to appropriate this on this basis, and again says that appropriations must be abated. In that event the matter would have to be taken into the Courts if the abatements were made. I have no doubt, however, that the Supreme Court would uphold our right to so appropriate. The Court has held that we are the judges of the amount of revenue to be received and that we can appropriate what we believe those revenues to be.

Suppose, you say, we arrive at the point where we find that the revenues are not coming up to our estimates, and it looks as though we cannot meet appropriations. To that my answer is that we will be in the regular Session in four and one-half months. At that time we will have had the experience of six months of this biennium, and there will still be six months left in which to adust our finances.

Again it must be remembered that if revenues are falling below our estimates, the Governor has the power to cut the appropriations or even to wipe out activities in the Departments under his control. This should have been done when the abatements were made as a result of the Attorney General's opinion in reference to the Talbot Bill, and need not have caused the abatement of non-preferred appropriations.

This House, by its vote, passed an economy programme providing cuts in the 1931 appropriations of between twenty-two and twenty-three millions of dollars. That has now been reduced by the Senate and the Governor to $13,700,000.00. It is clear that this House believes a larger sum can be saved. The Governor has publicly stated that if further economies are necessary, he is prepared to make them. Surely should we find our revenues running under our estimates, and the amounts necessary to meet all of these appropriations, the Governor will assist by making further cuts in Governmental functions instead of throwing the burden on our charities. Especially as adjustments can be made during the Session of '33.

Against this reasoning, to support and vote for tax measures you must admit that our revenues will fall to the amazing figures of $56,000,000.00, which is fifty per cent of the amount received in the year 1930-1931, and over one-third less than the amount received from 1931-1932. Against this you have,—

1. The expectation that revenues will be equal to estimates.
2. The fact that revenues can shrink 13% below the estimate and still the budget will balance.
3. The opportunity to meet any further deficit by further economies.
4. The fact that if all else fails, we will still be able to adjust the difficulties in the 1933 Session.

To appropriate without further taxation now, is reasonable. To impose further taxes on a struggling and tax burdened citizenry is unthinkable.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am somewhat loath to speak tonight for the reason that I am against all forms of taxation at this Special Session.

If you recall, the sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee of this House worked night and day for the purpose of reducing the cost of government and in that committee there was nothing left undone. They called in the department heads and they told us exactly what they could accomplish with cuts that they suggested and with the cuts we suggested, but up to date we have had no results from that particular investigation except that it has been cut to about thirteen million dollars. In other words we are saving a little over a million dollars a month for the rest of the biennium.

The committee was severely criticised for the reason that cuts had been made in the appropriations to certain institutions, such as the tuberculosis hospitals. Can you imagine that the superintendent of such an institution, receiving a salary of ten or twelve thousand dollars a year, would then come before the Appropriations Committee and ask for a maintenance charge in addition to that of between three thousand and forty-five hundred dollars? I ask any man here, or any person in this House, whether you are under salary or whether you are an employer, whether you are allowed a maintenance charge. In other words, should not this maintenance come out of his salary rather than be charged to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? The question before us today is one of economy; it is not a question of extravagance.

I can recall in 1917, my first session here, the total appropriation was sixty-seven million dollars plus, but now you take your appropriations for 1931 and you will find that it was one hundred and ninety-one million dollars plus. So that the question before us which is to be decided is the question as to whether we need more taxes or do we need economy. I can recall in the past when the Attorney General did not have an automobile, and I can recall when our good friend and co-citizen of Pittsburgh, the Honorable George Alter was Attorney General, I saw him, to use a common phrase, "hoof" it back and forth to the hotel without having a private car or having a chauffeur.

I can recall when the different departments did not have automobiles. I might just refer you to a section here in the Journal which shows that the Agricultural Department has a hundred and fifty-three passenger cars; the Department of Health has a hundred and ninety passenger cars; the Department of Highways has six hundred and eighty cars, making a total for all of those various departments of fifteen hundred and forty-one passenger cars. Go back to 1917 or the days when we were all conservative, and ask whether or not the number of cars were used at that time.

I ask you to go over to the Department of Education, in the new educational building, and pass through the corridors which are almost as large as two squares of two city blocks, and as you pass by the offices you will find a secretary of a bureau and you will find an assistant secretary and again a second assistant and I don't know how many different titles there are, and you will find each one of them having their own stenographer. In my own office there are five attorneys who are associated together and we have two stenographers in that office that serve the five attorneys. Each of these departments heads and assistants has a separate stenographer and she is either sitting there rouging her lips or curling her hair I presume. Is that economy?

Let me tell you that you should bear in mind the fact that whether you are coming back here this year depends on what you are doing here. The people of this Commonwealth want economy, they don't want extravagance and they don't want new taxes. You will have to answer to the people back home for what you do here. They don't want additional taxes. The backs of the people are broken down now with taxation. The people cannot pay their taxes as it is and yet you wish to inflict upon them an additional burden of taxation. Therefore, I say, economy is the key-note of the hour and if you do not follow that you will answer to your people back home.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I listened with a great deal of interest to the studied and carefully prepared statement of our colleague from Delaware and I listened as well to the remarks of our friend from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander.

I believe that something may be said concerning this subect from the unconfused point of view that figures are apt to give us. We are not concerned in this situation of having the question of feeding the hungry and starving determined by judicial decisions, neither should anyone in this House be interested in the answer to this question, whether or not we will be found in our seats in the next session of the Legislature. Political expediency, my friends, has no place when we are here to answer to the call "food for the hungry."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as I evaluate this situation, it becomes again a controversy between the Legislature and the Department of Revenue; between the Legislature and the Attorney General. I want only to take this much time to warn each and every one of you that Pennsylvania, of which every one of us is proud, is now challenged; every citizen of Pennsylvania who has the means, as I see it, to make but a small contribution, however burdensome that may be, to the hungry, to the halt and to the lame and sick, must respond to that call now, "more taxes or no more taxes."

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON HOUSE BILL NO. 129 RECOMMITTED

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 129, Printer's No. 248, which was presented to the House on Tuesday, August 2nd, for printing under the rules, be recommitted to the Committee of Conference only for the purpose of, (1) correcting clerical errors, contained in the print of the Conference Report now on the files of the Members, and (2) for the correction of errors contained in the Conference Report as submitted by the conferees.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION

AUTHORIZING STATE TREASURER TO PAY MEMBERS OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Mr. PETERS offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

In the House of Representatives, August 8, 1932.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the State Treasurer be and is hereby authorized to pay on warrant of the Auditor General to each Member of the General Assembly the sum of $100.00 on account of the salary of $500.00 to which each Member is entitled for an extraordinary session of the General Assembly by virtue of the provisions of the Act of Assembly approved the tenth day of May, A. D. 1927, P. L. 880; and the balance of said $500.00, namely $150.00 on the day of final adjournment of the extraordinary session of the General Assembly convened in session on call of the Governor, June 27, 1932; and be it further Resolved, That such payments be made available to Members of the General Assembly not later than one o'clock P. M., August 10, 1932.

The resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, no doubt every member from Allegheny County received a letter today, when he came to the Legislature, from Mr. Phillips, the Chairman of an emergency committee in Pittsburgh. In that letter he stated that it is absolutely necessary that this Legislature do something for the unfortunates of Pittsburgh, and that means everywhere else. He also stated in his letter that the amount of money now being received by the unfortunates there per family, has been reduced to two dollars per week, and that if something is not done in the very near future, this amount of money will have to be discontinued.

In addition to that we have also received telegrams from various organizations objecting to any tax-raising bills.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, much time has been consumed in this Legislature in telling us members that it is not necessary to raise taxes to meet this unemployment situation, but I desire to say right now that if the bills, which have been introduced by many members of this Legislature, would be reported from committee, with those bills we could obtain sufficient funds to give all of those in this State who are out of woork sufficient funds on which to live. Unfortunately, we have not yet reported these bills out, and those bills really put the taxes where they belong.

I do not care whether I am reelected to the Legislature, or sent to Congress, or any other office. I maintain, as I have said before, that it is the duty of every member here to do his utmost to bring about a situation in this State where the unfortunates will be able to obtain sufficient funds on which to live.

Let us report out these bills so that we may obtain the necessary taxes. I note that if we pass the bills that have been introduced, they may impose some tax on the small merchant, but let us report some of these bills out that we have introduced, so that we can obtain some of the required money from utilities and organizations like that, and thus get sufficient funds to take care of our needy.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. It is with deep regret that the Chair announces the sudden death of the Honorable Fred M. Sprout, late of Muncy, Pa., Senator from the 24th Senatorial District. On behalf of the House the Chair desires to extend sincere sympathy to his family.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 85, as follows:

An Act to amend Section one of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number fixty-six A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Sleighton Farm School for Girls situate in Delaware County Pennsylvania"

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. I do not know whether the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. Speaker, understands that we are on House Bill No. 85, a bill making an appropriation to the Sleighton Farms School for Girls. I would like to ask the gentleman whether this bill has been amended since it has been recalled from the Governor.

Mr. STEEDLE. If my information is correct, Mr. Speaker, in the general appropriation bill, we have provided for the regular appropriation of 1931. If this bill had not been recalled from the Governor, it would have been vetoed by him, and we did not want any mis-information to go to these institutions to the effect that the bill has been vetoed. The bill was laid on the table until such time as the situation demanded its resurrection.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, therefore, under the circumstances I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 251, entitled:

An Act providing for the imposition and collection of an emergency State tax on offices, posts of profit, trades, occupations and professions, including those of minors, and of persons twenty-one years of age and upwards, who follow no gainful occupation or calling; imposing powers and duties on the Department of Revenue; making an appropriation; imposing duties upon employers and disabilities on persons failing to comply with this act; and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MEMOLO. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 251, printer's No. 258 be re-referred to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hope that this House will oppose the motion just made. Many times, on other occasions, during this session, it has been stated from the floor of this House with impatience that we have been here for four weeks or five weeks or six weeks, and now seven weeks, and nothing has been done. By the postponement without consideration of this measure, you will doubtlessly have the eighth week during which nothing will be done and in the meanwhile the hungry will continue to go hungry, and in the meanwhile the press will be busy with its pencils heralding to the citizens of Pennsylvania the inaction and cruelty of heart of the members of this House.

I hope, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that this measure before you now will be brought up for final defeat or passage.

We who are interested to know whether or not the work of this House will be soon concluded, are soon entitled to know the temper of the House by its vote on whether or not we shall have more or whether there shall be no taxes.

As I view it there is nothing more to be done concerning this measure excepting to vote on it. It is a perfectly simple one, and if parlimentary rulings and laws would permit me, I would in a very few moments explain the bill, as I hope to when this motion is defeated.

I beg each and everyone of you that have the courage tonight to settle this question, as this is our first actual opportunity of voting whether or not there shall be more taxes for direct relief, and for that reason I ask that the motion shall be defeated.

Mr. MEMOLO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my object in making this motion at this time is because I understand that there are several members of the House, who have prepared amendments to this bill and I would much rather have the Committee on Ways and Means consider these amendments in place of having the entire House give these amendments consideration at this time.

For that purpose I should like to have the bill re-referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and then reported out with or without amendments, just as the Committee may see fit.

I don't think that we ought to consider the amendments before the entire House, and that, my friends, is the reason I make this motion at this time.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is a perfectly simple matter of parlimentary procedure to offer any amendments that my friend has or that any other member of this House may have to present them here, have them considered, and disposed of and I take it, Mr. Speaker, that every member of the House will have the duty, not only the members of the committee, to consider these amendments.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I take it that the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee is quite correct in demanding immediate action on this bill, for if we as members of this House and as representatives of all the respective districts, have the intestinal fortitude to pass this bill or defeat it, there is no reason whatever for delaying that action, and if we are to defeat this bill this evening, I take it that it is quite opportune for this question to be brought up in the House without further delay, and that this bill be promptly defeated immediately after defeating this motion to refer the bill back to committee. For that reason I cannot agree with the gentleman from Lackawanna, I must agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that now is the time to bring this bill before the House for the purpose of defeating it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Sterling and Mr. Burns and were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 228, (Senate Bill No. 77), entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Act number fifteen A), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one," making an additional appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to inquire as to the necessity of this appropriation.

The SPEAKER. Of whom does the gentleman wish to inquire?

Mr. SPANGLER. I do not know. I desire to inquire from anyone who can give me the information as to the necessity for this appropriation at this time.

The SPEAKER. This is a Senate bill. Is there anyone in the House who will volunteer to give the information requested by the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler? The gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Strickler, will perhaps answer the inquiry.

Mr. SPANGLER. I just desire to inquire from the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether there is not at the present time a very large fund held by this veterans' organization sufficient to cover all the expenses that are necessary to be covered until the next biennium? The reason I ask the question is that I have received from someone, I cannot think who, a statement in respect to this bill, in which it was shown that there was a large unexpended balance, and that, therefore, this appropriation is not necessary.

Mr. STRICKLER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question, I will say to the gentleman from York that the present fund is practically exhausted, and that the great demand for the care of soldiers, and of orphans and widows is very pressing, due to the fact that the unemployed situation has exhausted the fund, and that this additional amount of money is needed to take care of that work for the balance of the biennium.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Lancaster, I understand, has made an investigation of the situation?

Mr. STRICKLER. Exactly.

Mr. SPANGLER. And knows of the actual need for this money to be appropriated, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. STRICKLER. Yes; there is an actual need, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. There is?

Mr. STRICKLER. Yes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. STRICKLER. Mr. Speaker, owing to the question of revenue, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 240, Senate Bill No. 174, Printer's No. 65, on page 6 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Turner,

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

From any such estimated settlement there shall be no right to petition for redetermination or review or to appeal but the department with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may upon its own motion vacate such settlement or upon petition permit the required return or statement to be filed and thereupon make a settlement based upon such return or statement and cancel the estimated settlement From the department's refusal to permit the filing of a return or statement in such case there shall however be no right to file a petition for redetermination or review or to appeal

Amend page 10, line 13, by adding after the word "expenses," "except as herein provided."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments? Is there objection?

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire as to parliamentary procedure whether an objection is in order to the proposed amendments.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has asked unanimous consent and objection is in order.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, if objection is in order, I desire to register my objection.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 245, printer's No. 262, was agreed to be transcribed for third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Black.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLACK. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission of the gentleman from Lehigh to refer his interrogations to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Is it satisfactory to the gentleman from Philadelphia to answer the interrogation?

Mr. SOWERS. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I appreciate the answers of the gentleman from Philadelphia because I appreciate his experience along these lines.

May I inquire in regard to Section 15 as to the administration of the law and the payment of the same into the State Treasury, and Section 23 on Page 25 in regard to the disposition of the taxes, one-half of the total tax to be held in the General Fund and to be used only for unemployment relief purposes and as provided for by other laws, and the other half shall be paid into a special income tax fund hereby created and in turn paid to the several counties of the Commonwealth for general governmental expenses. Will the gentleman kindly explain to me, in my ignorance, just how the general governmental expenditures may be considered and what would be the attitude of the Attorney General as to the general governmental expenditures as contrasted with the ordinary expenses of government as set forth in the Attorney General's opinion 51A.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid if my friend would have continued he would have answered the question himself.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill provides in Section 23 for the distribution of the revenues raised by this act in this manner: one-half of the revenue is turned into the general fund for the purpose of meeting the Talbot bill, the other half of the revenue is to be turned into the treasury and then sent back to the county, the theory back of that distribution of the revenues under the bill is this:

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. KLECKNER. The gentleman is not answering the inquiry; he is discussing the bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Maybe I misunderstood the inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order is well taken. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to answering the inquiry of the gentleman from Lehigh.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Lehigh to state his question in briefer form?

Mr. KLECKNER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, explain to me and the members of the House just what is meant or intended by the term in the first line of page 26, "For general governmental expenditures" and how that is to be considered in connection with the Attorney General's opinion 51-A as to ordinary expenses of the government.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the Chair whether or not this bill is before the House for general consideration.

The SPEAKER. The bill is before the House on third reading. The House has not agreed to the bill on third reading.

Mr. SPANGLER. Should not the House first agree to the bill on third reading before the bill comes up for general discussion?

The SPEAKER. The House need not agree to the bill on third reading before it comes up for general consideration. The bill is on third reading and the House may or may not agree to it on third reading, but interrogation is pertinent at any time.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, answering the interrogatory of the gentleman from Lehigh, I take it that the words "for general governmental expenditures" means that the money returned to the counties of this Commonwealth can be used for their general purposes to reduce their taxation. The idea being to reduce their local rate of taxes and to relieve their small property owners of the heavy real estate tax.

Mr. KLECKNER. If the Speaker please, will the gentleman explain to me just what the Attorney General has to say as to the distinction between the general governmental expenses of the State and the general governmental expenses of the county.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can only say this: I think it was the Attorney General or one of his assistants, that gave us those words to put in the bill by way of amendment.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia inform me just how much money will be realized from the collection of this tax?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, by the Department of Revenue's estimate, on the basis of 1929, this bill would bring in something like eighteen million dollars. They estimated that under the present depression it would bring in six million seven hundred thousand dollars, plus. Something that has not been figured out, is how much tax would be collected from nonresidents in this Commonwealth, doing business in the Commonwealth and earning an income in the Commonwealth. The general estimate for that amount is not fixed, but it seems to be anywhere between a million and one million five hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia advise me whether his personal opinion is that in view of the arguments of the gentleman from Delaware and considering the previous estimates of the Secretary of the Department of Revenue and the slight discrepancies and also the various estimates regarding the Delaware River Bridge Bonds, whether we can safely accept these estimates as being reasonably accurate under the circumstances.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I should imagine that our Executive Department gives us estimates that are fairly accurate, as nearly accurate as can be made under the circumstances. I myself sat down with the Secretary of Revenue and helped to figure it out and I think his figures are correct, although my own opinion is that he underestimates rather than overestimates. I think the bill will bring in more revenue than six million, seven hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, then I understand the gentleman from Philadelphia to imply that the estimates made by the Secretary of Revenue are to be accepted with the same authority as the usual deductions of the average lawyer such as the gentleman from Philadelphia and myself.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, being above the average lawyer I don't know whether I can answer that question.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask, does the gentleman from Philadelphia think we ought to pass this new tax bill to raise about six million dollars provided we can raise the same amount by economy?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the answer to the question of the gentleman from Monroe must be rather long. Personally, I feel that we should reduce the expenses of our government. I regret, however, that the Senate did not have courage to agree with us in the passage of the Steedle bill.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state whether or not he believes we should have economy in the collecting of the taxpayers' money as well as in the spending of it?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that we should have economy in the spending as well as in the collecting, but I don't understand why my friend from Monroe voted against the economy bill.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to tell the gentleman why I voted against the economy bill providing for a cut of twenty-three million dollars.

Mr. Speaker, I am for economy but I am not for an economy that will put more burden on the taxpayers and on the people back home and that is what would have been accomplished if we had adopted many of the economies proposed in that bill.

Another thing, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I see no purpose whatever in passing a bill that will only raise six or seven million dollars as is proposed in this bill when we have before us three or four bills that will raise six or seven million dollars without putting any additional burdens on the taxpayers of this Commonwealth, and those are House Bills Nos. 37, 38 and 39, introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, as well as House Bill No. 208 and House Bill No. 245. These five bills, according to the estimate of the Department of Revenue, whose estimates we are accepting tonight, will raise over six millions of dollars without placing any additional burden upon the taxpayers of this Commonwealth. These three bills which were introduced by the gentleman from Phliadelphia, Mr. Sterling, being House Bills Nos. 37, 38 and 39, change the method of the collection of the tax on the capital stock of foreign corporations, and change the exemptions of public utilities, and according to the estimates of the Secretary of Revenue they will raise between two and three million dollars. House Bill No. 208 changes the method of the collection of mercantile tax that will save over one million dollars. House Bill No. 205 changes the method of the collection of the inheritance tax saving over two and a half million dollars and making a total saving of six million dollars without changing the existing laws on the subject of taxation. It seems to me that it is the height of folly for us to consider the placing of a new burden on the taxpayers of the Commonwealth while we permit this waste to continue on the other hand. I don't see how we can go back home with a good conscience and tell our constituents that we have imposed a new burden upon them while we have permitted this waste and extravagance to continue as far as these pieces of legislation are concerned. I went and found out that the cost of the collection of the mercantile tax in Pennsylvania last year was $550,000. The Secretary of Revenue said that can be collected by his Department——

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the merits or demerits of this bill. He is speaking on other bills which are now in committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken and the gentleman from Monroe will confine himself to a discussion of the bill now before the House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to raise a further point of order on the ruling on the point of order of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, it has always been customary when bills are under discussion, particularly an important bill such as is under discussion at the present time, to allow a wide latitude on the part of the debater in connection with the subject, and certainly it seems to me that what the gentleman is saying in connection with this bill in relation to the collection of taxes is entirely pertinent to the subject and he should be permitted to expand on his subject in such manner as he sees fit to do so long as he does not talk on another subject.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York is apparently appealing from the decision of the Chair. The Chair will be glad to yield and always does yield the widest latitude in matters of debate, but when a point of order is raised we have no discretion except to interpret the parliamentary law as it seems to us, therefore we do that. The point of order was raised and we feel that speaking on House Bill No. 205 or 148 or some other bill is hardly pertinent to the subject before the House, which is House Bill No. 246.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is my contention that while we tolerate these conditions in the State we are not justified in imposing any of the tax burdens that are provided in this bill. I do not want to impose on the time of the House unduly, but I want to make this comparison to show that the passage of this income tax bill is not necessary, and in order to do that it is necessary to show the cost of the collection that can be saved under various other taxes that are now before the House. Therefore, I take the position this bill which proposes to raise six or seven million dollars is not necessary, that it is merely imposing an additional burden on the taxpayers of the Commonwealth while we continue to permit waste and extravagance to go on in the collection of existing taxes. Therefore, I take the position that if we can save $550,000 in the collection of the inheritance tax that that is a saving which we should inaugurate before we put new taxes upon the statute books. Besides that the Department of Revenue says in addition to saving $550,000 they will collect over half a million dollars more of that tax this coming year, and the collection will begin this year rather than at the beginning of January, so that that will be applicable to this biennium. In addition to that the collection of the inheritance tax involves $1,036,000 in excess cost of collection, all of which can be saved providing a bill which is before the House is passed. In addition to that more than a $1,000,000 can be collected besides according to the Secretary of the Department of Revenue. Therefore, in those pending measures we have the opportunity of saving $6,000,000 without putting any additional burdens upon the taxpayers of this Commonwealth. Therefore in view of that fact I don't see how we can vote to impose this burden under this proposed bill.

I want to point out this fact that in the collection of the inheritance tax it costs us as much as sixty-nine percent in some counties. Now, how can we tolerate that? The collection of the mercantile tax costs on an average throughout the State over fourteen percent, and in counties like Allegheny it costs sixteen percent, and in counties like Adams it costs twenty-three percent. In other counties it cost as high as twenty-four to forty-five percent. When we are spending that much money to collect taxes, all of which is unnecessary, it seems to me we should inaugurate more economy in collecting as well as economy in spending.

Mr. SOWERS. Let me first consider with you the necessity for this income tax bill in Pennsylvania at the present time.

The Talbot Bill has appropriated twelve million dollars, and has allotted one million five hundred thousand dollars to the month of August, 1932 to March of 1933, inclusive and is less than a worthless gesture because without revenue to make it effective, its passage by the Senate and approval by the Governor will mean the abatement of numerous appropriation bills affecting your various districts and the impairment of appropriations to numerous relief charities.

Over one and one-third millions of the working men and women of Pennsylvania ordinarily employed are out of work through no fault of their own. Over one-half of those have been out of work for approximately two years, over a third for approximately a year, and the balance of them for approximately four months. The unemployed must be cared for by jobs or relief of some kind. The unemployed are not loafers, they are not idlers, but they are good, solid, substantial citizens who have elected us to office and whom we represent, and they are expecting something to be accomplished besides empty gestures.

Private charity in this Commonwealth has exhausted itself and the state must now in this particular emergency step in and take its place. The state must not fail its best citizens. They have a right to live and a right to live means a fair opportunity to labor for a living and if that opportunity is denied them then the state in self protection must furnish the living.

The Governor's report to us on unemployment is convincing enough to prove the existing emergency, and if that is not enough to persuade you, then the two public hearings held in this hall should convince you of the urgent demand for unemployment relief? Don't the words of that up-state Republican Leader still ring in your hears, when he uttered from the platform of this Hall, "We will go to the storehouses where the food is kept, we will make an inventory of food on hand, we will take that food and distribute it to the unemployed, and then we will send to the Legislature the bill for the food." Words to the same effect have been uttered at numerous meetings in Philadelphia and elsewhere by public spirited citizens of the highest type, of unquestionable patriotism and loyalty to our institutions.

The time calls for temperate, swift and decisive action, but that action must be such as to create no resentments, and stir up no dangerous passions. This income tax bill is drawn with that in view.

We should not fiddle like Nero; there is more than a Rome at stake.

It is far better for us and for those whom we represent and for the honor of this Commonwealth that we assemble here in the composed atmosphere of this Hall, calmly, soberly and justly legislate for the welfare of all the people rather than group for expediency when it is too late.

Mr. Speaker, agitators and irresponsible elements have gone up and down the state shouting that the form of taxation that could be unexpected from this legislature would be the kind that skims the rich and skins the poor. Are you going to make it possible by some other bill to give plausibility and confirmation to their agreements?

You are now face to face with an argument, you now have before you the first revenue bill for your actual vote. You are now called upon to stand up and be counted.

If we cannot get revenues by new taxation, then nothing is left but resort to the road money. If you are not prepared to resort to the special fund, the road money, then vote aye for this bill, and if you are prepared to resort to the road money for unemployment relief, vote aye on this bill.

I ask your earnest consideration of this bill. You must furnish unemployment relief, if you do not furnish it this way, then tomorrow prepare to take the road money for starving souls and let us stop our extravagant building of roads while people are unemployed.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the first time I have ever seen a funeral start before the corpse was embalmed. This bill is on third reading and final passage. Am I correct in that, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. RICHARDS. I think it is an unusual thing for a bill to be discussed on third reading as this bill is being discussed.

I am also taking the opportunity to speak on it because if this is going to be the funeral of the bill, and my impression is that it is, then I want to be one of the pallbearers.

This bill would place upon the taxpayers of the State who are already overburdened, still another straw of taxation.

The gentleman from Philadelphia has well said that we need unemployment relief. We came here ostensibly for an economy program. I ask you how much economy we have accomplished so far.

Bills that could have been introduced and have not been introduced were kept in Committee because it looked as if they were not within the Governor's call. The people of the State and the men in the street are not familiar with the technicalities of the call, and they want to know why the salaries of State officials and of the members of the State Legislature are being kept at the level they are while we must dig down a little more and add to his already large burden.

We have lobbyists here from the various departments, we have lobbyists for the various interests and I have about come to the conclusion that the only body of people without a lobby is the taxpayer of the State. And so ergo, they must give some more. I am against this bill, I am against an occupation bill, I am against any further increase in taxes until we make an honest effort to keep down the increase in the overhead in government. That overhead has increased from $69,000,000 in 1913, as the total budget if you please, to $352,000,000 in 1929-31.

Certainly there is some chance for economy in a program of this kind.

I do not want to take all the time, I know there are other orators here, if you please, who want to take up their side of the argument.

I say to you, I am against this income tax bill in whatever form it might be presented. I will not vote to add one more cent of tax to the people of the State under the guise of an income tax, which apparently is an endeavor to soak the fellow who has it. Very few have it anyway. So the chances are that the total will not be as much as the estimate that has been made.

If Mr. Turner is correct, and I have always found his statements to be correct, that we have more money than we thought we had, let us use it, but do not let us add further taxes on the already overburdened cantle of taxation while we sit here and send back resolutions to committees which would provide for you and I to give a small part of the salaries we get.

Charity begins at home, and so does economy begin with the taxpayer of the State, and the place to start it first is right here in this building.

I repeat, I am against this bill.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I merely rise for the purpose of interrogation. I have no desire to kill this bill, because it seems to me that it is too serious a matter for anything of that kind, but there is one thing in my mind that is not clear, that I have not heard discussed, and therefore, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia expect any taxes to be paid under this bill if it should be enacted into law until its constitutionality has been determined by the courts?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in answer to the gentleman's interrogatory, the bill before the House is one hundred per cent. constitutional. The only question that could come before the court for constitutional determination would be Section 6 of the bill. If the Supreme Court strikes out Section 6 of the bill, then under Clause 26, page 26, that clause would leave the bill and the bill would remain as is.

Does that answer the interrogatory?

Mr. HEFFRAN. Then I take it, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from Philadelphia expects this bill to get into the courts.

Mr. SOWERS. I do not expect this bill to get into the courts, Mr. Speaker. I only expect—I don't even expect that. The only way that this bill could get into the courts would be by some person asking for their twenty dollars allowance and then having that request denied to him, appealing to the court for the allowance. It cannot get in any other way.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not as frank with me as I expected him to be. I do expect that this bill will get into the courts, that its constitutionality will have to be determined by the courts before any taxes will be paid. We know very well that that will take at least a year, possibly two years, before its constitutionality is determined, and I would like to ask you, when you discuss the question of immediate relief, how any immediate relief can be secured under this bill, when we know very well before we act on the bill that it must take a year or possibly two years before that question of constitutionality will have been determined.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, much as I have heretofore demonstrated my belief and conviction that this House is obligated to find revenue sufficent to meet the requirements of the Talbot bill lately passed by us, I am forced to take the floor and ask you to vote against this measure, because it is presented to us as an answer to direct relief and its passage by this House would be a flagrant deception of those people who expect us to answer their needs.

In the first place, I draw to your attention Section 26 entitled "Constitutional Construction" provides, "The provisions and sub-divisions or sub-provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of its provisions and sub-divisions and sub-provisions shall be declared to be unconstitutional the decision of the court so holding shall not be construed to impair any other provisions and sub-divisions and sub-provisions of this act. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein."

Now, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is worthy of your most careful consideration, because interdependent with it are the provisions of section 6 of the act, which have been ingeniously but in my mind ineffectually drawn in order that it might attempt, at least, to circumvent Article IX and succeeding sections of the Constitution and the decision interpreting those sections and article of the Constitution, about which I shall speak in a moment.

Section 6, if you will bear with me a moment, provides "Deductions for making return or statement, keeping accounts, verification and penalty. Every taxpayer shall be allowed an allowance, compensation or deduction from the income tax payable on net income under this act of twenty dollars for his or her work, labor and services and the work, labor and services of others in and about the making of the accounting, computation and figuring necessary to be made and done to comply with this act and the keeping of a record of his or her gross income and allowable deductions and provided in this act," and so on.

Obviously the draftsmen, with great ingenuity, attempted by that language to circumvent, as I have said before, article IX, sections 1 and 2 of the Constitution, which read: "All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects, within the territorial limits of the authorities levying the tax but the general assembly may by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes, actual places of religious worship, places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit and institutions of purely public charity," and then the subsequent section, "All laws exempting property from taxation other than the property above enumerated, shall be void."

The draftsman, with great ingenuity, attempted to circumvent these sections of article IX of the Constitution, but the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania, has had on a previous occasion a state of facts brought to it for decision, in my opinion comparable with this when in 1897, the Legislature adopted and the Governor approved an act proposing a direct inheritance tax and in that same act provided five thousand dollar exemptions.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the question that is now before you was brought four square to the Supreme Court, and unless the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth will turn a complete somersault, section 6 of the measure, which is now before you, must be declared unconstitutional.

In Cope's Estate, 191 Pennsylvania, reported at page 1, Mr. Chief Justice Sterrett, used the following language with respect to the exemption of the five thousand dollars intended to be allowed by the act of 1897:

"By necessary implication, the first clause of that section recognizes the authority of the Legislature to justly and fairly, but never arbitrarily, classify those subjects of taxation with the view of effecting relative equality of burdens. A pretended classification that is based solely on a difference in quantity of precisely the same kind of property is necessarily unjust, arbitrary and illegal." Continuing, the court said: "If the authority to exempt * * * which was assumed and exercised by the Legislature in this case, is sanctioned by this Court, the constitutional rule of uniformity virtually becomes a dead letter, and in lieu of the will of the people, as plainly declared in the fundamental law of the State, the unrestrained will of the Legislature becomes the supreme law on that subject," and furthermore: "In the absence of reliable data, the practical operation of the $5,000 exemption proviso cannot be definitely stated, but it would perhaps be sage to say that, outside of the large centers of population, from ninety to ninety-five per cent of the estates of decedents, administered by the orphans' court from year to year, do not separately represent personal property exceeding in value the sum of $5,000; so that probably not more than from five to ten per cent of said estates, therein administered, are subject to the two per cent direct inheritance tax. Whatever the percentage of such estates may be—whether more or less than five to ten per centum—it conclusively shows that special character of the act in question. It also illustrates the injustice and inequality that must result from such special legislation."

Therefore, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if on this reasoning the Supreme Court following its decision in Cope's Estate, would declare section 6 of this measure unconstitutional, it would result in a general levy of one per cent on the net income of all persons in this Commonwealth, however lowly and humble such persons may be.

In Knowles' Estate, 295 Pennsylvania, the Supreme Court in considering a question comparable with the one now under discussion had an opportunity to reverse the decision made in Cope's Estate; this it did not do.

Under all the circumstances, I am of the opinion that section 6 would be declared unconstitutional.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, in order to develop the question of the possible delay that might be occasioned were this bill to be enacted, may I ask the gentleman whether this act would be subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States?

Mr. STERLING. Very definitely. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I could develop interminably the legal argument that I want to present to this House, and through which I want to impress upon this House just one point, and only this one point: By your approval of this measure you are not providing the money with which to meet the obligation that you have placed upon the Commonwealth by the passage of the Talbot bill.

To pass it would not satisfy you and will not satisfy those whom you are here met to relieve. I give that as one of the reasons without burdening you with further legal arguments. May I ask that the measure be defeated, because we should not attempt by a measure, the constitutionality of which is so doubtful, to provide revenues to meet the obligations of the Talbot bill.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hesitate to address the House on this subject, for the reason that I have not as yet seen any tax measure presented that would appear to offer a favorable solution of the problem before us, but it seems to me that in the enactment of the bill now under consideration, it would simply be an invasion on our part and would not accomplish the purpose of providing immediate relief.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is no question in my mind, as well as in the mind of every attorney in this House, that section 6 would be declared unconstitutional. Therefore, it would place a tax upon the entire citizenship of Pennsylvania.

Let me give you a concrete example. I had a coal miner in my office about two weeks ago, working in the mines about Clinton. His pay for two weeks was fourteen dollars, and after deducting the allowance for powder and other necessities that a miner must pay for, he had a balance left of eleven dollars. I am asking you members of this House, are you going to put a tax of one per cent upon that man for his services, which he was paid for. If you are, then vote for this measure, but you are not giving the relief that we are here trying to give. You are not giving it to this man who is working in the mines, earning seven and a half to ten dollars a week. You are taxing him just the same as you are the rich man. You are trying to reach a level by allowing twenty dollars for making out an income return on incomes of over two thousand dollars. How many of the poor people of today can even stand a burden of one per cent upon their earnings? This man I told you about had five children, it probably would mean eleven cents to him, with which he could go out and buy bread for those hungry mouths in his home.

It seems to me that Section 6 will no doubt be declared unconstitutional by the courts, which will place a tax on the poor man, are going to do that?

I, for one, will vote no on this bill.

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am convinced that no other member of this House is more in favor of economy than I am, but to talk about ecomony in the light of what has happened and what likely will happen is more or less foolish at this time.

In our economy measures we are ham strung. It would therefore seem if we are going to accomplish anything in the way of unemployment relief, as was said by his honor the Speaker on the floor of this House, not so very long ago, it will be necessary to get revenues some place.

It may not be good policy, but neverthless it is an accepted policy of the country, that the person who is able to pay should pay, and this bill, while it has some provisions that I do not like, seems to be an effort to do that very thing.

I am not thoroughly convinced that section 6 would be declared unconstitutional. I know that the members of the Supreme Court are, most of them, too old to turn somersaults and I do not expect it of them. I do, however, find this to be in the law, in the very section that Mr. Sterling has read, from the Constitution, the implication, at least of the power of classification, and the Supreme Court has already said that it is there.

And now, classification may be a good thing in one bill and may not be a good thing in another, as the Supreme Court has well said. In terms, this bill is an emergency measure to take care of the unemployed. Who are the unemployed? Certainly they are not only those who are absolutely, completely out of a job. It certainly means those who do not make sufficient money to keep them.

Whether or not two thousand dolars will be the proper line of demarcation is the question, I will agree, but classification under any bill is on the basis of the purpose of the bill. I find that the Supreme Court has said: "By necessary implication, the first clause of that section (referred to as the first clause of section 9) recognizes the authority of the legislature to justly and fair, but never arbitrarily, classify those subjects of taxation with the view of effecting relative equality of burdens.

Again I find that the Suprme Court has said: "If such differences (referring to differences that may arise in the subjects of classification) in the manner of transacting the business exist it is a question for legislative determination. We are unable to see that the classification in the act before us violates the constitutional requirement of uniformity." So, considering that this act is for the relief of the unemployed, it seems to me that the legitimate interpretation of the word, "unemployed" would be a person who was not earning sufficient to support him, and where that line of demarcation comes, if it is reasonable, just and fair, our courts have said is legislative and not judicial.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I deeply regret that it becomes necessary in this House even for the moment, that any such bill as this should be brought up and we should resort to taxation, but it does seem to me from the experience of the last six weeks we have become conscious of so many things we ought not to be, that we are not doing anything. In this dire need of unemployment relief it looks to me as if something should be done, and the only way I can see of doing it would be to resort to something of this kind, in order to meet the extraordinary emergency. As I have said, I regret to think about it, but it looks to me as if it were the only thing we could do at this time.

I do think, however, that the exemption is entirely wrong and that later something will have to be done with it, if it is not done now, when we come to apply it, should we succeed in enacting such legislation.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, under section 6 of this bill there is an allowance of twenty dollars for making out the income return, is that correct?

Mr. SOWERS. And for payment?

Mr. STADTLANDER. And for payment?

Mr. SOWERS. In the nature of a discount.

Mr. STADTLANDER. In that case everyone is required to make out an income tax return, is that correct?

Mr. SOWERS. No. All of those that have income of two thousand dollars or more must make out a return. Those that have an income of less than two thousand dollars must make out a statement, and the bill provides that the statement shall be made out by those making less than two thousand dollars, but if they fail to return the statement, that is not a crime on their part.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, in the case that I cited in my little talk of the miner earning eleven dollars, who would have no balance after these deductions were made who would pay the miner the twenty dollars under this act?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the miner would be allowed to deduct twenty dollars. The surplus the miner would certainly not expect the State to pay after he was obtaining unemployment relief from the State.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I listened with a great deal of attention to the arguments of my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

He has cited to this House but one case and that case is Cope's Appeal. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has not only passed on this question in Cope's Appeal, but has also passed on this question of constitutionality in many other cases, and my friend has not called your attention to these other cases. In Cope's Appeal the state of facts were these: An inheritance tax of so much percentage was placed on each dollar of an estate. At the end of the act a proviso was put which said that all estates under five thousand dollars should be exempt. Now, that was a flagrant violation of the Constitution. It was apparent on the face of that record that an exemption had been made of a certain kind of estate. The Legislature had classified the subject matter of taxation as estates, and then placed a tax on all estates, and had sought to exempt them.

That is not the purpose of this bill. This bill is as different from that as day is from night. This Legislature is classifying the inhabitants of this Commonwealth, and is classifying them as able and not able to live. It is classifying those over two thousand dollars in one class as well able to live. It is classifying on the other hand those making under two thousand dollars as needing it all for themselves and having nothing left to pay a tax. That is the classification that this bill sets up, and the Constitution that my friend cites and the decisions on that question say that the Legislature may in its wisdom classify the subject matters of taxation as wholesale dealers and as retail dealers, may classify them as brokers or as something else, and that is what this bill follows out. That is the reasoning of this bill. It is classifying the employed on the one side and it is classifying the unemployed on the other side, and it is placing uniform tax of one per cent. on the employed, so that they may chip in and help the unemployed.

Members of the House, the case that is strongest for my friend to argue is Cope's appeal, and what did the Supreme court say in that case:

"By necessary implication, the first clause of that section recognizes the authority of the legislature to justly and fairly, but never arbitrarily, classify those subject of taxation with the view of effecting relative equality of burdens."

My friend did not read that to you, and it is in there, and that is what this bill does, with the view of effecting relative equality of burdens.

My friend did not call your attention to several other cases. Let me read to you what the Supreme Court of our State has said in a coal company case:

"Taxes shall be uniform because of the right of the citizens to bear no more than equal burdens. The whole argument on this question of uniformity rests on this right of the citizen to be exempt from unequal burdens in supporting government. That he who has more to be protected by government, should pay more for its support, is a plain rule." Let me read that again to you, what the Supreme Court has said: "That he who has more to be protected by government, should pay more for its support, is a plain rule." The conservative Supreme Court of Pennsylvania said that, "But without the power to classify men as well as things, this undesirable inequality cannot be avoided, for if visible or tangible things only can be classified for taxation, then those whose wealth consists in that which is not visible or tangible, though it be far beyond the few visible effects of the poorer citizen, will not bear their proper share of the public burden."

I could read to you the opinions of many other states. There have been three cases almost, if not exactly identically like this bill in three states of this Union with constitutions reading word and word, and period for period, and comma for comma like our Constitution. When income tax bills have been passed and those cases and those bills were taken to the Supreme Courts of those states, the Supreme Courts of those states have decided that those acts are constitutional.

Members of the House, are we going to believe that the Supreme Court of our State, with decisions staring them square in the face, cases with principles identical with this, will say that the lawyers of high repute making up those Supreme Courts are wrong and did not know what they were doing?

My friend argues about Clause 6. There was an amendment to be offered to Clause 6. If this passes, it goes to the Senate and those little things that are much complained of here can there be corrected, and when this bill goes to the Governor's desk, it will go there proof against any argument that my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, or any other lawyer in this Commonwealth or out of it can make to destroy it.

I ask you members of the House, in view of the crisis, in view of the present emergency, in view of the people demanding immediate relief, that we now pass this bill and let the Senate have some work to do.

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded, by Messrs. Spangler, Haws, Lucas, Royle, Bidelspacher, F. H. Myers, Jr., Witkin, Green, Conner, Heffernan, Stadtlander, Lynch, Hagmaier, Neely, Goehring, Dunn, John W. Griffith, Schrock, Dietrich, Wilson, Henderson and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

LEAVE GRANTED COMMITTEE TO SIT DURING SESSION OF THE HOUSE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, reference was made earlier in this evening's session to the action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Board of Directors when you, Mr. Speaker, and a group of others, including myself, were summoned before that body last Thursday to state the case of Pennsylvania. Unless I completely misunderstood the language of the chairman of that committee, and to give you an opportunity for you yourself to interpret the meaning of that language, I should like your indulgence for a moment until I read the order of that board of directors as handed to us at the conclusion of the meeting.

"It is our belief that, on proper showing, we should extend some relief to the State of Pennsylvania, but it must be borne in mind that we have funds entrusted to our board which are to be expended, not in lieu of state or local relief, but to be supplemented thereto, if, when, and as necessary.

"After full hearing, we feel persuaded that the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania, and its several political subdivisions, have not done their full duty with respect to the furnishing of funds for relief purposes. We shall defer action with regard to relief for Pennsylvania, until we know what the Legislature will do for the relief of its own people."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that statement, that order, that decision, is a direct challenge to this Assembly and to the people of this Commonwealth. There is no doubt, there can be no doubt, that that Board by the approval of those of our representatives in Congress, both in the House of Representatives and in the Senate, who voted for the measure, has the authority to say whether or not it shall approve or disapprove the applications made by a Commonwealth. Subsection A of Section 1 of the bill passed by Congress giving to the Reconstruction Corporation authority to allot to the respective states not in excess of fifteen per cent of three hundred million dollars, distinctly provides that that allotment shall be made on approval of such application by the Corporation.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the membership of this House has again stated in no unmistakable terms this evening that it does not approve of income tax levies. It has asked the members of the Ways and Means Committee to again consider the relief tax measure which has been recommitted to the Ways and Means Committee. In that committee rests other tax measures which in my opinion should be immediately considered. I refer particularly to the nuisance tax measure, the tax on cigarettes, the tax on soft drinks, the syrup used in compounding soft drinks, and the tax on cosmetics.

Mr. Speaker, for the consideration of these measures while this House is in session and in order to expedite adjournment, I ask permission of the House that the Ways and Means Committee may immediately assemble in the House Caucus Room to consider these measures to which I have just referred.

The SPEAKER. Will the House grant leave to the Committee on Ways and Means to sit during the session of the House? Are there objections? The Chair hears none and leave is granted.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 238 (Senate Bill No. 42), as follows:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 12

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 5, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 12, Printer's No. 22, entitled, "A supplement to Act Number sixteen A approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (1931 Appropriation Acts page seventy-three) entitled 'An act making an appropriation to carry into effect the provisions of an act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred ninety-three) entitled "An act providing for assistance to certain mothers providing for the appointment of boards of trustees for the several counties of the Commonwealth and for the appointment of a State supervisor and assistants and fixing the salaries of such State supervisor and assistants defining the powers and duties of boards of trustees including the power of appointing assistants and investigators and the distribution of funds at their disposal providing for the apportionment of the State appropriation among the several counties and requiring counties coming under the provisions of this act to appropriate certain moneys and providing penalties" as amended.'"

In approving this bill the Governor attached the following statement:

This is the first of a series of bills prepared by the Department of Justice which I am signing today for the purpose of restoring appropriations abated by the passage of the Talbot Act at the last special session of the Legislature.

Before any appropriations abated by the Talbot Act can be restored effectively, new revenue must be found or other appropriations must be reduced. It would have been better not to present to me this series of bills restoring abatements uutil the other legislation has passed rendering fully effective the restoration of abatements. I am sure that the chairman of the appropriations committee of both houses intended that all of this legislation should come to me at substanitally the same time. However, that has not occurred, and I must act on these restoration bills before the Legislature will again convene. Therefore, I am signing them upon the faith of the assurance given me by the leaders of both Houses that the other steps necessary to balance the budget will be taken.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 48

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 3, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 48, Printer's No. 176, entitled "An act to repeal article twenty-one of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith.'"

This bill would eliminate from the School Code the article which provides for holding and financing teachers' institutes.

It seems to be generally conceded that our present system of teachers' institutes has outlived its usefulness, and that it should be modified or abolished. However, the question cannot be disposed of at the present time, because this bill is not within any of the subjects designated in my proclamation convening the present Extraordinary Session of the Legislature.

In addition, present laws afford board authority to school officials to substitute other forms of teacher instruction. Institutes can be abolished in any district without new legislation.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. MUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 3, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 71, Printer's No. 170, entitled "An act relating to public improvements undertaken and made in times of economic depression for the purpose of furnishing employment for persons otherwise unemployed authorizing any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth to undertake and make such public improvements under certain conditions authorizing one or more poor districts to furnish the labor for such public improvements from among the persons entitled to relief and other citizens of this Commonwealth under certain circumstances and to make such public improvements in and for such poor districts under certain conditions with the approval of the court of common pleas providing for reimbursement of such poor districts under certain circumstances out of a State loan when and if approved providing that such poor districts be reimbursed when not coextensive with the municipal subdivision out of any funds lawfully available for the purpose by general taxation or out of municipal liens and providing for interest providing that the provisions of this act are severable as affected by the Constitution and repealing inconsistent laws and defining municipal subdivision as meaning any county city borough township or poor district of this Commonwealth."

I have already vetoed House Bill No. 71, Printer's No. 65. I understand that Printer's No. 65 was not the bill which passed both Houses of the General Assembly and that it was sent to me as the result of a clerical error.

Printer's No. 170 contains an amendment dealing with the rate of wages to be paid to laborers furnished by poor districts. That is the only difference between it and Printer's No. 65. This difference does not remove any of the objections which I expressed to Printer's No. 65.

For the same reasons which I expressed in dealing with Printer's No. 65, I cannot see my way clear to approve the bill as now presented to me.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 5, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 152, Printer's No. 181, entitled "An act to further amend section eight of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and eighty) entitled 'An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereon authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances' by further regulating the adjournment and readjournment of sales of seated lands for delinquent taxes and authorizing the county treasurer with the consent of the county commissioners and a judge to adjourn and readjourn such sales during periods of economic depression providing for advertisement and notice preceding any adjournment or readjournment and dispensing with prior advertisement and notice in such cases providing for the consolidation of the advertisements and notices of different year's taxes held on the same date and validating adjourned sales where the original sale has not been advertised or notice thereof given."

Senate Bill No. 73 which has been finally passed by both the Senate and the House of Represenatives contains all of the provisions of this bill, and one additional provision which I consider desirable. That bill has been recalled by the Senate for correction, but when it again reaches my desk, I expect to approve it. Therefore, this bill is unnecessary.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. BOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication together with the bill be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 213

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 5, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 213, Printer's No. 174, entitled "A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and eighty) entitled 'An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances' by postponing tax sales during the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two."

This bill would forbid the holding of any tax sale of seated lands under the Act of May 29, 1931, P. L. 280, during the year 1932.

That act, as amended at the extraordinary session of 1931, now permits such sales to be adjourned, under certain conditions, for periods up to one year. Senate Bill No. 73, which has been passed by both the Senate and the House of Representatives at the present session, would permit adjournments and readjournments up to two and one-half years. That bill has been recalled by the Senate for correction. When it again reaches my desk, I expect to approve it.

Adjournment and readjournment of sales under those amendments to the original act will accomplish everything that could be accomplished by this bill and will have the advantage of leaving control in the hands of local authorities, who are best able to determine the needs in their communities for postponement of tax sales.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. I. B. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 157

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 3, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 157, Printer's No. 113, entitled, "An Act to amend section five hundred and one of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred five) entitled 'An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for reufnds' by requiring extra fees for the assignment of special registration plates."

This bill purports to provide that those persons desiring particular motor license tags shall pay extra fees for this special consideration. Possibly the principle of the bill is justifiable; but it is so badly drawn and so grossly discriminatory that I cannot approve it.

The bill provides:

1. That members of the Legislature shall receive special license plates without extra charge:

2. That judges shall receive similar preferential treatment;

3. That all officers and enlisted men of the National Guard shall likewise receive special plates without additional charge;

4. That all persons desiring low numbers or special combinations of letters and figures shall pay extra fees as follows:

Numbers less than one hundred (100) or letters only, an extra fee of five dollars ($5.00);

For any other special number or combinations of a letter and numbers or letters and numbers, two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50).

The bill makes it a misdemeanor for any employe of the Department of Revenue to assign to any person any special registration plate containing, "any letter or letters or combination of letter and numbers or letters and numbers, unless application has been made therefor and upon the payment of the extra fee."

The effect of these provisions would be:

1. That two hundred fifty-eight (258) members of the Legislature would receive a discriminatory preference;

2. That one hundred seventy-four (174) judges would receive a similar preference;

3. That approximately eleven thousand (11,000) members of the National Guard would be favored;

4. That the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, and the other Cabinet officers who now receive license numbers below one hundred (100) would be obliged to pay five dollars ($5.00) each for these numbers;

5. That the only license plates which could be issued without the payment of an extra fee would be those containing figures between one hundred (100) and one hundred thousand (100,000). These are the only plates which do not contain a letter or letters or a combination of a letter and numbers or of letters and numbers.

The net result of this bill would be not only inexcusable discrimination in favor of legislative and judicial officers and against executive officers of the State government, but also a general increase in motor license fees, except for those persons who would be so fortunate as to receive without special application license numbers from one hundred (100) to ninety-nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine (99,999). To state the matter differetly, license fees would be increased two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) for all but approximately one hundred thousand (100,000) of the upwards of one million (1,000,000) owners of pleasure automobiles in Pennsylvania.

If license fees are to be increased, let it be done openly and frankly and not by indirection.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 202

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 3, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 202, Printer's No. 167, entitled, "An Act to amend section one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred ninety-nine) entitled 'An act requiring retail dealers in liquid fuels to state the rate of the liquid fuels tax separately from the price of such liquid fuels on liquid fuel display signs and imposing a penalty' requiring dealers to state on price display signs the tax per gallon separately from the price of the liquid fuels per gallon and authorizing the Department of Revenue to make regulations."

This bill would authorize the Department of Revenue to make regulations for the enforcement of the act requiring retail gasoline dealers to state on their display signs the rate of liquid fuels tax per gallon separately from the price of liquid fuels per gallon.

I have no objection whatever to the substantive change which this bill would make in the Act of June 1, 1931, P. L. 299. However, by no stretch of the imagination could it be found to come within any of the subjects which I stated in my proclamation convening this special session. Therefore, approval of the bill would be futile. It is unconstiutional.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 148

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 3, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 148, Printer's No. 120, entitled "An Act amending section seven of an act entitled 'A supplement to an act' entitled "An act for the government of cities of the second class" approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one providing for the levy collection and disbursement of taxes and water-rents or rates and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer the board of water assessors and the collector of delinquent taxes and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for' as amended by permitting the delinquent tax collector to receive delinquent taxes water-rents or rates in installments."

This bill would authorize collectors of delinquent taxes in cities of the second class to accept partial payments of overdue taxes in such amounts and at such times as the collectors may see fit. The idea on which the bill is based is sound. Delinquent taxpayers frequently may be able to make payments on account of their taxes when they could not pay the entire amounts at once. It would seem to be only common sense for public creditors to do what private creditors are doing every day. The taxing unit would receive money that it might not otherwise get, and the taxpayer would be relieved of accruing interest and penalties on such amounts as he can pay.

However, there is no need for legislation on the subject. Nothing in the law now forbids tax collectors or taxing authorities to accept from taxpayers payments of less than the whole amounts due, as partial payments. Such payments could not affect the liability for the unpaid balances or for penalties that might accrue on them; nor would any lien be disturbed by such a procedure. Of course, legislative authority is necessary to make taxes become due in installments; Act No. 3 which I approved on July 25, 1932, provides that authority. But no such action is needed to permit partial payments on account after the taxes have become due.

Therefore, the bill can be of no benefit, and it might be harmful. The fact of the existence of such a law might well be made the basis for an implication that without similar authority such partial payments on account of delinquent taxes could not be accepted by tax collectors and taxing authorities outside of cities of the second class.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. SPANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 183

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 5, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 183, Printer's No. 225, entitled "An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred seventy-six) entitled 'An act making an appropriation to a commission to be appointed by the Governor to be used and expended for and toward the celebration of the Chicago Centennial Anniversary.'"

This bill would eliminate the appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), made by the Act of June 25, 1931, P. L. 1376, to a commission to be appointed by the Governor, to be used and expended for and toward the celebration of the Chicago Centennial Anniversary.

I have already approved House Bill No. 126, which repeals the Act of June 25, 1931, P. L. 1376. Therefore, it would be useless for me to approve this bill.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 76

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 5, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 76, Printer's No. 195, entitled "An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number thirty-five A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled 'An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in Dixmont Hospital at Dixmont Allegheny County.'"

This bill would reduce the current appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the care, treatment, and maintenance of the indigent insane at Dixmont Hospital from three hundred forty-six thousand, five hundred dollars ($346,500) to three hundred ten thousand dollars ($310,000), a reduction of thirty-six thousand, five hundred dollars ($36,500). As the Talbot Act abated this appropriation in the amount of eighty-three thousand, seven hundred fourteen dollars and forty cents ($83,714.40), the practical effect of this bill would be to restore slightly more than half the abatement made by the Talbot Act.

I have already approved House Bill No. 21, which restores in full the abatement made in this appropriation by the Talbot Act.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

This bill would restore the abatement of $12,080 made by the so-called Talbot Act in the appropriation to the Flagship Niagara Commission for the restoration and maintenance of Commodore Perry's Flagship Niagara.

I have already approved House Bill No. 124 which makes a reduction of $25,000 in this appropriation.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

This bill would restore the abatement of $101,472 made by the so-called Talbot Act in the current maintenance appropriation to the Elwyn Training School.

I have already approved House Bill No. 113 which restores approximately three-fourths of the abatement made in this appropriation by the Talbot Act.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 9, Printer's No. 19, entitled "A supplement to the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred thirty-six) entitled 'An act authorizing the Department of Agriculture to establish facilities for and to conduct official egg-laying contests providing facilities for the same on land now under the control of the Board of Trustees of Harrisburg State Hospital and making an appropriation.'"

This bill would restore the abatement of $20,536 made by the so-called Talbot Act in the current appropriation to the Department of Agriculture for conducting official egg-laying contests.

I have already approved House Bill No. 184, which restores approximately two-thirds of the abatement made by the Talbot Act.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

This bill would restore the abatement of $18,120 effected by the so-called Talbot Act in the current maintenance appropriation to the Board of Commissioners of Navigation for the River Delaware and its Navigable Tributaries.

I have already approved House Bill No. 120, which restores not quite two-thirds of the abatement made in this appropriation by the Talbot Act.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1932. No. 23

SENATE

TUESDAY, August 9, 1932

The Senate met at 8 o'clock P. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, from everlasting to everlasting Thou art the same. From youth to age we, as finite beings, are subject to change, both in body and in mind. Confronted with varying conditions, or with a more complete knowledge, we are led to change our mental attitudes from time to time.

"Our little systems have their day;
They have their day and cease to be;
They are but broken lights of Thee;
And Thou art so much more than they."

We pray for a more complete comprehension of life and its problems, enabling us so to act that we may have but few occasions to revise our thought and conduct. Whatever change of mind and heart we may have, may it always be for the better.

For the wrong we have done, and the good we have left undone, we implore Thy forgiveness. We beseech Thy help for the performance of the tasks before us.

Our hearts are saddened with the information that one of the honored members of this body has suddenly been called out of Time into Eternity. We rejoice in the valient service he rendered his community and the State. We ask that Thou mayest console the bereaved members of his family. May they find Thy grace sufficient in this time of their great sorrow.

Enable us to be true in the discharge of our duties, so we, too, may finally be able to render unto Thee a good account of our earthly stewardship.

For these mercies we entreat Thee in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. EINSTEIN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 83, Printer's No. 53, entitled: "A Supplement to Act No. 15-A approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (1931 Appropriation Acts, page 16), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one," making an appropriation for the payment of certain expenses of the General Assembly, convened in Extraordinary Session on the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-two."

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL No. 31

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 5, 1932.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 31, Printer's No. 25, entitled: "A Supplement to Act Number 4-A approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (1931 Appropriation Acts page five) entitled "An act providing for the investigation and study of the effect of the diversion of water for water supply purposes upon the lower Delaware River and the industries using water therefrom imposing certain duties upon the Sanitary Water Board and making an appropriation"

VETO OF SENATE BILL No. 76

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 5, 1932.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 76, Printer's No. 50, entitled "An act to amend section seven of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280), entitled 'An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands, and prescribing interest charges on non-payment thereof; requiring the receivers and collectors of county, city, borough, town, township, school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners, of such unpaid taxes, and providing for the lien thereof; authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes, and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid; and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances,' by changing the requirements as to advertising sales."

The act which this bill would amend provides a system under which county treasurers are required to sell seated lands to satisfy delinquent taxes. The present law provides that ten days' notice of any such sale shall be given by registered mail to the owner or terre tenant of lands so to be sold. If no owner of terre tenant can be served in this way, notice of the sale must be posted at a conspicious place on the premises, and at the court house. This bill would eliminate the necessity for posting of notice on the premises.

Justice requires that reasonable efforts be made to warn property owners of impending sales of their lands for unpaid taxes. Possible buyers, likewise, must be informed, in order to assure a fair sale.

A notice hung in an obscure corner of a court house is seen by compartively few people. Its practical value is small. Notice posted on the premises to be sold attracts persons of the vicinity, who are most likely to be able to locate absent owners, and most likely to be interested as purchasers. To eliminate such posting would be unjust and unwise.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

VETO OF SENATE BILL No. 62

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, August 3, 1932.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 62, Printer's No. 47, entitled "An act to repeal article twenty-one the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith,' thereby abolishing teachers' institutes."

This bill would eliminate from the School Code the article which provides for holding and financing teachers' institutes.

It seems to be generally conceded that our present system of teachers' institutes has outlived its usefulness, and that it should be modified or abolished. However, the question cannot be disposed of at the present time, because this bill is not within any of the subjects designated in my proclamation convening the present Extraordinary Session of the Legislature.

In addition, present laws afford broad authority to school officials to substitute other forms of teacher instruction. Institutes can be abolished in any district without new legislation.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING SENATE BILL No. 73

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 73

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 73, entitled:

Therefore, I move you that Senate Bill No. 186, be recommitted to the Committee on Public Roads and Highways for further consideration.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, we have been assembled here since the twenty-seventh of June, and have not as yet accomplished the purposes for which we have been called into session. I am talking now because of the fact that I am particularly interested in the welfare of the citizens of Philadelphia. Various newspapers in Philadelphia have taken upon themselves to find fault with the actions of the members of the Senate and the members of the House from Philadelphia; and I am not quite sure but what to some extent they are not justified in the attitude they have taken. Of course, to those who understand, we, the members of the Senate, are bound hand and foot in this legislation of today, the main purpose of the legislation being to raise revenue for relief; and, as you, Mr. President, and the rest of the Senators know, there is little or nothing that we in this Senate can do until these relief measures, which must emanate in the House and be passed by the House, come over to the Senate. So we have spent our time here doing little or nothing because of the fact that this Senate, as I said before, has been bound hand and foot by the actions of the members of the House. So far as Philadelphia is concerned, we will not go home from this session without having accomplished something. We have had passed, through the graciousness of the members of the House and the Senators, two bills, one of which was advocated, as I said before, by Councilman Trainer of Philadelphia, and the other I, myself, had considerable to do with, and tried in the last Special Session of the Legislature to have passed. It was not successful. But in this present session that bill has been passed, and both those bills have been signed by the Governor. They mean this to the City of Philadelphia. They mean that from now on, if, through the lack of funds, we are unable to pay our firemen, policemen or other employes, our Council will have the privilege of borrowing money on delinquent taxes for the purpose of meeting payments of our city employes, which will mean a great relief. The other bill will give us the right to tax our own people for the necessities of our poor. And I know, from what I know and am acquainted with the citizenship of Philadelphia, that they will stand the burden of that taxation, and will find no fault with our City Council. But, unfortunately, part of the whole trouble is that these taxes cannot be raised within a short time, and Philadelphia at this time needs immediate relief. We need money, and need it in a manner that we have never needed it before. We need it to feed the poor and the suffering and unemployed, widowed mothers and children all along the line—there is no use going into the details of it, because we all know what it is. I have studied the proposition over, and if the members of the House will send some sort of taxation over to this Senate involving in the neighborhood of twelve million dollars, it will mean a tax of five dollars in the next five months to each person who is in a position of paying taxes in Pennsylvania. There is great complaint that our citizens are over taxed now; and that, to some extent is true. But, after all, after all, Mr. President, isn't that man in better circumstances and happier that still has something he thinks worth while owning and still able to pay taxes on, whatever it may be, five dollars in the next five months, than the man or woman who is suffering for the necessities of life, or the poor widowed mother with an infant child who is not able to give that child maybe the milk required each day? Thank God, I am still in a position that I have some tax to be put on me, for a heart and mind to be still willing to pay, and pay more. It comes with poor grace from any citizen in Pennsylvania who is still in a position to stand the additional burden of tax to say that for five dollars for five months I will let women and children and the suffering community die. But there are different ways of being merciful. There are many of those who want to help, but they want the other fellow to do it. You are merciful to cats and dogs by giving them monoxide gas to put them out of existence. There are others merciful to men and women who want to feed them on concrete in order that there would be nothing more necessary to go into their bodies and souls. But that is not the mercy of God Almighty. That is not the mercy of humanity. That is not the mercy you good Christian people of Pennsylvania have been taught in your churches, in your synagogues, and in other places. The mercy of Christianity and humanity is a refuge for your fellowmen. And the man who can't love his fellowmen for five dollars in the next five months has no right to be considered among mankind or among human beings. Oh, maybe it is not pleasant to talk about taxation. But you can't pay bills without money, and the only one that can pay the money is the one that can stand for taxation; and those that hide behind that, I wish I had it in my power to take from them everything they have got on which a tax might be levied, and then see how they would feel about it.

We have offered, as I understand, for tomorrow morning at ten o'clock an order of special business, and this is on the Road Bill. I have heard from certain members of the House that if they do pass this bill the Senate will not vote for it. Who is there in the House that has authority to talk for this Senate? I do not know whether the Senate will vote for it or not; but we have the right and the privilege, I think, of having that bill sent over here, and let us use our own judgment. That is part of the propoganda in the House tonight. We in Philadelphia think this fund should come out of the Road Bill. We may be wrong. But I say to those, whoever they may be, whether from the rural district, or wherever else they come from, you can't have the penny and have the cake. If you don't want the money taken from the road fund, give it to us from some place else, and that some place they have it in their power to give. The hands of ten million people in Pennsylvania, the hands of those who have never had to hold them out, are pointing fingers to the members of the Ways and Means Committee; and in that Committee they are strangling legislation, they are strangling humanity. And I say to you, Mr. President, there is a way, and you know it, or I think you do, and I know it, the Governor of Pennsylvania knows it, the State Chairman of Pennsylvania knows it, the Republican leader of Phialdelphia knows it, the Republican leader of Pittsburgh knows it. There is a way that those bills can get out of that Ways and Means Committee if they will get to work. I do not know the personnel of that Committee. I do not know whether they are running loose, or how they are working. But if they are running loose they can be herded together in the manner that other men in political organizations have been herded together before and shown the handwriting on the wall. Mr. President, this can be done. This should be done. Humanity demands that it must be done. And we must have twelve million dollars in some form of taxation or another come out in that House from that Ways and Means Committee so that the members of this Senate can be put on the spot to find out how they stand. And I for one am anxisouly awaiting the day and hour when I can be put on the spot.

RECESS

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for thirty minutes.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

We bow before Thy throne, O God, for Thou are worthy to receive the homage of men and of angels. Thou are always providing for the needs of Thy children. For our temporal wants Thou art sending bountiful harvests, fruitful seasons, giving unto this fair land food enough and to spare.

And with all Thy giving we hear Thee say: "In the time of prosperity rejoice; in the time of adversity consider." We would consider, Lord, not what is the will of men, but what is the wish and will of the Almighty for this day and this hour. Make plain to us dear Lord the path of duty and give unto each of us the strength and courage to walk therein. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria inform me, what is the purpose of the proposed reference of this bill to the Committee on Highways?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the purpose stated, of course, was further study. I believe the intention of that is to hold it for further consideration. The bill as it now stands takes twelve million dollars, which is not in sight, from the only relief agency functioning in the State of Pennsylvania. There will be no provision for carrying on this work if that amount is diverted, because already the Highway Department now is indebted to the General Fund in the amount of eight million dollars and by the addition and diversion of this twelve million dollars, it will make the Highway Fund responsible to the General Fund in a total amount of some twenty million dollars. If you will recall at the last session we diverted to the Highway Fund eight million dollars of which only a small amount has been repaid.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire further, how much is available in the hands of the Highway Department and how that figure is reconciled with the figures presented by the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Patterson?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am informed that there are two sets of figures. One, the most recent view, is that the Highway Department has an unencumbered balance of forty million dollars. I am further told that that is totally in error and that there is no considerable balance in the hands of the Highway Department that is not encumbered. Now with the proposals and the carrying on of only the present, no increased work relief plan in the Highway Department will not permit the diversion of any sum at the present time.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cambria, have you made any investigation, or has the head of the Department of Highways submitted any statement which we can now consider?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I have no printed statement. All I can say is that less than fifteen minutes ago the head of the Highway Department said he could not stand for that diversion.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, has the head of that department presented a statement for our consideration?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I have already stated that. I would suppose there has been as yet no printed statement to the House as a whole.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman has made an investigation personally?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. I have already told you that I talked to Mr. Lewis, Secretary of the Department of Highways, less than fifteen minutes ago.

Mr. KLECKNER. In your opinion, in order to permit our State government to borrow from the Federal government and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is it intended to borrow on the future Federal road relief security?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, if I gather the question aright, my opinion and reply thereto would be that any measure which is so unsound as to borrow from one fund and thereby create a deficit will not be a help in the presentation to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as a justification on their part of an allowance to come to us.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, would this not afford a good opportunity to furnish to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation conclusive evidence of our intention to co-operate and to surrender some of the rights of the rural counties, speaking as one who voted for the twenty thousand mile program, and at the same time it might possibly furnish a good alibi for the Governor with regard to his rather ambitious road program, that it might allow him a convenient means whereby he might go out over night and explain to the public, through all of the various counties, that it is impossible for him to carry out this twenty thousand mile road program because we are taking from him and from his pet department, $12,000,000 in order to provide for unemployment relief?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, it is my opinion that a device as transparent as that would only make it more apparent to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and to the citizens of Pennsylvania at large that we were kidding ourselves.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria concede the fact that this step might be an earnest and sincere effort to prevent the possible abatement of the twelve million dollars for hospitals for the next five months, between now and the general session, and that it might also advance preferred appropriations without interfering with the ordinary expenses, as defined by the Attorney General and the Supreme Court in the last Talbot decision?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, it is my opinion, if your question is worth answering, that the answer to that question is yes, though we should not disturb the best functioning, work relief agency on the part of the Commonwealth.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria, as a lawyer and a business man advise me whether in his opinion it might be a good step toward more efficiency in government to combine the special highway fund with the general fund so this question might not arise in the future?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, if that was not beyond the question I would still say, as a matter of personal opinion, that it would not be advisable to combine the Highway Fund with the General Fund.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria advise me whether it would not be advisable at this time to have the members of the Legislature express themselves without further delay, without waiting another hour, as to just what our individual opinion is on this very vital question?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, it is my opinion that we should stop kidding ourselves right now; that we should get down to business and not divert funds from much-needed places into schemes that are as visionary as this, which are apt to result in a deficit and which will avoid a responsibility which this Legislature now faces, the responsibility is getting down to business and passing genuine relief measures.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Cambria advise me whether in his opinion the Governor had been kidding us or whether he has been kidding the public when he interjects his own personal opinion with regard to federal questions and for example with regard to the soldier question in your own county.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that, my opinions were given to you on your request for my opinion. The Governor's opinion I would not attempt to give.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, I trust that the motion made by the gentleman from Cambria will prevail, for a number of reasons. In the first place as he has already said, the Highway Department is engaged in work relief. On May 7, 1931, there were employed in the Commonwealth on the highways of the Commonwealth thirty-three thousand, four hundred and forty-five people. At the present time over twenty thousand people are employed.

Another reason why I ask that the motion of the gentleman from Cambria might prevail is the fact that much of the money in the Highway Department in the Motor Licence Fund has already been allocated to the building of roads. As I have said, at the present time, twenty thousand people are now employed and as the work progresses probably thirty-five thousand people will be employed, and as it is a program of work relief, it should not be disrupted. For these reasons among many others, I ask that the House vote in favor of the motion of the gentleman from Cambria to have the bill recommitted for further study.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I take issue with the gentleman from Lycoming. I sincerely trust that this motion will not prevail. I know of no department of the State government that has been used in the past as a greater political weapon on the part of the Governor to drive members of this House into line, than the Highway Department. As the gentleman from Lycoming very simply stated a moment ago, just prior to the Primary, there were employed in the Highway Department some thirty-three or thirty-five thousand men and immediately after the Primary the number of workers employed by the Highway Department was dropped approximately fifteen thousand. I know as a matter of personal knowledge that in my own district nearly a thousand men were put to work prior to the Primary. What for? Why to advance the political aspirations of the Governor in my district and that is the kind of department that we have at the present time, not one that is sincerely desirous of promoting the welfare of the State but one of the biggest spending departments in the State of Pennsylvania, and one over which the Legislature has absolutely no control. We don't know today how much money that department is using or wasting. I pointed out to you just a week ago the enormous number of trucks and automobiles that they are now using. I pointed out that they had in their department alone fifteen chauffeurs.

The gentleman from Lycoming speaks of work relief. This is what the Governor himself in his message, said about work relief as compared with direct relief. I want you to consider this, that this House will not have sufficient money to use for work relief. The Governor in his message to the Legislature said "I am a hearty believer in giving work instead of food whenever it can be done, but work relief is from three, to five or six times more expensive than direct relief. It would cost us two hundred million dollars to give work relief whereas direct relief of a sort can be supplied for sixty million dollars."

We won't have sixty million dollars to spend for any kind of relief in this Commonwealth and for the gentleman from Lycoming to stand up here and say that because we employ thirty thousand people out of a population of ten million is going to help the Commonwealth at this time is simply absurd. I am firmly of the opinion that the only source of income that the Legislature can now turn to for its immediate need with respect to relief is the Highway Department, and I am confident that if the money is taken from this Department it is not going to be missed. There is no necessity for us to continue on an expensive program that was adopted in 1929 and build a vast system of new roads at a time like this. This money is needed now for direct relief and that is where it should go and this is the source we should take it from. I therefore hope that the motion of the gentleman from Cambria, will not prevail.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I believe that if the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Kleckner, and the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler, were familiar with conditions in my county and dozens of other counties of the Commonwealth, that I could mention, that they would not put up the arguments that they have offered here today. I wonder if they know that if they retard in the slightest degree the rural road building activities of the State Highway Department, by every dollar that work is retarded the problems of unemployment relief are increased in these respective counties? The same plan may not be followed in all the counties, but for their information I should like to tell them how it is operated in my county to the benefit of the relief proposition.

Just recently there was announced a one thousand mile road program which will bring approximately twenty miles of road construction to my county. That will bring about $125,000 into the county, of which approximately sixty per cent will be paid out for labor. Every man who will spend a single day on this rural road program in Clearfield County will go there on orders and instructions of local relief agencies who, if they could not send them to work their three day tricks on the road, would be on the county and state relief. Any money you take from this fund will operate in inverse ratio to the purposes of this special session.

I have repeatedly wished and hoped that I might take a delegation of the members of this House from those counties who do not have an unemployment relief problem such as we have to see what the conditions are with which we have to cope. I believe that those who speak for the taking of this road fund come from areas that are not so hard hit by the depression. We do not have the slate industries that they have in Lehigh county; we do not have the great textile plants and if it were not for the seriousness of the situation I would say we do not have the apple jack industry that they have down there. We have only three industries, brick, coal and clay and they are down, and when I say down, I mean they are closed, absolutely closed. As for making a showing to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by the diversion of this money it is a mere subterfuge; it is merely transferring it from your left hand pocket to your right hand pocket.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation expects us to have the moral courage to do something for our unemployed and merely taking money from one fund of the State government and transferring it into another without there being back of that something that will mean economies in the State government is a fallacious plan and a fallacious idea.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on the question that is now before us, I would like to read you the opinion of one of the greatest statesmen that ever lived, Montesquieu. On this subject he states:

"The public revenues are a portion that each subject gives of his property, in order to secure or enjoy the remainder.

"To fix these revenues in a proper manner, regard should be had both to the necessities of the state and to those of the subject. The real wants of the people ought never to give way to the imaginary wants of the state.

"Imaginary wants are those which flow from the passions and the weakness of the governors, from the vain conceit of some extraordinary project, from the inordinate desire of glory, and from a certain impotence of mind in capable of withstanding the impulse of infancy. Often have ministers of a restless disposition imagined that the wants of their own mean and ignoble souls were those of the state.

"Nothing requires more wisdom and prudence than the regulation of that portion of which the subject is deprived, and that which he is suffered to retain.

"The public revenues should not be measured by the people's abilities to give, but by what they ought to give; and if they are measured by their abilities to give, it should be considered what they are able to give for a constancy."

Now, members of the House, that was written by a Frenchman three hundred years ago and you have before you in Pennsylvania a vain and ignoble project of building roads while people starve.

Mr. WITKIN, Mr. Speaker, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the arguments of the gentleman who have spoken on this motion. May I call your attention to the fact that this bill does not provide for the twelve million dollars to be taken out of the Motor Fund and transferred to the General Fund, but that a sum not in excess of twelve million dollars be transferred if and when needed. If the figures given us by various persons in this House are correct, then the twelve million dollars will never be taken out of that fund. If some of the statements are incorrect then it may be that the twelve million dollars will be taken. There is a great deal of controversy with respect to that. Bear in mind, members of this House, this bill merely says that such funds shall be taken out of the Motor Fund and put into the General Fund if they are needed and when they are needed.

And bear in mind further, members of this House, that this money is to be repaid back to the Motor Fund commencing on June first, 1933, being a period of less than one year from the present date, in twenty-four equal monthly payments, so that this Motor Fund will begin to be reimbursed for the moneys that may be taken, if taken, commencing on June first of the coming year.

Now, members of the House, it is an undisputed fact that there are today practically twenty-one million dollars in this Highway Motor Fund. It is a fact that there are about forty million dollars of an unexpended budget balance in this fund. I don't want at this time to appeal to your sympathies. I don't want at this time to paint any pictures; I don't want at this time to appeal to the innermost thoughts of your heart, but I say this to you and I say it freely and sincerely, give us an opportunity to vote on this bill; give a fair and square opportunity to the members of this House. I have never found fault and I shall never find fault with the vote of any gentleman or lady of this House.

Here is a measure of tremendous importance; here is a measure of policy that must be determined; here is a bill that was considered by the Appropriations Committee, a committee that has the information, a committee that has the figures, a committee that knows the financial situation in the state. That committee is composed of responsible members of this House that passed this bill out to you for your consideration.

Here is a proposition! What is the purpose of sending it back to the Highway Department? We are all frank in our statements and we usually hit straight from the shoulder. It is an endeavor to kill the bill; is it an endeavor to stop a vote on the merits and demerits of the bill?

Members of this House, I ask you sincerely and honestly to give us the opportunity and to give yourselves the opportunity of voting on this bill. Vote as you will, let your conscience be your guide on your vote, and I will never find fault with any of you; but let this bill be voted on and don't send it back to the Committee on Highways. Let us have a vote on it. I ask you to vote this motion down. I put the matter before you squarely.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with much interest to the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, as he read to us from Montesquieu, in which he says that each citizen gives for his benefit. Then it was similar, a situation like the present, when the states had squandered that portion they have been getting, and they are now trying to get, and are now reaching out for the money which has been contributed through motor licenses, through road taxes, and I say that because they are now being assisted out of those funds in building the township roads which will pass their very door. If that is the case then we should vote now to put down the effort made by those who squandered their portion, are reaching out to get that of those who have lived along, contributing all the time, and who have heretofore been denied the benefits of their contribution.

Mr. Witkin goes further and says that the twelve million dollars is only to be transfered if and when necessary. Couple that with the twenty million dollars which nas been spoken of frequently as the sum which the receipts have dimished this year and from the motor license and gasoline tax subsidiary to the motor license fund. Add to that the eight million dollars which the motor license fund is now repaying to the general fund and we find that the passage of this legislation will make the motor license fund forty million dollars short of normal requirements.

Let us consider too the need of these rural contributors to this fund. They are suffering now by reason of the diminshed food prices which is reflected in the employment of the men ordinarily hired on farms almost as much by this depression as are the citizens whom we proposed and are ready to relieve by direct relief bills. The only self-liquidating projects that operate in rural communities for relief are the highways that are now built at a lower wage rate and which will remain there for their benefit and liquidate the cost that has been put on them. I believe it is to the interest of every member of this House who is sincere in his efforts on this relief to avoid the subterfuge of passing the thing that is only misleading us, that is only transferring the fund from the left hand pocket to the right pocket. We should vote to recommit the bill to the Committee on Highways and in that way stop it from further consideration here.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Cauffiel.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Cauffiel, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman any information as to how long this session may be in operation.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I have no information. I am not able, any more than any of the other members, to say how long the assembly should remain in session.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria how he voted on the economy bill, House Bill No. 129.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, on the economy bill, that is the one proposing to reduce the expenditures, I voted No.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman further; he certainly is acquainted with the fact, which cannot be doubted, that everybody here is getting tired. Therefore I have asked the gentleman from Cambria, and if I may interrogate the gentleman further, I would like to ask him of the forty-two million dollars in the Highway Fund how much would be available of that money or is there any of it already earmarked at the present time?

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I could not answer that question at the moment.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, it is apparent to me and I am positive that the same appeals to the various members of this House, both ladies and gentlemen, that it is almost utterly impossible to pass any revenue raising measures. If I have the information correctly I am informed that the so-called three nuisance bills, the tax on cosmetics, the tax on beverages, and syrups, and the tax on cigarettes, has been indefinitely postponed. However, to you, ladies and gentlemen, this may seem to be a revelation of the secrets of that committee, but it is not as it is only hearsay information. I have the highest respect for the members of the Ways and Means Committee but it is apparent to us all that these things went out the window.

I say in all sincerity that there is nothing unfair in transferring this money from the Highway Department to the General Fund when at this time it is absolutely needed. It is not giving us anything. It is only returning back to us what we loaned the Highway Fund in the Special Session of 1931 and which was ten million dollars. Of that amount there is yet unpaid $8,333,000. It remains a debt or an obligation on the part of the Highway Department as an amount for them to pay back to the General Fund in time of need and now is that time. This is only a fair proposition. We are not asking them for anything, but they should make payment of the money transferred to them from the General Fund so that the General Fund may have that money. I cannot see the motive behind this motion to refer this bill to the Highway Committee. However, I would vote for that in a moment on one condition, and that condition would be that in fifteen minutes they would report it out to the floor of this House.

This is the same problem. It is tangible and I see no reason why any member who voted for that bill in 1931 in the Extraordinary Session and who voted sincerely and willingly and gratuitously to give to the Department of Highways that ten milion dollars, that was given to them to take up some work which was termed so-called relief work, should take a different position now.

Now we are at the end of our string. Positively, I cannot see any way by which we can go ahead and raise revenue. The evidence of that is that you destroyed two bills last night and as I said a moment ago the Ways and Means Committee, I understand, threw out the three bills to which I have referred. Now, what are we going to do? Why it is not justifiable on our part if the Highway Department has money, more than it needs, to make the transfer. Almost everybody I think, realizes that the forty-three million dollars is not a fact but only an estimate. However, if it was fair and reasonable at the request of the Governor, through his Secretary of Highways to extend that loan of ten million dollars to the Highway Department, then I say today is the day for the Highway Department to pay back the money that we loaned to them and I say that it is not taking anything from them but only returning what is due to the general fund.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I was one of those who voted against House Bill No. 129 and as I stated my reasons for that I shall now state them again.

When I voted against that bill it was because I was informed by members of the State Federation of Labor that many people would be thrown out of work. Now I am informed by the members of the State Federation of Labor that this bill on the calendar may deprive fifteen or twenty thousand people of work who are now engaged on the highways, but, however, even if fifteen thousand people might lose their jobs, provided this bill would be enacted into law, yet it would at least give five hundred thousand people of the state relief. I am not here to oppose any constructive measure. If the law only deprived fifteen thousand people of a job and will in turn give at least five hundred thousand people relief, I maintain the bill is humane and should be voted for and I ask you to vote with the State Federation of Labor and vote down this motion. Let us give the five hundred thousand people relief.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The motion was not agreed to.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the Chair withdraw the decision and give us a roll call.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my request for a roll call.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the Chair has already announced his decision on the vote. The motion has been lost. The gentleman is out of order in now asking for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cambria has withdrawn his request for a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third and fourth section were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 In order to reimburse the Motor License Fund an amount equal to that transferred under section one of this act shall be transferred from the General Fund to the Motor License Fund in twenty-four equal monthly instalments beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three Such transfers shall be made by the State Treasurer upon requisition and warrant of the Auditor General who shall furnish to the Governor the Secretary of Revenue and the Seceretary of Highways a copy of each requisition drawn for this purpose

Section 3 The moneys in the Motor License Fund and in the General Fund are hereby specifically appropriated for transfer as provided by this act but such appropriation from the General Fund shall not be deemed an appropriation chargeable against the revenues or estimated revenues of the fiscal biennium beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one but shall be chargable as an appropriation payable from the revenues for the fiscal biennium beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

The title was read as follows:

An Act authorizing the transfer of money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund for the payment of appropriations for unemployment relief and for the retransfer of such moneys from the General Fund to the Motor License Fund during the fiscal biennium beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three and making an appropriation necessary to effect such transfers.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 1, by striking out the word "Lcense" and inserting in lieu thereof "License".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HOUSE BILL No. 254 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to state what I feel every member of this House knows to be a fact, that is, that this Legislature so far as this House is concerned is up against a stone wall, largely because as Representative Peelor said yesterday we have become so conscious of the things we have been told we cannot do, that we are obsessed with a fear that prevents our doing anything. In what I say I may seem harsh, but I believe the time has passed for pleasantries and platitudes and that we should face facts. I do not wish to be too harsh in my criticisms of what transpired here last evening. One of the veterans of this House has on numerous occasions, not on the floor of the House, referred to us members as "angle worms," but I believe we more resemble the species of crustaceans which can only crawl forward but can rapidly propel itself backward.

With regret I note a disposition to regard every relief measure as a fortress to be shot full of legal holes instead of a foundation to build constructively. May I most respectfully suggest that those with legal talent and training devote their time to a constructive building of relief legislation.

The House last night defeated the Black Income Tax Bill put forward to provide temporary and emergency unemployment relief. The vote was 65 yeas, 117 noes.

It was my privilege to vote aye on this bill, the only reasonable and logical way of raising relief funds since it contained a provision the effect of which would have exempted the small earner from the payment of any tax. At the same time it would have exacted a tax from public officials who now escape State and National levies.

Rejection of the income tax was the forerunner of a well planned maneuver to kill off all tax raising bills and, unless there are new and unanticipated developments, the Special Session will adjourn without providing any relief fund. It is a most unfortunate situation in which those who assume to guide the destinies of the Commonwealth have shouldered a grave responsibility.

I believe from conversations heard since the vote was taken on the income tax bill last evening that many who voted "no" on that measure did so because they had reason to think that the Ways and Means Committee intended to follow the defeat of the income tax and the occupation tax with a sales tax of an acceptable nature.

Defeat of the income tax proposal is contrary to logic. An Extraordinary Session of the Legislature called to give relief in an extraordinary situation must apply an extraordinary remedy.

It appears that we have been, with futility, attempting to apply old remedies to a malady new to the body politic of Pennsylvania.

We have a very beautiful but impractical theory of taxation in that provision of the Constitution which provides that "All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects."

And we have, over all the normal years, pointed with pride to this provision and the various legal opinions in support of same.

But now, permit me to call attention to a new epoch in the life of our citizens and the new problem it creates for government.

We are not now here to provide revenue for the ordinary expenses of government or for the usual governmental activities growing out of the march of human progress. That work has been done, and well done, by the simple and proper expedient of reducing appropriations to bring expenditures within expected revenues.

The problem we face is that of extending aid—indeed, the very necessities of life—to men, women and children having nothing, not even the prospect of having anything.

I choose to ignore any question raised as to the necessity for relief. The need for relief is too apparent. More than this, it has been repeatedly been admitted by those who now oppose it.

It seems to me that we mistake the aversion to taxation, the aversion to new taxation, to mean that our fellow citizens are unwilling to share one with the other in time of need. As I interpret the aversion to taxation it is an aversion to taxation of a nature that will put an additional tax on personal property or on occupations, two forms of taxation which we have and which have grown burdensome, but it is not within the concept of my reasoning that our fellow citizens will oppose a reasonable tax that will put food in the mouths of suffering people, will clothe them and will give them shelter in such a time as this.

Now, recognizing in simple language, the problem before us —an entirely new problem—must we not apply a logical remedy?

The very nature of the problem calls for action of a nature not precisely in harmony with the ideas we entertain under normal economic conditions. Did we not at the last Special Session strike out in defiance of procedence and practice, justifying our action in passing the Talbot Relief Act on the extraordinary problem we faced?

And did not the Courts sustain us, interpreting the law in the light of human needs as behooves a just court, rather than a hard and fast rule of law established by time and precedent?

Our failure here thus far is ample evidence of our inability to solve this extraordinary problem by ordinary means.

To me, it seems a departure from established customs is absolutely the necessity of our situation.

For what, may I ask, does government exist if not for the protection, aid and assistance of those, who through no fault of their own, are unable to procure the necessities of life? Reduced to a simple and logical conclusion, we face the stern fact that those who earn and those who have must feed those who are destitute.

To see that this is done, I view it, is a proper governmental function.

To do this, I contend, is the essence of human brotherhood.

To ignore the suffering of our fellow citizens is to ignore all Christian principles and teachings.

The income tax furnished the only method by which those who have can share with those who have nothing.

It calls for but a contribution of but one cent out of each dollar that we earn.

Are we so callous that we will vote to withhold one small copper out of each dollar of our earnings?

If we are, then we richly deserve, the condemnation being heaped upon us by the press and public who are growing more impatient day by day.

I cannot agree with those who say it is impossible to raise a relief fund in this Legislature. I do not think that we dare to adjourn without having an apportunity at least to vote on other tax raising measures and I for one, although it means a great personal sacrifice to me, will vote to remain here until New Year's Day before I vote to adjourn with no relief given to our unemployed.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Stewart.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEWART. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire how the gentleman voted on the income tax bill?

Mr. STEWART. I voted aye, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know of any two members of the House who are ready to move for the reconsideration of that bill?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I have made no inquiries to ascertain that fact but I gathered that in more or less round table conversations that some had so said.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think that they will do it?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I have no information on that question.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker, on account of important business, it was necessary for me to be absent from the Sessions of the House of Representatives on July 13th and July 14th, 1932. I should be recorded as not voting on all bills and resolutions that came before this Body on the above mentioned days.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no further business to lay before the House. We are reminded, however, that there is before the House a Conference Committee Report which may or may not be called up. Under the circumstances the Chair suggests a recess until nine o'clock this evening, and asks the pleasure of the House.

RECESS

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now take a recess until 9.00 o'clock this evening.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION

REQUESTING INSTALLATION OF MICROPHONES IN HOUSE

Mr. HEFFRAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 9, 1932.

Whereas, The size of the Hall of this House of Representatives and the noise that arises from the conversation of the members and visitors make it almost impossible for members to be heard while addressing the House; and

Whereas, The voice of the Speaker and the Clerks as carried through microphones and loud speakers is plainly heard at the remote ends of the Hall; and

Whereas, A system could be installed whereby microphones connected with existing loud speakers could be easily made available to any member who desired to be heard; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies is hereby requested to have the Hall of the House of Representatives so wired that microphones can be plugged in and connected with existing loud speakers at such places in the Hall of the House as to make it possible for each member of the House to use the same without moving from his or her desk; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution be forthwith transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HENDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HENDERSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I hold in my hand a number of communications from Fayette County setting forth the unemployment situation in our county. I have a letter from the Red Cross making the statement that we have in Fayette County eight thousand families who are in dire need of assistance from some source. Our various organizations have done their utmost to take care of our unemployed. The money that we have received in Fayette County from the Talbot Bill is exhausted. The A. C. Frick Coke Company, who have been taking care of fifteen hundred families in our county have discontinued that aid, and in addition to the families that we have previously had to take care of, we have these fifteen hundred families who have been turned over to us by the A. C. Frick Coke Company.

Throughout our district without very material aid, there will be a great deal of suffering during the coming fall and winter.

On behalf of the members of the Legislature from Fayette County I present the following resolution, Mr. Speaker, and ask for its immediate adoption and also that these letters may be made a part of the record.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege together with the communications referred to will be spread upon the Journal.

THE BELLE VERNON AND ROSTRAVER TOWNSHIP COMMUNITY RELIEF COMMITTEE
BELLE VERNON, PA.

Honorable Joseph B. Henderson, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:

We feel that we should acquaint you with the situation in our community caused by unemployment and precipitated by the exhaustion of local and county funds for relief.

There are, within three miles of where we sit, two thousand families comprising more than ten thousand people, whose bread-winners have been out of work for from three months to two years, and whose only hope of obtaining bread is vested in the action contemplated by the Legislature of this Commonwealth.

Talbot Bill funds are exhausted, the flour provided by the Federal Government is inadequate, the gardens which these families have spaded, planted and tended have suffered from drought and severe attacks of insects. These people have been remarkably patient. There have been no public uprisings in our section, very few of our people have participated in such demonstrations as the "B. E. F.", but there is a growing undercurrent of bitterness.

Should relief be delayed any considerable length of time we cannot promise anything concerning the consequences. Men will not permit their children to starve in the midst of a land supplied abundantly with the feed that they require.

Respectfully yours,
HOWARD T. CURTISS,
J. O. CLAWSON,
CHAS. T. ELLIOTT,
GEORGE LANGE,
Burgess.

FAYETTE COUNTY UNEMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE
UNIONTOWN, PA.

August 8, 1932.

Hon. Wm. C. Black, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Mr. Black:

The Honorable J. W. Dawson asked me to write to you this morning giving in a general way a statement of the amount of money spent for relief in Fayette County and the present situation. I quote from a paper I read to the Brownsville Rotary Club last week:

"Welfare workers have submitted estimates to the Senate and House of Representatives that Fayette County has more unemployed in proportion to her population than any other County in Pennsylvania.

"It is evident that we face the most serious situation in Fayette County since the War. In fact, our local problems, in many ways, exceed the problems that existed in 1918. Today, at the dinner hour more than thirty thousand people in this County sit down at the table to food furnished in some charitable manner, either through the efforts of our Emergency Relief Committees, the Red Cross, church and fraternal organizations, or County and State assistance. In other words, we have a bread line of people, standing close together, that would reach from Brownsville to Uniontown. This huge charitable responsibility up to this time has been taken care of in a fairly satisfactory way. Twenty-four Emergency Relief Committees were organized in Fayette County. Some of these organizations have been very active.

"The allocation of Government flour, distributed by the Red Cross, has and will bring into this district five hundred thousand bags of flour. Also, the six thousand packets of garden seeds distributed last spring by the Red Cross are of invaluable aid. The Relief Committees last winter raised approximately forty-five thousand in cash. At last twenty thousand pieces of clothing and twelve thousand pairs of shoes were distributed to the needy. The Friends Organization of Philadelphia fed twenty-eight hundred school children a noon-day luncheon during the last seven months of the school term. Our County Poor Board used one hundred and ten thousand dollars of the County money for relief. Our State appropriated through the Talbot Bill one hundred and eighty thousand dollars for relief. These with many other contributions make a total expenditure of approximately four hundred and fifty thousand dollars in the last ten months. In considering the question, these totals do not include the donations and credit given to the unemployed by the coal companies that aggregate a large sum every month.

"Authorities in our County have estimated a minimum amount of seventy-five thousand dollars per month will be necessary from the State for our County relief during the next eight months, in addition to all the help the citizens of Fayette County can give through their hard working Emergency Relief Committees.

"By the first of September, the climax will be reached and unless we have a return to employment which, of course, would greatly assist, it is evident that when the winter winds blow we will be face to face with the greatest economic problems our home people have ever experienced."

Very truly yours,
EARL S. AREFORD,
Chairman Unemployment Committee.

REPORT ON UNEMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS, FAYETTE COUNTY, PENNA.

By Fayette County Chapter, American Red Cross, Uniontown, Pa.

Unemployment Conditions

A conservative estimate shows that there are at present *16,000 persons unemployed and dependent or partially so, within the boundaries of Fayette County. Industry in many places is at a stand-still. In other localities some slight improvement of conditions has arisen only to return soon to the original inactive state. In some districts will be found colonies of people "squatting" in hovels formerly belonging to small independent mines long ago abandoned. In not a few such places human beings are barely existing with local agencies doing all possible to relieve the situation.

Eviction from homes have occurred and in one case a family after considerable effort got together a sufficient number of railroad ties with which they built a rude shelter to house a father, mother and four children. This family feels grateful for even this humble abode roofed as it is with oil cloth covered over boards, brush, etc.

The situation has now become acute in homes of the unemployed due to the fact that the funds of the County Poor Board are exhausted and Out-Door Relief orders have been discontinued. Approximately 6000 families were recipients of Out-Door Relief. The number of applicants for relief was recently increased on account of a discontinuance of relief orders to families living in mining towns and who formerly received relief from the company by whom they were employed.

Clothing Needs

A survey recently made by the Fayette County Chapter of the American Red Cross revealed that there are 24,000 children badly in need of school clothing. The parents of these same children are without means to purchase necessary clothing in 8,000 families. No local Agency is able financially to meet this need.

Red Cross Co-operation

The Home Service Section of the local Chapter of the American Red Cross receives continually a greater number of requests for assistance. Eight hundred sixty-seven families have come to Home Service workers for various types of service since the beginning of the year. Some of these families were given assistance supplementing an inadequate "dole" from some other Agency too greatly overburdened to supply actual necessities in these homes. Only through the co-operation of local organizations has it been possible for many to "keep body and soul together" in numerous homes. Time alone will reveal the disastrous physical results of the serious lack of proper food in these homes where little children suffer the pangs of hunger.

Public Health Nurses employed by the Chapter receive a steadily increasing number of calls for medicines and nursing care. During the past seven months 1612 visits have been made by Red Cross nurses in homes in which poverty reigns. Serious cases of undernourishment have been found. Not only children but adults are discovered to have lowered resistance and in many cases of illness families are totally unable to obtain medical care, although physicians throughout the County have been most generous of their time and service. Local resources will permit the Chapter to care only for the most emergent cases. Under present conditions very little correctional work can be done. It is difficult for the visiting nurse to instruct in places where mothers have no means or equipment with which to carry out instructions.

Due to local conditions it was necessary for the American National Red Cross to enter Fayette County for the purpose of supplementing work done by other agencies. During the winter and spring months the American National Red Cross sent representatives who assisted in organizing the unemployment relief agencies which hitherto had been attempting to meet the problems. During the early spring months 8,500 packages of garden seeds, valued approximately at $18,000 were distributed to families known to Chapter workers and to workers connected with district unemployment relief stations. This distribution was and still is closely supervised by officials of the Board of Directors of the Fayette County Chapter. At the same time $20,000 worth of groceries and supplies were issued from the same source. In addition Red Cross Chapters from Pennsylvania and other States came to the assistance of needy ones in Fayette County and 3,500 garments were given to men, women and children. There are at the present time 16,000 families in Fayette County receiving Government flour which is being distributed through Unemployment Relief Agencies and under supervision of the Chapter Chairman. Flour distribution has been made since the month of April. The amount distibuted is estimated to have a value of $50,000.

A Solution Must Be Found

Facing a winter are these desperate unemployed human beings. It remains for those in power to so act that the tragic situation may be relieved. Otherwise the results may indeed be tragic.

*18,000 persons (Heads of families).

JOINT COMMITTEE TO FORMULATE PROGRAM FOR UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

Mr. HENDERSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution:

In the House of Representatives, August 9, 1932.

Whereas, This Extraordinary Session of the Legislature, convened at great expense to the Commonwealth for the purpose of providing means to relieve the distress of those thousands of unfortunate people throughout the State who through lack of employment have become destitute and needy, has after six weeks of conscientious effort failed to agree upon the method of carrying out the purpose for which it was convened; and

Whereas, Five of the weeks that have passed since it was convened have been spent in attempting to adopt such methods of economy in the affairs of the State Government as would result in the saving of enough money to provide for the needs of those it was called here to aid and assist; and

Whereas, Local governments and relief organizations have reached the limit of their powers and resurces and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has denied the application of the Governor for Federal funds to assist in carrying on the relief of the State in caring for the helpless victims of the present economic depression whose distress and suffering daily becomes more apparent; and

Whereas, It has now become more apparent that this distress and suffering can be alleviated only by the State and that the duty is ours to find and provide the means; and

Whereas, It is possible that a smaller body composed of members of each branch of this Legislature could more easily and quickly determine upon some plan for affording the needed relief or find some acceptable source of revenue from which to furnish the funds necessary to properly care for these charges of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Finance Committee of the Senate and the Ways and Means Committee of the House are hereby constituted a joint Legislative Committee and are hereby charged to meet at once and determine upon some program to accomplish the purpose for which the session was called, to find a source of revenue most acceptable and least objectionable to the citizens of the Commonwealth, and to report its finding accompained by the necessary bills to be enacted into law at this session of the Legislature.

Mr. HENDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection? The Chair hears objection and consent is not follows:

The resolution lies over for printing.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILL CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 174.

An Act creating the State Emergency Relief Board consisting of the Governor the Lieutenant Governor the Auditor General State Treasurer and the Speaker of the House of Representatives prescribing its powers and duties empowering the Governor to disburse moneys received from the Federal government for the relief of the unemployed in accordance with plans adopted by the board and making an appropriation

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. MUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 246, Printer's No. 262, entitled:

An Act Imposing an emergency State income tax and providing for the distribution of the proceeds thereof to the Commonwealth for unemployment relief and to counties for general governmental expenditures was defeated on final passage on Monday night, August 8, be reconsidered.

Mr. CARMANY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Musser, vote on the final passage of the bill?

Mr. MUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I voted "no."

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Carmany, vote on the final passage of the bill?

Mr. CARMANY. Mr. Speaker, I voted "no."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Musser.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Musser, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from Cambria, if this bill is not the so called income tax bill which was overwhelmingly defeated last night?

Mr. MUSSER. Yes sir; it is.

Mr. RICHARDS. I will also ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he cares to assign the reasons for his motion for the reconsideration of the bill, that received such consideration as did this bill on third reading?

Mr. MUSSER. Yes sir; it is the same bill.

Mr. RICHARDS. Perhaps, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman did not understand my question. I asked you if you care to assign the reasons for the reconsideration, inasmuch as there has been nothing done in the way of amendment or revision of this bill.

Mr. MUSSER. No, there was not, Mr. Speaker. There were some members of the House, who approached me and said that they would vote differently if they had to do it over again, and for that reason I thought the bill should be recalled and give everybody a chance on the only bill that we have had up here thus far to take care of the unemployed.

Mr. RICHARDS. I thank you very much Mr. Musser.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that this motion should be voted down. We took up a great deal of time last night on this bill, something like two hours.

After considerable discussion the bill was defeated. It got I think about sixty-five affirmative votes. For my part I cannot see any reason for taking up the time of the House to again go into such a discussion, and I feel very certain that the result would be the same, and I ask you to vote the motion down.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the motion that you have before you is a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Black Income Tax Bill was defeated on last Monday evening. That motion is before you and it should receive your careful consideration and your fair treatment.

The members of this House will remember that efforts were made to amend that bill, so as to remove any question of opposition to it, and that on account of consent being asked and a single objection made, those amendments could not be made at that time.

We ask you in fairness to the people of Pennsylvania, in fairness to the people of Philadelphia, in fairness to everybody to make an honest and sincere effort to bring about unemployment relief, and that cannot be done without money. Money must come from somewhere. You have to have unemployment relief, you cannot get away from it, and you must raise money and this bill, if it is properly amended as proposed will, I think, meet with the aproval of this House, and I ask you members of the House in fairness to the public, in fairness to your consciences, in fairness to everbody, that this bill be reconsidered; let it be amended and voted on again.

My friend from Lawrence says that it took a great deal of time. I do not know anything that has been so cheap here as time. We have taken oceans of time, but we have not come down to hard tacks as yet. Now, let us come down to concrete results, say yes or no and be courageous about it. We have to have money, and I ask you members of the House to vote aye on this motion and then permit the bill to be amended.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, state how he proposes to amend this bill?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the proposal to amend this bill is centered on this thought, that the taxpayers of Pennsylvania be classified in two classes, one class of thirteen hundred dollars and over of income to be the taxpaying class, and the class of thirteen hundred dollars and under to be not an exempt class but a class not taxed.

The amendment has the authority of the case of the Commonwealth versus Girard Life Insurance Company reported in 305 Pennsylvania, page 558, a decision rendered by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on Junary 5, 1932. The decisions rules that the Legislature can classify persons for purposes of taxation and can classify property. This decision virtually overrules Copes Estate.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, what is that citation?

Mr. SOWERS. The citation, for the benefit of my friend from Philadelphia, is 305 Pennsylvania, page 558, and for his knowledge I will read some of the opinion.

Mr. WITKIN. I do not want it.

Mr. SOWERS. You don't want it? All right. Mr. Speaker, do I have to part with my Bible?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I call the attention of the House to the fact that this is not his Bible, because the name of "McElwee" is in it.

Mr. SOWERS. Don't you know that a religious man can lend another religious man his Bible?

Mr. TURNER. I am aware that a religious man may, but I don't think it applies to this situation.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman are requested to settle their own differences.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, what do the proposed amendments to this bill in estimate raise in taxes per annum, may I ask?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the proposed amendments raising the rate levy, one per cent to one and one-third, and reducing from two thousand to thirteen hundred is figured to raise from twelve to fifteen million dollars.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. And how long is it proposed that this income tax shall last, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the amendments to be offered to the bill reduce the life of the bill from three years to two years.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, what effort will be made to insure that this law will not languish in the State courts, say, till long after the next regular session and the United States court—well, until goodness knows when?

Mr. SOWERS. I can only say in answer to your question that the Talbot bill did not lay in the courts until goodness knows when.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, which court finally passed on the Talbot bill?

Mr. SOWERS. The court of Dauphin County passed on that bill first and held it to be constitutional. It was quickly followed with a decision from the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania affirming the lower court's decision, and all of our counties soon received aid from the bill. I know that Philadelphia did and it needed it.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, in the opinion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, would a test of the proposed law follow the same course?

Mr. SOWERS. In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, I think the test of this bill, if it is taken to court, and I doubt that it will be taken to court, can be directly in the supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, is there anything in this bill, which would lead the gentleman from Philadelphia to suppose that a Federal constitutional question would be raised?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I think not.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia further, is it his opinion that a taxpayer resident of another state than Pennsylvania, but deriving income from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—is it his opinion that such a taxpayer might not file his appeal in the Federal Courts?

Mr. SOWERS. That can be done by any such taxpayer, and then, such a decision in New York state would be followed in this state. New York state has an income tax law, and that income tax law taxes non-residents of New York state living in New York state, and I think Pennsylvania too ought to tax non-residents of Pennsylvania living in Pennsylvania.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Was the right of New York state to tax non-residents tested in the Federal Courts?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I think it was.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. How long did it take to arrive at a final determination?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I do not know, but I don't think New York ceased collecting the tax while that case went on.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether it is his opinion it would take more or less than a year to arrive at a final determination?

Mr. SOWERS. I am not familiar with that case, so I cannot tell you.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my idea in that interrogation was for the purpose of showing that in all probability this tax law, if enacted, will require so much time to come into operation that the likelihood of its serving as an emergency relief measure is very slight.

I believe that in the membership of the House there are enough lawyers to know that a test of the law in the State courts, beginning probably in the County of Dauphin and carried through the Supreme Court, and then if tested by a non-resident of Pennsylvania carried through to the United States Supreme Court would hold the operation of this law in abeyance for so long that it could not possibly operate as an emergency relief.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is speaking on the bill and not on the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands the motion to be a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed finally and in that case the merits of the bill are properly before the House for discussion.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, what I was going to say, to continue on, to save the time of the members of this House, in view of all these facts it comes back to the question of whether we are only fooling ourselves, if we undertake to substitute this sort of measure for a more quick acting and decisive revenue producing measure, and I therefore ask the members of the House to vote against reconsideration of this vote.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cambria regrets our spending time on what he calls an impossible measure, when we might be working on something of a more definite character to afford relief.

I know of nothing before the House that would replace this bill at this time.

So far as asking for a reconsideration of the vote is concerned, we are only asking that the bill be permitted to come back and be placed in form where it can be amended to meet the objections that there are to it.

It would seem to me that the House is invoking the existing rules to prevent the House from writing into this bill an amendment form the thing that may make it acceptable.

I believe that we are not warranted in adopting any obstructionist tactics, and I believe that the sponsor of this bill and all who are interested in it are entitled to have it given that consideration which may result in its becoming a revenue producing bill.

In a spirit of fairness, I believe we should reconsider the bill. We need not be contended with the time that it takes. There is no business before the House and the hour is early.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker, in defense of those remarks, following the interrogation of Mr. Sowers, may I say that I believe they were made to the merits of the bill and not particularly on the point of time, and I still urge that the reason for voting against it that it is not a quick emergency revenue producer remain valid.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to call the attention of the House to what most of you realize but possibly have not thought about with regard to this measure very seriously. If we vote down this motion to reconsider at this time the income tax is killed for this session, we will not be able to consider it again, if I understand the rules correctly.

There has been a great deal of opposition to every other measure that has been brought in to raise funds for unemployment relief. If we kill it definitely, we cannot consider it in the future, and we are simply tying our hands, so that we won't be able to do anything. As the gentleman from Clearfield has indicated, we are not necessarily voting for the bill when we vote to reconsider the vote by which it passed finally. You are only voting to put it on the calendar, and give it a chance to be amended and if within a few days or possibly weeks—as it looks as though we might be here for sometime yet—and we have tried other measures and found that we could not use them, and if the majority of the House decide they would like to try this measure, then we will have it before us and will be able to consider it, whereas if you vote it down you are tying your hands, and cannot do anything with it in the future. In partial answer to the gentleman from Cambria about the delay that will come from the passage of this bill, I am rather interested that that objection is raised to this particular measure but not to any other one that is before the House although most any tax meausure that could be introduced and passed could be taken to our state courts and to the Supreme Court. We found out in the consideration of the Talbot bill that it took a matter of three or four months. He raised the question that somebody out of the State, a non-resident, might go into the Federal court, but I respectfully submit that a decision on the question of non-resident taxpayers would not hold up the collection of the taxes from the resident taxpayers, and as the non-resident taxes would only be a very small proportion of the total amount of the taxes, we would get a very substantial part of the taxes while the question was being considered by the court. I, therefore, hope that we are not going to vote against this motion to reconsider, and thereby tie our hands from doing anything with an income tax later on in this session in case we find out, as now appears very probable, that we cannot get the money from any other source, that the members of this House are willing to adopt.

The governor has very definitely indicated that he is going to veto the measure which was brought in here last night, that is, if it passes this House and the Senate, so that we have at least left the door open to consider this method of getting the money. Let us not tie our hands, so that we cannot go any further. I know that there is a great deal of opposition to every other tax measure that is before us, and we are going to take each one up and defeat it, and make a motion to reconsider it and defeat it, we are very soon going to find ourselves in a position where we have passed a relief measure here in the House and have not appropriated any money for it, and the natural course will be that the same results will take place that happened this spring with regard to the first Talbot act, that they will abate the appropriations to the hospitals, welfare institutions and mothers' pensions and things of that sort. Certainly we do not want that to happen again, we want to prevent it at all costs. So, I urge you strongly to vote to reconsider it even if you cannot vote for it later on. At least let us have it before us so that we can have it to consider in case we find as a last resort we have to use it.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia say what he meant when he said that we should reconsider this bill in fairness to Philadelphia?

Mr. SOWERS. Will you repeat the question?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state what he meant by his remarks when he said that we should reconsider this bill out of fairness to Philadelphia?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I think my remarks were, "out of fairness to Philadelphia and out of fairness to Pennsylvania."

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker what does the gentleman from Philadelphia mean, "out of fairness to Philadelphia?"

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, what the gentleman means, "in fairness to Philadelphia" is this: Philadelphia for years and years has gone along and paid her taxes; Philadelphia for years and years has been prosperous, and Philadelphia for years and years has asked little of the State, and now, when Philadelphia is distressed, when she is in need and in trouble, she appeals to you, and every man in this House to come to her relief, and are you ready to do it? Up until now you have not shown any inclination that way.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia recall that this House has already passed three bills granting to Philadelphia four million three hundred and fifty thousand dollars from the State Treasury?

Mr. SOWERS. I did not quite hear your question.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia recall that during this session this House passed three bills granting to Philadelphia four millions three hundred and fifty thousand dollars from the State Treasury?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, where is the money to make the bills good?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the gentleman from Philadelphia, whether we have not done that out of fairness to Philadelphia.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the House has passed some bills for Philadelphia and the Senate still has them in Committee.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, then has not this House been fair to Philadelphia?

Mr. SOWERS. The House has not been fair to Philadelphia in that it only passes bills and raises no money.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, further, what plans he has to help Philadelphia do something for itself except by subsidies from the State Treasury?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, Philadelphia is endeavoring to do everything it can for its support in its distress. Philadelphia finds itself handicapped by the magnitude of the job before it, and it appeals to its fellow Pennsylvanians to have the goodness of heart to come to its aid and help.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia realize the fact that according to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, that by consolidating your city and county governments, you can save from fifteen to twenty million dollars in the operation of your city?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, to the question that has been put I will give my answer. I hope that that amendment does never pass, and I hope that the amendment never passes for this good and substantial reason, that if the city government and the county government are consolidated, whoever becomes the boss of Philadelphia will be the Duke of Philadelphia forever. I would rather spend money than surrender the liberties of Philadelphia.

Mr. CHESTER. H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House and Mr. Sowers, is it true that that bill would disrupt your Philadelphia Organization, and that is the reason you are against it?

Mr. SOWERS. To disrupt the Philadelphia Organization—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, while I am very much interested in the inquiries and the replies, still it is my impression that interrogatories or inquiries must relate to the subject under consideration, and not to Philadelphia politics, and I, therefore, think that both gentlemen are out of order.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, it is not Philadelphia politics. It is a case of the State finding out something about Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine himself to the merits of the bill.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask whether Philadelphia has done anything for itself in the revision of its financial structure so as to get money without getting it from the State Treasury?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I again press the same point of order. The question under discussion is a motion to reconsider a bill that was defeated in this House, and the inquiries must relate to that motion and that bill only.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled upon the question.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am sorry that the gentleman from Philadelphia is so sensitive, but he will hear more about it later.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on Saturday last there appeared in the metropolitan newspapers an article which represented an accusation made by Lewis G. Hines, who is in charge of the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor.

The article is entitled, (this is from one of the Philadelphia newspapers), "Pinchot Held Racketeer of Highway Jobs. Lewis G. Hines says men with political pull get places intended for needy. Federal employment director suggests probe, alleging control by leaders."

This is a very serious accusation made by the Federal employment director against the methods employed by the State Highway Department in the permission of the right to work on the highways by the unemployed of the State. If this statement made,—and it is a long statement,—by the Federal director were the only complaint or the only rumor in respect to this important matter it might go unnoticed, but about a year ago the Grange of the State of Pennsylvania brought the same type of accusation. We are fully aware that the Highway Department was used for political purposes during the past primary. For that reason I ask that the article containing the accusation made by the Federal employment director be incorporated in the Journal and I move you, Mr. Speaker, that Lewis G. Hines, Federal employment director, be requested by the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General to appear before the Committee on Judiciary General and state what these charges are and give such information to the committee on Judiciary General as he has in his possession, so that we may know on the part of this House, the charges that Mr. Hines makes are well founded or whether they are not.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege, together with the newspaper article referred to, will be spread upon the Journal.

PINCHOT HELD RACKETEER OF HIGHWAY JOBS

Lewis G. Hines Says Men With Political Pull Get Places Intended for Needy

Federal Employment Director Suggests Probe, Alleging Control by Leaders

The Pinchot administration has made a political racket out of the employment of men for State Highway work instead of using the many millions of dollars on hand for this purpose to give jobs to the needy unemployed.

This was charged yesterday by Lewis G. Hines, director in this State of the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor.

In a smashing attack on State administration of its highway funds, including $5,000,000 given in one year by the Government, Hines declared no co-operation has been given the Federal agency in placing unemployed persons in highway jobs.

He said that investigation has demonstrated that employment on the State highways is contingent upon political indorsement from the various Pinchot county political leaders.

Over 7000 needy war veterans are on the Government list in this State, he said, and he has been unable to place them with the State Department, although others less in need have been given preference for political reasons.

Hines said that he has made many efforts to see Samuel S. Lewis, State Secretary of Highways, and that Lewis has consistently ignored him, turning over subordinate 'deckhands' to hear his protests.

At a conference with the Governor, he said, Mr. Pinchot agreed that highway jobs should be given to those recommended by welfare agencies rather than those indorsed by politicians, but he asserted that the Governor has since made no attempt to change conditions.

Thorough Investigation Urged

A thorough investigation of the 'political aspects' of the State Highway Department was urged by Hines upon all those interested in the fair distribution of employment for relief purposes.

He said that he has reported to Washington the result of his own investigation and he recommended the cessation of highway building in Pennsylvania, under the present system of job-letting, and the diversion of some of the Department funds to direct relief.

"Several week ago at a conference called in Harrisburg attended by representatives of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor and various welfare agencies, in addressing the conference, I advocated that a portion of the funds of the Highway Department of Pennsylvania be diverted to relief of the unemployed throughout the State," said Hines.

"I have made a complete investigation of the methods of placing men at work on the State highway and, from the reports received, I am convinced that employment in the State highways is contingent upon political indorsement from the various Pinchot county political leaders.

Pinchot Accused of Breaking Word

"At the conference referred to, the Governor being present, I asked him if in his opinion the best results for giving unemployment relief were to be obtained by hiring men because of political preference rather than being selected by the various welfare agencies on the basis of providing work for the neediest cases, and he stated that it was his intention to issue an order that all persons hired for highway work would be selected on the recommendation of their local welfare agency. This has not been done.

"As State Director of the United States Employment Service, I am in receipt almost daily of letters from unemployed persons throughout the State requesting assistance in securing employment on road construction work. The Federal Government for the year 1931 appropriated $5,524,512; for 1932, $5,517,738 and for the year of 1933 the appropriation will be $4,640,667.40.

Secretary "Too Busy"

"Sometime ago I visited the office of the Secretary of the Department of Highways for the purpose of seeking co-operation from the Highway Department to the end that some of these applicants, including the veterans, might be given opportunities for employment, particularly in the remote sections of the State, where very few employment opportunities exist otherwise. I was informed that the Secretary was too busy writing a speech to see me, but was told by his chief engineer that if our department had any persons that we were interested in, we should advise those seeking employment that they should register with the welfare agencies in their vicinity, as in accordance with an order from the Governor's office all persons employed on highway work were selected from lists given by the welfare committees in the various counties.

Political Boss' O. K. Necessary

"I immediately proceeded to investigate this matter and have before me the reports of a number of persons from various sections of the State which prove conclusively that this method is not being followed, but rather employment with the Highway Department of Pennsylvania in most instances is contingent upon the endorsement of the Pinchot political boss of the county.

"From the anthracite region I receive a report stating that a contractor has received a contract to build 12 miles of Federal Aid Highway in Lake, Ross and Fairmont townships, Luzerne county. The person making the report proceeds to state that he got in touch with a member of the firm in Hazleton with a request to place some of the applicants registered with the United States Employment Service on the job. He was told to get in touch with the superintendent, and a call on this gentleman revealed the fact that he had been in touch with an official of the State Highway Department and had been instructed to recruit his labor from the recommendations of Judge Fine, of Wilkes-Barre.

"He then called up this same official of the State Highway, who informed me that Judge Fine was the last word and that his authority for this action came from the Highway Department in Harrisburg. Our representative proceeded to explain his interest in this matter, pointing out that he was desirous of placing a number of veterans listed with us on this work and again he was advised to get in touch with Judge Fine.

"To date (he states on July 14) I have made several attempts to see the Judge or his secretary, but have been granted no interview, and he concludes by stating my purpose in writing is to inform you regarding this situation. It is a contract let by the State on Federal Aid Roads and still the situation is controlled directly from the Governor's office in Harrisburg.

"In western Pennsylvania, I am in receipt of information to the effect that in Indiana county all recommendations for employment on road work are being handled by a representative of the Pinchot organization who was recently a candidate for office. Quoting from our representative's letter, he states: 'I have recently interviewed men from Westmoreland county looking for work. They reported that they had their applications in for road work since last November, but as they were not right politically, they had received no appointment. The situation from what I can learn here in Pittsburgh is one of political indorsement before employment can be secured.

"Governor Pinchot was carrying on an active campaign during the month of April to elect a United States Senator, delegates to the Republican National Convention, members of the Republican State Committee, and a member to Congress in the 15th district. It is generally conceded throughout the State where the political situation was tense that the Highway Department was used actively in garnering votes for the Pinchot ticket and that the bait held out jobs in the Highway Department.

"I firmly believe that a cessation of highway building at this time and a transfer of some of the funds from the Highway Department to unemployment relief throughout the State would affect a greater measure of the needier cases than is now the case, where only those who have political indorsement receive any consideration. As the matter stands today, employment on the State highways has become a political racket whereby preference is shown in many instances to persons without dependents and not in need of relief assistance, to the detriment of heads of families with many dependents in dire need of assistance.

"I quote from a letter typical of many received bearing out this contention, 'I am a poor man with six children. I have been working three days a week on the highway and have been laid off while lots of men are working that have no families and others have lots of money.'

"As stated previously, Governor Pinchot agreed with my contention in the presence of those assembled in Harrisburg at the conference already referred to that the best method of selecting persons for highway work was through recommendation from welfare agencies rather than through political indorsement, yet apparently he had made no effort to change the conditions that exist. It would seem about time that those interested in the equitable distribution of employment designed as relief measures should make a thorough investigation of the political aspects of the State Highway Department and develop a remedy for the unfair methods used in placing men."

VETERANS WRITE HINES OF HIGHWAY "RACKET"

Dozens of letters are being receiving daily by Lewis J. Hines, State director of United States Employment Service, with headquarters here, from unemployed persons in all parts of Pennsylvania complaining that political "pull" is needed to obtain jobs with the Highway Department.

Hines said that hundreds of these come from veterans of the World War, living in isolated regions of the State where jobs are even scarcer than usual, whose only chance of employment would be on road work.

He has all these letters on file, he said, confirming his charge that political preferment and not actual need governs the State's action in hiring men for highway construction."

CHAIRMAN OF JUDICIARY GENERAL COMMITTEE REQUESTED TO INVITE LEWIS G. HINES TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMITTEE

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that Mr. Hines be invited by the chairman of the Judiciary General Committee of the House to appear before that committee for the purpose of sustaining, if possible, the charges that he has made publicly against the Highway Department.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I think you will all agree that I have wasted very little of your time in idle talk. I have read with great interest a copy of the address made last night by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

I have no doubt that the allegations made by Mr. Turner are correct and true statements of fact. I believe them to be true. The people of this Commonwealth may begin to wonder if the say-so of the Attorney-General is the last word for us all. I want to remind the members of one of the committees of this House, and I think that Mr. Turner will bear me out in this, that I alone opposed asking the Attorney-General to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation proposed at the last Extraordinary Session while that legislation was pending in this House. I said then that such action on our part would react upon us in either one or the other of two ways—either we would be bound by what the Attorney-General said, or we would have to repudiate his advice, after we had asked for it, and put him to the trouble of giving it to us. I felt then, and I feel now that, while the legislation was pending in this House, the responsibility was ours and that we ought not to "pass the buck" to the Attorney-General. We cannot criticize the Attorney-General for assuming to advise this House. We asked him to do it. Neither do I ascribe to the Attorney-General any ulterior motives. I believe he has been and is entirely honest in his advice. This statement is made in the face of the fact that I have just had the unique experience of having one bill vetoed twice at the same session of the Legislature, no doubt on the advice of his honor, the Attorney-General. At the same time, I believe that I have the right to disagree with him, if my mental reactions prompt me to do so. I guessed right on the constitutionality of the first Talbot Act. But suppose that Mr. Turner's facts are all correct, and suppose further that the Attorney-General is all wrong on his law; what good is that going to do to a family in want?

If the fire department is out on parade and the engine refuses to function, and a big dispute arises between the fire-chief and the driver, you are very likely to let them emulate the Kilkenny Cats of sacred memory; but if your house is on fire and the ordinary fire-fighting equipment and personnal are all tied up in red tape, you are likely to seek some other methods of taking care of the emergency.

If we have to wait until the courts settle our misunderstandings, we will relieve no distress. I know that we cannot insure that any law will not be taken into the courts, but let us try some legislation for relief as to which no one has an expressed opinion to defend. The times demand action. There is an emergency. Let us act with that fact in mind. If people are going to starve and ask for bread, let us not give them a stone; if they ask of us fish, unless we cannot help it, let us not give them the scorpion.

I do not expect everybody to agree with me, and I do not expect to agree with everybody. I do think that we can meet this emergency.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I listened with a great deal of interest to what my friend from Fayette, Mr. McElwee, has said, with whom I have had such a pleasant association on the Committee of Judiciary General and other work in the House since the last session. I think, however, that I would be derelict in my duty, although I think I made it clear enough last night, if I did not reply to what he has said.

I prepared what I had to say very carefully, it was written out, and I think if it was read in the record, that is if the record is read, it will be understood. What I had to say there last night was not by way of criticism of the Attorney General, nor did it refer to the opinions of the Attorney General given to this Legislature during the last Special Session. The opinion to which I referred last night was the formal opinion No. 51A which was given by the Attorney General at the request of the fiscal officers. All I raised in that statement that I made last night was this, and the only question I raised was this: That the Attorney General having ruled in his formal opinion No. 51A that we must accept the estimates of the Secretary of Revenue as of June 1st, 1931, as estimates that were binding upon us for this biennium for appropriations purposes, that for appropriations purposes we had the right to use those figures, and that if the Attorney General should now change his opinion and decide that at this Special Session we did not have that right, that then of course the only opportunity that was open to us would be recourse to the courts, and that if we did go to the courts, I could see no other decision that the courts could make than that the Legislature had the right to so appropriate, because if they decided that the figures that were given by the Attorney General were right, which were the figures of the Secretary of Revenue, then they must hold that we had the right to appropriate. If the court decided that the Attorney General was wrong in his opinion 51-A then the only other recourse open to the Supreme Court would be to decide that the Legislature was the sole judge of the revenues and of the amount to be appropriated against those revenues for the biennium. So that whether we take it on the opinion of the Attorney General or on the opinion that has been held by many members of this House, and by lawyers outside of this House and by the terms of the Supreme Court decisions in the Talbot case, in which Mr. Justice Kephart said so very plainly that the Legislature was the sole judge of the revenues and the amount to be appropriated, either way the appropriations of the $12,000,000 under the Talbot Bill at this Special Session would have to stand.

I want to repeat that I was most careful in the preparation of my remarks last night to avoid anything that would be by way of criticism. I stated facts just as closely and just as cogently as it was possible for me, with my meager intelligence, to state them. I trust, therefore, that there will be no misunderstanding on that point.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread on the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McELWEE. Mr. Speaker, further on the question of personal privilege I would like to say that I thought I said very exquisitely that Mr. Turner's statements have been true, and that I believed them.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

The motion was agreed to, and at 10:17 o'clock P. M., the House adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1932. No. 24

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, August 10, 1932

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time). The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Thou righteous and just God, we obtain our ideals of goodness and justice from Thee. Since we know that Thou dost condemn unrighteousness and injustice, and dost approve of that which is pure and right, it is our desire to merit Thy favor by heeding Thy requests.

We pray for the people of our State and nation, that they may be God fearing; that they may be conscientious in their dealings with their fellowmen; and that they may be law-abiding as citizens.

We pray particularly for those in official positions, that they may regard their office as a trust from Thee, and their fellow citizens; and may they with fidelity serve both Thee and them.

In the hour of temptation may the good within us prevail. Thus shall Thy name receive eternal glory. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINGARTNER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

GOVERNOR INTRODUCED

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, your committee takes pleasure in presenting His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot, who will address the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair takes great pleasure in presenting to the Senate His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot.

ADDRESS OF HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I have asked your permisison to address you again because the principal question which I had the honor of submitting to you a week ago seems about to be forgotten—the question of a full and thoroughgoing investigation of the system by which the public utilities have controlled the Public Service Commission and established the rates and charges the Commission has allowed them to levy and collect.

On June 29th I laid before the Senate the Chapman charges. On July 11th I transmitted Ainey's reply. On the same day the Senate appointed a committee to investigate these charges in cooperation with the Attorney General. The Committee proceeded at once with its investigation. This prompt action on your part created a great body of favorable opinion throughout the Commonwealth.

On July 25th I laid before you additional evidence which left no doubt in the minds of the committee, of the Senate, and of the people of the State that Ainey was guilty as charged.

In the message in which this conclusive evidence of guilt was transmitted to your honorable body I said:

"The guilt of Chairman Ainey is of great consequence, but it sinks almost to insignificance in comparison with the question it raises whether the bribery in this case is part of a system through which the public utilities of this State have obtained favors to which they had no right."

On the same day I cited Ainey to appear and answer these charges on August 8th. So convincing were the fact disclosed that the members of the Senate, it was credibly reported, were prepared without a single exception to vote for Ainey's dismissal. Thereupon, on August 2nd, Ainey resigned. On the same day the committee reported Ainey's resignation to the Senate and was discharged. The effect of this action was to bring the investigation, so far as the Senate was concerned, to a full stop.

I have come before you to urge with all the vigor of which I am capable that the investigation should not and must not stop. In doing so I speak the substantially unanimous opinion of the people of Pennsylvania.

Rightly or wrongly, the belief has spread that the Ainey resignation was forced to prevent further exposures. It would constitute the severest indictment of the Senate of Pennsylvania if the Ainey resignation were allowed to prevent the fullest investigation not only of the utilities from which the bribes came, but of any other utilities which may have had similar relations with any Commissioner now in office, or who has been in office during the last ten years at least.

If I had been a member of the Public Service Commission at the time Ainey's bills were being paid, I would have no more pressing business than to demand that my relations to public utilities should be investigated completely and at once.

No one doubts or denies that in this matter more remains to be known. No one doubts or denies that it is to the public interest that it should be known.

Any concealment or attempt at concealment could have but one purpose—to protect the public utilities which have been securing unfair advantages over the people by corrupt means, to protect the unfair Commissioners through whom these advantages have been obtained, and, most important of all, to protect the evil system which uses bribery as a business method of making illegal profits.

My purpose, the purpose of every citizen loyal to Pennsylvania and its people, is not merely to rid the Public Service Commission of unworthy members. It is not merely to replace them with men capable of protecting the public interests and honestly devoted to that purpose. My purpose, first and foremost and above all else, is to destroy this evil system which has reached into every man's home and lowered its standard of living by extortionate overcharges, and which has cost our people, in the seventeen years since the Public Service Commission was established, many hundreds of millions of dollars.

Not only the extortion but also the arrogance of the public utilities in dealing with the people is well known and deeply resented. Many refused to believe that their shameless disregard of decency could go to the point of corrupting a body whose decisions are to the average family far more immediately important than those of the Supreme Court. They believe it now.

Nothing better illustrates the stranglehold which certain public utilities have secured in Pennsylvania than this:

Only within the last few weeks have cracks developed in the wall of silence which protected them throughout eight years of strong suspicion, an investigation by the Federal Trade Commission, a campaign for the Governorship revolving mainly on that issue, and investigations by both House and Senate last year.

Could there be a more convincing demonstration of the might of the public utilities and their power over the many individuals in public and private life who knew what was going on, yet held their peace?

This picture of a system so powerful, operating with such flawless perfection to promote extortion and conceal corruption, has given every citizen food for thought. It has also developed a State-wide demand for prompt and effective action.

The revelations in the Ainey case have aroused the State as nothing of the kind has done in years. Among the people the demand that the investigation shall not stop,—that the facts shall be known in full,—that the people shall learn the whole truth,—is unanimous.

Like the people, the newspapers of the entire State are unanimous also in demanding that the public utility investigation shall go on. The editorial columns of all of the five big Philadelphia dailies insist upon it.

The Bulletin says: "* * * The resignations of Chairman Ainey and Commissioner Collins should not be permitted to close and seal the chapter which has barely been opened. The people of the State ought to know the facts concerning the administration of this Commission. * * * They have a right to a thorough audit of the stewardship of officials to whom their interests have been entrusted, with results that have not be satisfactory."

The Inquirer says: "That the Commission, because of the dubious activities of some of its members in the past, has not enjoyed the complete confidence of the public can not be denied. Unless it can receive such confidence its usefulness is impaired. * * * The atmosphere should be cleared."

The Record says: "Ainey has quit under fire, but the high rates he helped to saddle upon the people of Pennsylvania remain. That is why the investigation must go on."

The Ledger says: "Vital as may be the necessity for an unsparing exposure of all the facts in any way involving corrupt relations between a member of the Public Service Commission and the utilities, it is of equal importance that the Governor's wholesale denunciation of these corporations and of this great industry shall be made the subject of searching inquiry."

The Evening Ledger says: "It is the duty of the Senate to make a thorough inquiry into the relations of the Public Service Commission with the utilities, and especially into Mr. Ainey's relations with them, even though he is no longer a member of the Commission."

Pittsburgh's three leading papers are in accord in urging the Senate to probe to the bottom.

The Press says: "The Ainey resignation must not be regarded as a conclusion to an epidsode which has shaken the State. The whole truth must be determined, and the people of Pennsylvania will expect the State Senate to stay on the job until it gets the whole truth * * * unless it wishes to appear as deliberately side-stepping the investigation which the public awaits."

The Post-Gazette says: "* * * the charges and their implications, that the utilities have been obtaining decisions from the Commission through improper influences, demand not only investigation of the accused individual, but a thorough probing of the Commission."

The Sun-Telegraph says: "* * * If brides were given, the public welfare demands that the bribe-givers be brought to book. From several standpoints an investigation appears imperative, and the Senate should see that one is made. * * *"

In Harrisburg the three dailies agree with Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. The Telegraph say: "* * * Nothing * * * should be allowed to come between the Senate and a thorough investigation of every phase of the charges laid before it by Mr. Pinchot."

The Evening News says: "* * * the issue is bigger than Mr. Ainey or any other one member of the Commission. * * * The resignation of Mr. Ainey instead of ending the matter merely starts it."

The Patriot speaks of "the broader question of the extent to which the utilities have a 'scissors grip' on the Commission," and adds, "to end the process (of investigation) at this stage of the game would be an even greater scandal."

The Reading Times says: "* * * The public has a right to know whether their electric light and power bills, their gas, their telephone, and their water bills are based on an honest examination of public utility returns, or whether the public is being mulcted through the purchase of crooked State officials."

The Lancaster Journal says: "* * * if the State Senate is really interested in the public welfare it will push on the investigation. * * * The investigation should be pushed to the limit."

The Canonsburg Notes says: "The remaining members of the commission are entitled to vindication if they are without blame and by the same token the taxpayers of the State are entitled to the full story.

"The Daily Notes hopes that a complete and thorough airing, renovating, and house-cleaning of the commission will be in order."

The Pottsville Republican says: "Now when the Ainey investigation threatens to involve some of the most prominent political figures of the State and corrupting corporations, are we to have this stopped also?

And again:

"* * * the Senate investigation of the system is not only important, but is imperative. * * *

"* * * The time is here to get at the bottom of this whole business and the bigger they come the more important the investigation."

The Washington Observer says: "* * * there should be a persistent demand from the people that the investigation go forward."

The Latrobe Bulletin says: "The Senate is faced with an inescapable duty. It cannot dodge the issue any longer. There must be a show-down."

The Williamsport Sun says: "The resignation of W. D. B. Ainey as a member of the Public Service Commission, of which he has long been chairman, should not be allowed to spell an end to the investigation of charges by Governor Pinchot."

The Bellefonte Democratic Watchman says: "* * * Public interest demands a continuance of the investigation until all uncertainties as to the commission's activities are cleared up."

The Altoona Tribune says: "* * * If Ainey accepted bribes, someone preferred bribes. The investigation should go on from that angle until the charges are proved fact or fiction."

The Ashland News says: "* * * And if he (Ainey) was guilty the public has a right to know how the public utilities get their favors through the mechanism of the State government."

The Punxsutawney Spirit says: "* * * The people of this State have a right to know the inside dope on the Public Service Commission."

The Newtown Enterprise says: "* * * The charges made are so serious that a full hearing is required if public confidence in the Commission is to be restored."

The Tamaqua Courier says: "* * * not until every one of the charges against Ainey has been scraped to the bottom, and other members on the Commission given a complete bill of health, should the present probe be discontinued; unless that is done and the Commission re-established in the confidence of the people, it might just as well be disbanded for all the good it will be."

The Scranton Times says: "* * * the Senate, we feel, should have * * * directed a sweeping investigation into the affairs and activities of the whole membership of the Commission. * * *

"* * * Action of the Senate in dropping the investigation of the Commission simply because Ainey has resigned, we repeat, showed indecent haste. If there are other members of the commission who, like Ainey, have been receiving untility favors, the people want to know it and should know it."

The Wilkes-Barre Record yesterday added its voice to the State-wide demand for a thorough investigation. "Back of it," says the Record, "is the gigantic force of public opinion, intolerant of factional schemes and political aims. * * * The Senate will be expected to back up the Governor in a way to convince the public that the Senate is intent upon rendering whole-hearted service to the people, whatever disagreements there have been with the Governor in the past." * * * "It can be done only by a probing as far back as the probe can reach, and it must be done in away to convince the public that there is no trickery or evasion. If it is not so done the public will use the power of the ballot in its own defense.

"If the demand is ignored or shunted off into a farcical proceeding the people back home will take it for granted that those who are in position to start the machinery running are more in league with the utilities and in cahoots with the Public Service Commission of the past than they are interested in he people's welfare. * * *"

The unanimous and unbroken demand of people and press cannot be lightly set aside. It is important not only because it is unanimous, but because it is justified. If any demand ever was the voice of the people, this is.

The duty and the opportunity to put an end once and for all to the corruption, the arrogance, and the extortion which have aroused the State is before you. I believe you would be well advised to take it and use it to the full. They way lies through a thoroughgoing investigation and publication of the facts.

And there is the strongest reason why the investigation should be made at once. There is no doubt that as soon as the payment of Ainey's hospital bill by Thompson became known certain public utility officials hastened to learn exactly what their books show about their relations to the Public Service Commission. To conceal or alter damaging entries in the books was their purpose.

Every moment lost in continuing the investigation provides additional opportunities for concealment. The corporations which bribed Ainey so that they might charge exorbitant and illegal prices know full well that the loose strands of information already uncovered are knotted around their own necks at the other end.

The present temper of the public minds is aggravated by the fact that almost the only prices that have not come down in this depression are public utility rates and charges.

They have not come down, although many utility corporations have reduced wages and laid off employes.

The fact is that public utility rates and charges are taxes—taxes that must be paid. The householder cannot live without paying them because he cannot live without using water, electricity, gas, transportation, or other utility services. He has no choice.

He cannot avoid the outrageous charges of one utility by going to another. There is no other. The State has seen to that by granting a monopoly to each utility in its field and territory.

He cannot refuse to pay. If he does, his gas or water, light or power, will be cut off.

He cannot even take his grievance directly to court. He must go instead to the Public Service Commission, in whose fairness he has lost all confidence.

Even when the depression reduced the amounts collected in other forms of taxation in some cases by half, the utility taxcharges kept to the same high level. In 1931, the utilities of Pennsylvania collected from our impoverished people more than they did at the peak of prosperity in 1929.

I have said many times that public utility rates and charges in this State are higher than they would be if we had no Public Service Commission at all—if the public utilities had no such cat's-paw to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. And today I think there are few who will deny it.

During almost ten years, including the time when Ainey's bills were being paid, the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission was the only commission of its kind in America which failed to start a single rate investigation on its own initiative. In numberless cases it has failed to act when it should have acted. What was the reason?

There is hardly a community in Pennsylvania which has not had cause to question the fairness of the Public Service Commission and therefore hardly a community which it not entiled to know the facts. The people have a right to know how much of what they pay goes as clear profit to the utilities, and how much passes to other hands as the price and the insurance of illegal profits. It is the clear duty of the Senate to see that they get that information.

No less important than a complete investigation of the relations between the Public Service Commission and our public utilities is the necessity for a full Commission of seven active members who will be recognized by the people as honest, capable, and devoted to the public interest.

When the Public Service Company Law was passed, the Legislature intended that commissioners should have terms of ten years. The purpose was to keep the members free from changing politicial influences. When appointed, the Legislature intended that they should be confirmed in their offices for a substantial period of years.

I solicit your fullest co-operation in meeting the needs of the present situation and carrying out the letter and spirit of the law.

To show that one or more members of the commission have been corrupt and to get rid of them will help the people little unless we set up at once a Commission as incorruptible as the old Commission was corruptible. Public contempt for the Commission must give way to public confidence in it.

The Senate has shown a clear sense of its responsibility both in the Collins and the Ainey cases. You accepted the resignations of both even before my acceptance was spread upon your journals. You have recognized that you are as fully responsible for the conduct of members of the Commission as I.

On July 3, 1931, I appointed Commissioner Woodruff and on November 6, 1931, Commissioner Gruenberg.

Both of these men are of the highest personal and public character. Both are incorruptible. Both are known to be fair. Both are preeminently qualified by experience, knowledge, and point of view to protect the rights both of the public and of the utilities—and both have proved it by their service on the Commission.

You have not acted on either nomination. No open reason of any sort has ever been alleged why either of them should not be confirmed. The only reason which has come to my ears is that the utilities do not want them. If that be so, it is the most forceful reason for their immediate confirmation. The question is not whether they are satisfactory to the utilities, but whether they are satisfactory to the people of Pennsylvania, to you, and to me.

Rightly or wrongly the persistent failure of the Senate to confirm appointees to the Public Service Commission is being generally interpreted as an attempt to await the election of a Governor more favorable to the public utilities and appointees more favorable also—in other words, to insure short terms for Commissioners favorable to the people and long terms for Commissioners favorable to the public utilities.

It will be said that I have put men in nomination who hold the same views on public utilities that I do. I have, and I make no apology for doing so. I believe that these views are sound and that put in effect they will secure even justice for public and utilities alike. More than all else, I am confident that they are the views the people of Pennsylvania want in their Public Service Commission.

There is and there can be no valid or avowable reason why these two men should not be confirmed. Both of them were appointed strictly on merit. Both of them were chosen wholly without regard to political considerations. I ask that the Senate confirm them without delay, and in this request I believe I have the support of people and press throughout the Commonwealth.

In addition to the places temporarily filled until you confirm, two vacancies now exist and another will exist on October first. To fill these three places it is a compelling duty, binding upon you and me alike, to find the strongest men who can possibly be found. These positions are second in importance to none in this Commonwealth. I invite your assistance in the performance of this high duty. I shall welcome any suggestions you may be willing to give me, and I shall ask you, when I have made nominations for these places, to act upon them with the utmost promptness.

The people can neither expect nor secure the best results from any members of the Commission whose status is in the balance.

In conclusion, I repeat my most convinced and earnest plea for a complete investigation of the system which has connected utilities with the commission, and for an immediate approval of my nominees. That approval should be made at once and that investigation should begin at once.

You have a direct interest in the conduct of every Commissioner because you have a direct responsibility. Moreover, you have the inherent power to investigate and the power to subpoena, which I have not. You can make an effective investigation. I cannot, except with your assistance and support. In the investigation which I urge you to undertake, I pledge you the full cooperation of the Attorney General and every other agency at my command.

The whole Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is in favor of such an investigation. I repeat that I speak the voice of press and people when I ask for it, and I say without fear of contradiction that no good public reason exists or can be given against it.

If the Senators of this Commonwealth represent the people, if it is their duty to carry out the will of the people, and if the facts are as we all know them to be, then there is and there can be no valid excuse for preventing or postponing the investigation.

In the name of the people of this Commonwealth I demand it—solemnly and insistently I demand it—and I leave it to the press and people of Pennsylvania to give their verdict as to whether I am right.

The PRESIDENT. The address of the Governor will be entered on the record.

RESOLUTION

ACCEPTANCE OF FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF COMMONWEALTH

Mr. TALBOT offered a resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, August 10, 1932.

Whereas, The Supreme Court has held that "under the Constitution, neither the Legislature, the officers or agents of the State, nor all combined, can create a debt or incur an obligation for or on behalf of the State, except to the amount and in the manner provided for in the fundamental law;"

Whereas, The Supreme Court further held that the purpose of such limitation was "to restrict legislative acts which incurred obligations or permitted engagements on the credit of the State beyond revenue in hand or anticipated through a biennium;" and

Whereas, The House of Representatives at this Special Session of the Legislature has enacted House Bill No. 158, appropriating $12,000,000 for unemployment relief; and

Whereas, A careful analysis of the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth convinces the Members of the House that sufficient moneys to pay the appropriation made by House Bill No. 158 will be available from the revenues accruing during the biennium and from other available cash assets, and that no abatement of charitable appropriations can result from such appropriation, as the following statement will show:

Estimates of revenue for fiscal year 1932-33			$76,512,474

Hoopes,	Simon,	Wilson, L. M.,	Goodnough, Speaker.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 226 (Senate Bill No. 74), entitled:

An Act to amend section nine of the act approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" as amended, providing that tax claims shall bear interest from the date of filing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that there is some misunderstanding as to the provisions of this bill. This bill is Senate Bill No. 74. It amends the tax act of 1923 pertaining to municipal liens.

The only change that this bill makes in the act of 1923 is to provide that after a tax becomes a lien that said tax shall bear interest at the legal rate of six per cent.

I thoroughly misunderstand the opposition that has apparently crept into this House. I am surprised that some of the gentlemen on the floor of this House, should see fit to oppose this type of legislation. I know that some of them who are opposing it have the intelligence and the ability to read this bill as it is written.

This bill is a most fair type of legislation; it simply penalizes the man who refuses to pay his taxes and permits them to lie as liens in the Prothonotary's Office of his county. Under the present law of the State of Pennsylvania he does not pay one cent of interest during the time he is using public money in his private business.

All that we are asking here is to make general a rate of interest on taxes after they have become liens in the different counties of the Comonwealth.

A number of men, all home owners, when the time arrives to pay their taxes find it necessary to go a bank and borrow the money to pay that tax. That taxpayer then pays six per cent interest to that bank for the use of the bank's money, with which to pay the tax. The man who prefers to use his money in his private business does not pay his tax. In the county of Allegheny taxes at the time they are filed as a lien, there is a ten per cent penalty attached. If a man does not pay that tax in five years, ten years, or twenty years he pays only that ten per cent penalty.

What we are asking here is the passage of a law to make a man who uses public funds in his private business and refuses to pay his tax pay six per cent for the use of that public money.

As I told you before, I think it is a fair, proper and equitable piece of legislation, and I am asking you members to vote for the pasage of this bill.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McClure.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCLURE. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask, does this bill not work a hardship upon the small home owner by compelling him to pay six per cent every year?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in my judgment this bill would not work a hardship on the small home owner. The small home owner in the State of Pennsylvania is the man who pays his taxes and gets the benefit of the deductions. The man who does not pay his taxes promptly is very likely to be a man who a plant or a great acreage of real estate who does not pay his taxes promtly, and regardless of how long he does not pay them he only has to pay the ten per cent penalty. I feel this bill is fair and if anything is favorable to the small home owner but that it will compel the man who has large holdings to pay his taxes.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask, is it not a fact that at the present time the small home owner is compelled to pay his taxes?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker, this bill does not compel anyone to pay his taxes necessarily. And the interest rate does not go on until after the tax has been liened. Under the law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania it is not necessary to lien the 1932 taxes until the thirty-first day of December, 1935. This law applies only to taxes after they have become liens and would not become a burden on the small home owner, to answer your original question.

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McClure.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCLURE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask, would not this bill have the tendency of precipitating the filing of liens?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker, this bill would not, in my judgment, precipitate the filing of liens for the reason that, and I speak of my own county particularly, in Allegheny county the tax collector receives a commission for the taxes collected as delinquent taxes. The minute he files his taxes as a lien in the prothonotary's office, he has waived his right to that commission. The answer to your question is, that any tax collector in order to get his commission must collect the tax and if he files it as a lien the tax is immediately taken from his possession and becomes a lien against the property in the prothonotary's office, and under the law, as you know, Mr. Hutton, the tax collector has three years in which to file a lien after the taxes become due and payable.

Mr. HUTTON. Mr. Speaker, is that not optional on the part of the tax collector?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker, it is optional on the part of the tax collector, but I see no reason, it is not good business judgment, to reason that the tax collector is going to file the tax as a lien before he gets his commission and thereby waive the commission that comes to him when he collects the tax.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING (SPECIAL ORDER)

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of the day, House Bill No. 254, Printer's No. 267, bill on second reading, on page 1 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 254, as follows:

An Act authorizing the transfer of money from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund for the payment of appropriations for unemployment relief and for the retransfer of such moneys from the General Fund to the Motor License Fund during the fiscal biennium beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three and making an appropriation necessary to effect such transfer

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer are hereby authorized and directed from time to time during the present fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three to transfer if and when needed from the Motor License Fund to the General Fund such sums not exceeding in the aggregate twelve million dollars ($12,000,000) as they may deem necessary for the payment of appropriations made at the special session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two for unemployment relief purposes and which are payable out of the General Fund.

Section 2 In order to reimburse the Motor License Fund an amount equal to that transferred under section one of this act shall be transferred from the General Fund to the Motor License Fund in twenty-four equal monthly instalments beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three Such transfers shall be made by the State Treasurer upon requisition and warrant of the Auditor General who shall furnish to the Governor the Secretary of Revenue and the Seceretary of Highways a copy of each requisition drawn for this purpose

Section 3 The moneys in the Motor License Fund and in the General Fund are hereby specifically appropriated for transfer as provided by this act but such appropriation from the General Fund shall not be deemed an appropriation chargeable against the revenues or estimated revenues of the fiscal biennium beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one but shall be chargable as an appropriation payable from the revenues for the fiscal biennium beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House on behalf of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg and myself, I desire to read the following statement:

House Bill No. 254 providing for the transfer from the Motor Fund to the General Fund of a sum not exceeding in the aggregate $12,000,000.00 to be used to furnish the relief necessary under the Talbot Act of 1932 passed by this House, was introduced by us only after it was clearly evident that relief money was not available as a result of the passage of the Steedle Economy Bill and there was no apparent possibility of raising the sum by the passage of any new tax measure. All in authority agreed that the economies effected would do no more than balance the budget and both the bill providing for an occupation tax and an income tax had been disposed of negatively by this House.

Since the introduction of House Bill No. 254 members of the House from the rural communities, overzealous as to the sanctity of highway funds are reversing their attitude and expressions have come to us of their willingness to father and support any reasonable tax proposal. Requests have come to us to withhold the vote on House Bill No. 254 until such time as the House has had further opportunity to act definitely on tax measures now in the Committee of Ways and Means. We therefore feel that in compliance with these expressions and requests of many members of the House who are reluctant to vote for House Bill No. 254 at this time that further opportunity ought to be given to the House to endeavor to raise the moneys through taxes and with this thought in mind we are willing to defer action upon this transfer bill until the question of raising the funds for the Talbot Relief Act through the means of taxation has been settled.

We are still of the opinion that the transfer of the moneys from the Motor Fund to the General Fund is the best means of raising the necessary moneys (the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding) but we defer to the wishes of the others and in the event of the moneys not being raised by taxation we shall immediately press this House Bill No. 254 for passage and shall expect the co-operation of the entire membership of this House.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

LEAVE REQUESTED FROM COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSIONS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, following the statement just made by my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, we find ourselves back again on the scratch line.

I have repeatedly said to this House that in my opinion the only solution to this problem is the finding of new money sufficient to meet the obligations of the Talbot $12,000,000 bill. I am still of that opinion.

I am of the opinion also, this Assembly can only fulfill its obligation to those who require relief on account of unemployment through a sure and certain program, and, as I view it, that sure and certain program must contemplate additional revenues.

For this purpose, Mr. Speaker, in order that the Ways and Means Committee may again this morning consider the advisibility of bringing to this House tax measures, which are now pending, I request the consent of the House that the Ways and Means Committee be permited at once to assemble in the House Caucus Room, there to consider House Bills Nos. 131, 249 and 250, which are the bills through which the nuisance taxes will be levied if enacted into law.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, is it the intention to call up the Conference Report on House Bill No. 129 in the absence of the Committee? If it is the intention to call up House Bill No. 129, Mr. Speaker, then I object.

The SPEAKER. The point is raised that if it is the intention to call up the Conference Report on House Bill No. 129, some members of the Ways and Means Committee might desire to be present at that time.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, if it is a part of the program of the House to immediately call up for consideration the Conference Report on House Bill No. 129, then the request which I just made for a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee immediately may be deferred until the other order of business is disposed of.

The SPEAKER. Under the statement of the gentleman from Philadelphia, the request for a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee is withdrawn.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 129

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 129.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I just wish to ask the gentleman from Allegheny how much of a reduction the conference report, together with the other companion bills that have been reduced by the Senate, will make in the Steedle bill and in the companion bills of—the House—the total reductions.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, the total reduction under the original Steedle bill was $22,217,832.90. The total reductions made by the Senate make a difference of about $9,000,000.

Mr. SPANGLER. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to preface my remarks with a poem of John J. Ingalls, which is known all over the world and which reads as follows:

Master of human destinies am I!
Fame, love and fortune on my footsteps wait.
Cities and fields I walk. I penetrate
Deserts and fields remote, and, passing by Hovel and mart and palace, soon or late
I knock unbidden once at every gate.
If sleeping, awake; if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save Death; but those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemned to failure, penury, or woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore—
I answer not and I return no more.

Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentleman of the House, we have reached the point of our opportunity. It is our destiny right now at this hour either to leave this House and leave with the a record of accomplishment or to leave this House with a record of unaccomplishment. I say, that two paths are now open to us and we must choose.

We have just heard Dr. Steedle say that the original bill in this House carried an appropriation of some twenty-two million dollars of reductions. The present bill carries about fourteen millions, or a reduction of some eight millions dollars.

The bill left our chamber a strong and vigorous measure and returns to us emaciated, enervated and unrecognizable and I say that it is our duty at this time to stand by our guns, to insist on what we stood for before, and to be unmindful of what the Senate might do or what the Governor might say.

To levy new taxes at his time for any purpose would be unwise. That the House has shown a definite determination not to levy any new taxes on the Commonwealth at this time, I think is unmistakable, and I am of the opinion that a levy of new taxes at this time would not only be disasterous and unwise, but a levy of taxes at this time is unnecessary.

The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce has aptly expressed the unwisdom of levying new taxes and they have gone on record with this resolution:

"We are opposed to new general taxes, and record our conviction that nothing would be so fatal to the Commonwealth in delaying business recovery as a new system of state excise or industrial taxes."

The position of the Philadephia Chamber of Commerce is the position taken by almost every man and woman in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania against the levy and collection of new taxes at this time.

The Secretary of Revenue, in his analysis before the Federal Reconstruction Finance Board, reiterated practically the same statement, and he detailed that the sources from which taxation might be drawn by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the present are practically closed or dried up.

Dr. Russell Conwell delivered a very celebrated lecture, called, "Acres of Diamonds." It depicted a person who wandered over the earth in a fruitless search for diamonds, only to discover the treasure he had vainly sought at his own door step. There is a moral in this story that applies aptly to our present problem. We have traveled far afield in search of revenue only to return empty handed. Why not seriously consider the source of revenue that is now at our front door, within the very household of our state government. The money is to be found here within the three branches of the State government, and economy is the open sesame to its securement. Those of us who have had experience with the Executive departments and bureaus realize how voraciously they absorb revenue and how reluctant they are to disgorge. However, necessity is a stern task master and necessity now compels rigid, exacting economy. Before it they and we alike must bow.

The Secretary of Revenue, in the Special Session of 1931, in answer to a question as to whether or not reductions in the several departments of the State might be made, declared that it was impossible for the State at that time to expect any reductions, and that was about the time we presented the resolution for a reduction in salaries. Later on, however, the Governor was informed that there was apt to be a deficit, and he succeeded, to his own satisfaction, in reducing the appropriations to the several departments in the sum of $5,300,000. Now I am informed that the Governor has practically acquiesced in the Senate amendments to our set of reduction bills to the extent of some seven or eight million dollars, so that we can see now that the Governor of this Commonwealth, if he has the will to do it, can find ways by which economies can be effected, and I am confident, members of this House, that if the Governor and if the Senate of Pennsylvania show a determined effort to make the accomplishment of the economies that have been proposed by the sub-committee of the House of Representatives, a reality it can be done and it should be done.

These reduction bills were under discussion in this House for three or four weeks. The sub-committee of the House of Representatives, one of the ablest sub-committees that I have ever known in my experience, labored night and day with the departments of the State government in making a most careful and most through examination into the resources and finances of the various departments of the government, and their finished work was represented by this very Steedle bill and the companion bills that were reported out by the committee and, in the face of a threat of a veto of the Governor of the Commonwealth, passed by this House overwhelmingly. Now let us stand by them.

I have the Legislative Journal of July 13th in which the debate on this bill took place. On that date Mr. Blumberg said:

"That sub-committee very thoroughly went into every phase of the financial situation. It did more than that, it presented to this House, in a series of resolutions, requests made upon the various departments of the State government to furnish us with the financial situation of their particular departments. Their replies are matters of record, and are in the legislative record, so that the information Mr. Rhodes says he wants can be obtained right from the Legislative Journal.

"Now, we have done more than that: In addition to receiving these replies to the resolution to this House, this committee sat and every department head of the State government appear before it without exception. Analysis were made of the various items furnished in those resolutions. In a large number of instances the cuts recommended in the report of the committee have been agreed to by the heads of the departments. With only two departments of the State government were we unable to arrive at any compromise, and then, as a result of study, the sub-committee recommended to the General Committee certain cuts. All of this considered last night by the whole of the Appropriations Committee, and it was agreed that these bills be referred to the House with a recommendation for passage today."

He further states:

"A thorough study has been made. There have been no improper allegations as to any favoritism, prejudice or desire to please. We have gone into this without fear or favor. We have reached the point where we believe the cuts should be made regardless of whom it hurts. We have started with the idea that we are here for unemployment relief. If we can only get it through cuts in apropriations made by the 1931 Legislature we have got to do it whether it means retrenchment to a degree where it hurts or retrenchment to a degree where we will still have some measure of luxury.

"Let us not delay. Let us get together and make an end of this dilly dallying. We have here a program as a result of three weeks study. Let us bring it back to the people where it belongs."

We find practically the same statements during the direct debate by our friend, Dr. Steedle, who for some reason has been temporarily taken advantage of by the Senate. He stated as follows to Mr Dunn, "I want to answer, nobody will lose a job excepting possibly a paltry few if the bill should pass, but it does make the Department head reduce the salaries so that the economic program recommended by this legislative body shall be accomplished, and that is destroying no vital part of the life of any individual and neither is he thrown out on this so-called unemployment band wagon of today. And we have a right to exercise this authority. Why, ladies and gentlemen of the House, in the case of one of the department heads that appeared before the committee, and after we had said that we would recommend and that we would insist on a certain reduction in his department, that department head came back and said to us, 'I have found you another hundred and seventy thousand dollars.' And we accepted that gladly, and that is the department that the Governor refers to in his oratorical criticism and says that we will spoil the educational program of the Commonwealth. That is untrue."

He goes on further and says:

"Now ladies and gentlemen, there is no use debating and talking and arguing; the pendulum of extravagance must be swung in the opposite direction.

"Permit me to give you a history of the appropriations beginning with the biennium of 1921-1923, thereby establishing in your own minds our intoxication with money and our readiness to give it away like drunken sailors without ever thinking that the day would come when possibly a hundred thousand dollars would be a big lump of money.

"The appropriation for the biennium 1921-1923 was $117,612,340.78.

"The appropriation for the biennium 1923-1925 was $114,926,458.61.

"The appropriation for the biennium 1925-1927 was $125,048,166.25.

"And here is where we began acting, as I said like drunken sailors, dealing out money to the world, whether it was the penny, the nickel, the dime of the dollar, we didn't care. The appropriations for the biennium 1927-1929 were $146,479,602.64.

"The appropriations for the biennium 1929-1931 were $190,663,339.07.

"In round figures, from 1921 to 1929, we raised our appropriations almost seventy-three million dollars, and now because we see fit to make a curtailment of twenty-two million dollars plus, we are crazy; we don't know anything. The Governor knows it all, and I resent that criticism, as I said before. He only has a human mind and because he is Governor of the Commonwealth doesn't mean that he can tell you or me or any other individual citizen of the Commonwealth that 'My least word shall be supreme, and if I tell you to do this you walk that chalk line, and if you deviate one iota, you are all wrong.'"

Mr. Blumberg also states during the argument:

"Why, gentlemen, the provisions of that bill as to the moratorium was discussed in detail with the Department of Public Instruction of this State. A meeting was held and we discussed that very fact and they agreed with this committee that this House might withhold this money. In that trust fund, gentlemen, there is about ninety-one million dollars invested in securities, and if this House in its wisdom and with the consent of the department withholds the payment of four million three hundred thousand dollars in order to distribute it for unemployment relief in order to conform to the Governor's call, then we are robbing a trust fund."

Members of the House, as soon as that bill, together with the companion bills went over to the Senate, for reason unknown to this House, where were drastic cuts made, as I say, to the extent of some eight million dollars, or nearly half was cut off those appropriations. What influences were brought to bear to bring the Senate in such a way of thinking, I don't know. Whether the Governor hypnotizes them or not, I don't know. But nevertheless, in spite of what was done by this House deliberately and energetically, carefully and thoroughly, their handy work was practically demolished. That would not be such a serious matter if we were not at the present time up against the very serious situation in which we find ourselves It is utterly impossible for us to effect these economies that are necessary for unemployment relief if we are unwilling at this time to support this bill and to stand by it.

We all know, as Dr. Steedle has said, that the State government during the so-called prosperous era engaged in extravagances that today would be unheard of. We followed the general easy course of spending money as it came in, without thinking how we were going to spend it or how we were going to get it. During the session of 1921 the State Government spent about one hundred and seventy million dollars. During the biennium for 1931 to 1932, it amounted to about three hundred and fifty million dollars. What is the cause of these enormous increases in the cost of government. The so-called prosperous era that I spoke of led to elaborate governmental activities; departments and bureaus were added and the functions of government were almost stretched into infinity; work that might be better and more economically preformed by private enterprise was assumed by the State; there was a steady increase in salaries in every department of the State government. The establishment of expensive pension systems paid in whole or in large part by the State and an enormous increase in the employes of the State to fill the swollen departments or bureaus or commissions; the abuse of lump sum appropriation system beginning in the Auditor General's Department and rapidly spreading to every executive department, bureau and board of the Commonwealth. Under this system the Legislature has no check on expenditures within the department with resultant waste and extravagance; the prodigal and reckless purchase and operation of motor cars and employment of unnecessary chauffeurs, the duplication and overlaping of work and in general the absence throughout of good housekeeping.

The Governor's denunciation of the efforts of this House to effect economies should in no way discourage us from proceeding to effect these economies that we now have within our reach.

The Governor a short time ago went to Washington and asked the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for funds. It seems to me that it is a bit of inconsistency to hold a tin cup in one hand and with the other recklessly spending for unnecessary governmental luxuries, frills and goo-gaas that could be and should be dispensed with and an unwillingness on the part of the State to effect governmental economies in real earnest.

The concrete question arises, what State resources shall we tap to meet our present obligations? I would say, first pass the economy bills in the substantial form they left the House; reduce all salaries in the three branches of Government; lapse all unnecessary appropriations in the several departments, boards, bureaus and commission; re-appropriate for the purpose of unemployment relief a substantial portion of the highway appropriation which amounted to $154,110,000 for the biennium.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, it seems to me that we are in a position where we have to act. We are in that position today. We have in the past lacked leadership to direct our efforts along a constructive path that would lead to the securement of the money that is needed for the Talbot act.

We have for a while attempted to depend on the Governor, we have attempted to depend on the Senate, and both have failed us. Now it is the duty of this House to depend upon itself. We have the opportunity now for leadership, right here and now. We have the resources within our own government, which have been exemplified by my friend Mr. Patterson and by my friend Mr. Turner and by others in this House. They have shown you the pattern, they have furnished you the opportunity for securing the building materials with which to build this structure. It is now up to us to say whether or not we are willing to assume the reponsibiliy of leadership in a return to economy, a leadership in taping the resources of this State, which are ample to meet all of the reasonable needs of the State, or whether at this late date after a struggling here for seven weeks, we are going to confess that we are failures. I do not believe it. I believe that this House has the firmness, has the courage, has the enterprise and the leadership to meet this problem, and that it will meet it.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the second time that we have met in Extraordinary Session to consider the question of unemployment relief. It ought to be evident to every member of this House by this time that if this problem is to be solved it must be solved without the assistance of the Governor of this State.

Let me call your attention to the proclamation issued by him in calling the Legislature together last year, which resulted in the passage of the Talbot Act. At that time we found ourselves ham strung by the narrowness of the call. Nowhere in that call did he indicate any method by which immediate relief might be given, except that predicated upon bond issues, which of course required the ratification of two separate sessions of the Legislature and then the approval of the people. In the call for the present Extraordinary Session we find ourselves in a somewhat similar position, because of the narrowness of the call, notwithstanding the experience that we had in November and December of last year. So, I say again that if the House solves this question it must solve it without the assistance of the Governor of this Commonwealth.

In the present call for this session of the Legislature, which we have in 14 paragraphs, called "14 points"—nowhere in that call is there any practical suggestion for immediate relief excepting again perhaps bond issues, and excepting possibly in the first and second paragraphs.

I listened attentively a few moments ago to the statement by the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in which he indicated that we must again consider tax measures if this problem is to be solved.

I do not agree with him entirely, and I am not going to say now that it might not be possible that the Ways and Means Committee will again have to consider the question of the several taxation measures which are before it, and if they should, it seems to me the only possible solution is that indicated by the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Rhodes, by which savings can be made in the collection of taxes.

The first paragraph of this call reads something like this: "By reductions in appropriations previously made and by amendments or other modifications of existing tax laws," and in the second paragraph: "If appropriations previously made can be reduced in an amount exceeding the aggregate of five million dollars and the amount by which the Talbot Act abatements are restored, to appropriate for unemployment relief the excess of such reductions."

In his message to the General Assembly, the day when we convened in this session, I quote the Governor as follows:

"Many companies which heretofore have been prompt in paying the taxes due the State in order to avoid the penalties for delay are now forced to pay twelve per cent. interest per year on their taxes because of their inability to borrow money at a lower rate. This is true of inheritance taxes as well as of corporation taxes. Hence the proportion of taxpayers compelled to pay the twelve per cent. interest rate grows in alarming fashion."

If that be true, and we know that it is, it seems to me that the imposition of additional taxes to solve the question of unemployment relief is out of the question. What else is there left for us to do? The way was pointed out to us by the Appropriation Committee, and as was so well said by the gentleman from York. They worked faithfully. Heads of departments were called before them, in order that at first hand the sub-committee might have information as to what reductions, if any, could be made in the management of their departments. They were very free in giving the exact condition of their departments to that sub-committee until they were interferred with. The unfortunate thing about it is that the sub-committee did not have present a stenographer, so that the statements of these gentlemen or the heads of these departments of the Commonwealth might have been taken down. I do know this, later when it developed that it was possible to save Governmental costs, that at the instance of the Governor they were interferred with and in some instances, were told not to appear before the members of the sub-committee. As soon as the committee began its work, went into it as carefully as it could in the short time allotted to it, it found that His Excellency was setting up a smoke screen all over the Commonwealth. Trustees of institutions, managers of State institutions, were implored by the Governor and by the Department of Welfare to at once go after their representatives in their respective districts to stop what to me was a mandate of the people.

Our people were demanding cuts in Governmental costs; we were answering a popular cry; we were doing the right thing until it was interferred with by the Governor of the Commonwealth.

I say to you, members of the House, that I do not think that we have gone as far as we can go, and that we ought not to consider additional taxation until this matter has again been returned to the Conference Committee and further cuts made that can be made, and for that reason I ask you to vote "no" on this Conference Report, so that it can again be returned and threshed out and so that at least five million of dollars of additional savings can be made.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, will.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler, of the opinion that the Governor will sign the bill with the Senate Amendments?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what the Governor will do, but I think we can agree, irrespective of what the Governor may do, our duty here today is clear, that this bill is the keystone of the economic structure of this House and of this Legislature, and that if this Conference Report should be adopted our whole economic structure virtually falls, and that is the reason why I tried to emphasize the importance of non-concurring in the Conference Report.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman of the opinion, that the Governor will not sign the bill in its original form?

Mr. SPANGLER. I say this, Mr. Dunn, that if the Governor vetoes the bill, I for one, shall be willing to remain here a sufficient time to vote to have this bill passed over his vetoe and I think that is what this House should do.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is my opinion that the Governor will sign the bill with the amendments which were made, but that he will not sign the bill in its original form. If it comes back to the House and my good friend Mr. Spangler said he would be willing to come back and vote to override his vetoe, I am doubtful whether we would be able to obtain sufficient votes to do it. Supposing we did not do it, then what would happen? The bill would be lost.

It is my opinion that it is better to get thirteen million dollars, than nothing at all. If we should try to override the vetoe of the Governor and did not succeed then we would not have anything. Thirteen million dollars is a gigantic sum right now for the unemployed. Therefore, I say that it would be better to accept what the Governor and the Senate has decided to give and not to try to do anything to the contrary. It is a fact as you have often heard said, that there are two schools of thought, and I do not doubt for a minute that Mr. Spangler or any other member here believes that that economy program could be passed. I do know that they are sincere and conscientious, but I also maintain that the Governor is just as conscientious and sincere. We haven't any right to say that he is wrong. He may be right and we may be wrong. I maintain that it is wisdom on our part to accept thirteen million dollars, rather than nothing at all.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say, in further answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Dunn, that at the last session when the Congressional Apportionment Bill, which had been agreed upon by the Committees of the House and Senate, was submitted to the Governor he practically told us that if we did not accept amendments to that bill he would vetoe it; not in so many words, but he intimated to us that if the Congressional Apportionment Bill were not changed, he would vetoe it and the responsibility would rest upon us. We did not accede to the Governor's demands, and fifteen minutes after that, the Governor sent word that he was ready to sign the bill and he did sign it.

Mr. DUNN. How can you guarantee that he is going to sign this bill?

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my remarkes this morning may wander far afield from the subject that is before us, but I think in fairness to the one hundred forty-four members that voted for the original economy bill an explanation and a history or review of the case is needed. Further, in view of the fact that this body on Monday night of last week refused to concur in the amendments of the Senate, and the Speaker paid me the honor of being one member of the conference committee representing this body, an explanation is due to the entire membership of this House.

Prior to the convening of this Extraordinary Session a large number of the members of this body assembled for six weeks discussing ways and means that might be provided for relief without the addition of taxation. May I say to the members of this House that I think the greatest compliment was paid to us by Ex-Chief Justice Von Moschzisker before the State Bar Association when he said, "A new order is opening in Pennsylvania when the members of a legislative body are willing to spend of their time and of their money to bring peace and prosperity to the State out of the chaotic condition that exists now." So, in a conference in the Governor's office, which was called, it was agreed that we were willing to go along with an Extra Session if be included two points in his program. First, the enabling legislation necessary for the municipalities that they might provide relief for their own citizens, and, secondly, that we might open the question of economy in government. We said further that we would consider any legislation that the Governor cared to include in his call, but to bind ourselves neither one way or the other as to our future action. So three weeks after the session had convened an conomy bill known as House Bill No. 129, or better known as the Steedle economy program, was presented. We all must realize that a starting point was necessary, and in consequence a definite setup was made of reductions in the cost of government to the amount of $27,000,000.

The sub-committee of the Committee on Appropriations worked hard—and they were glad to contribute their services to the Commonwealth and to the membership of this body—and made a conscientious effort and called the heads of departments before them—and may I say here and now, that I agree with the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Heffran, that it was rather unfortunate that we did not have a stenographer to put in writing the conversation that we had, but at that time we did not believe it was necessary. So, when this bill came to a final vote I think the members of this House are to be congratulated because they arose above selfishness and displayed real statesmanship, that kind of statemanship that is needed if we are to bring back to normalcy the times that most of us have enjoyed. That bill passed this House, not unanimously because no man or woman can be denied their privilege to vote on any question as they saw fit, but it was decided by a large vote.

When this bill went to the Senate, there was an understanding on the part of the sub-committee that we would agree to two changes. These changes provided first; that the Department of Agriculture—and may I say to the members of this House that the group representing the farmers came before that sub-committee and showed us that we had made a mistake in the reduction we had made in animal indemnities and for the testing of cattle for tuberculosis, and they agreed with us that a sum, in round figures, of about a half million dollars, should be added on the Senate side. That agreement, I believe I am correct in saying, satisfied the farm group of this House. The second agreement we made was insofar as the Pymatuning Dam appropriation was concerned. We left originally an amount of money necessary for the clearance of land, which was taking care of unemployment in that vicinity. We eliminated an item of $400,000 which was to build a road, and our reasons for the agreement were that if we did not reinstate this amount of money the land would have to be cleared again and the cost of the road and bridge would be so terrific that this sub-committee felt that it was economical to put that back into the bill.

So members of the House, when this bill left us carrying an appropriation of $22,275,000, we had agreed in round figures to reinstate about a million dollars.

At a meeting of this sub-committee of the Committee on Appropriations of the House, and the sub-committee of the Senate on Appropriations, we practically agreed to an economi program of $18,800,000. That I say; and I am firm in my belief that this agreement was made. Now, we read in the newspapers that a conference was had with the Governor and you all will recall that prior to that time he had made a limit of reduction in the governmental expenses of the amount of $5,300,000.

When the conference committee met on Tuesday last, we found that this economy program had been cut from $18,000,000 to about $13,700,000, with a further request from the Governor that we reinstate about $400,000 more. This was done. I felt that with the stand I had taken for economy, because it seemed to be the most popular issue before the people of the Commonwealth today, that I could not at that moment reverse myself, and, in consequence, even though I was sorry to disagree with my colleagues, I did not sign that conference committee report.

I feel that I do not represent the Governor of this Commonwealth, but rather do I first represent the people of Delaware County that voted to elect me, and secondly, I represent all of the people of the Commonwelath. I care not whether the Governor said he would veto the bill or not. I am a duly elected member of this House and entitled to an attempt to carry out the will of my people. I am firmly of the belief that admitting the reinstatement of the two millions of dollars so far as it concerns the teachers' moratorium or the teachers retirement act, that we could have safely and sanely saved $17,000,000, and I believe that had we done that and appropriated the savings and so forth to the abatement of unemployment, the distressed and the hungry would have been taken care of, that we would have been out of here two weeks ago and that the money now would be providing shelter, food and clothing for those that are in that unfortunate position.

I am disappointed because we face this problem in the very near future, we realize that this administration had a surplus from the former administration of some thirty-seven million dollars and which means that the 1933 session is confronted with either rigid economy in the case of the State government or the other alternative of raising taxes to carry on the government, and I fear for the future. If we had gone as far as we had agreed to and believed we could do the way would have been opened to make it easier for those that sit here in 1933 to make further economies. I am only going to point out possibly two or three amounts that are changed in order to show how easily this fund might have been kept to about seventeen millions dollars.

In the Department of Agriculture about which I spoke first this agreement was made in the House by those who are intellgently representing the farmers and there was reinstated in the conference committee the sum of $176,000. In the maintenance of penal, correctional, and mental institutions there was reinstated the sum of $700,000. Even taking into account, members of the House, that the cost of the operation in the way of maintenance has been reduced at least from twenty to twenty-seven per cent, in other words, it is more neseccary, as we see the bill today, to liberally take care of the unfortunate in our institutions rather than to feed the hungry that are on the outside. And then we came to the assistance that we gave to the educational institutions, and this House had taken about a ten per cent reduction on each of the institutions. Believing, as we have shown in the past, that we are for higher education, yet we believed that the time had arrived when they should share their part in this great burden of the distressed. This amount of money was again reinstated by the Senate Appropriation Committee. It rather puts, as I view it, the members of this House in a very bad light. There was not a member when this bill passed this House, that was not affected in some manner in his district and as I have said previously, the members of the House rose above thier selfish thoughts and insofar as the rural counties were concerned were perfectly willing to take their medicine and answer to their people because of this great cause for which we are laboring at the present time.

I ask you, members of the House, where has the Executive or where have the heads of the other departments attempted to make any economies? There has been an attempt to scare us, first in the fact that if these reductions went through that people would be thrown out of our sanitariums, people would be thrown out of our penal institutions; and that is that sort of propaganda that they have worked with this House.

I am firmly of the conviction, members of the House, that were the Governor sincere in his desire for rigid economies he would start and take an average percentage reduction which would not hurt any employe of the Commonwealth.

Members of the House, it is your will to decide whether we will take this small economy program and call it a case and go home, or whether we shall rise above that and prepare the way for this great economy that must be provided in 1933 or have the raising of additional taxes for carrying on the government. I leave that for you to decide.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to impose on your time only a few minutes.

As a member of the sub-committee that presented this economy program to the House, as Mr. Spangler has reminded you today, I urged the passage of that bill with economies approximating twenty-three million dollars.

Now, this bill is back to us with the economies reduced to thirteen million dollars, and it is much like the case of the father not recognizing his own child, but up until this morning I was of the belief that with the present economies in the conference report we had at last balanced our budget but I find the following in this morning's newspaper:

"The latest contribution to the much-muddled financial situation was made late today by Edward B. Logan, budget secretary.

"Dr. Logan announced the $13,000,000 economy program will fail by $2,501,481 to balance the biennial budget. He submitted to Senator Baldwin and Scott and Representatives Sterling and Goodnough current fiscal data to support his claim. The statement came at a time when practically all legislators were convinced they had at least balanced the budget by Special Session action.

"Dr. Logan placed current appropriation liabilities at $201,514,181 against which he said the State has a cash balance of $40,070,690 and estimated general fund revenues of $150,040,812. This deficit of $2,402,678, he continued, would be increased by $363,803 for expenses of the session and $35,000 for legislative printing. The conclusion, he said, is that 'the total amount to date by which the budget is not balanced is $2,801,481.' "

We are, therefore, in this position, Mr. Speaker and members of the House that if this conference report is adopted by this House, the budget is unbalanced; that the institutions of the State to which appropriations have been made will be compelled to suffer abatements in proportionate ratio to those suffered last year as a result of the Talbot act of 1931. I, for one, am not satisfied to see any abatements in the appropriations. I am unconvinced that this legislature has done its full measure of duty toward effecting economies in State government. I believe firmly as a result of the studies made by the sub-committee that this House can safely effect economies of approximately eighteen million dollars. I am not in favor of this conference report for two reasons:

First, that we have failed to effect the economies necessary, and possible.

Second, that if this conference report is adopted, there will be further abatements.

Any action of this House in failing to approve this conference report will merely send this bill back to that conference committee, with notice by our action that they must revise their figures upwards, that they must effect the economies demanded by the times as the emergency requires, that we will not leave here regardless of how long it takes, until this House despite any threat of vetoe, or despite the time involved, feels that it has done all possible to effect the economies necessary and for that reason, I urge this House to defeat this Conference Report.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, inasmuch as my Senator—I call him my Senator, because he is from Cornwall— Senator Freeman, was a member of this Conference Committee, I desire to express my views on this situation. I did not like to hear the expression used by Dr. Steedle that these members of the Conference Committee of the Senate were hypnotized by Governor Pinchot, because we all know he is not a hypnotist.

I know that Senator Baldwin, Scott and Freeman put a great deal of time in on this Conference and on the figures that have been submitted to us. Of course, it is very likely that they may have made some mistakes. Understand, I am going to vote to non-concur in this report, but, as I view the situation, I think we are about in the situation of the northern Congressman, who at the outbreak of the Civil War, was invited to witness the first battle of Manassas. Practically every congressman in the House accepted the invitation, and they thought they were about to witness a picnic. This congressman happened to be encumbered with an ulster overcoat and when the lines broke at that battle, he happened to encounter a ten foot stream. Now, he may have been a ham in many respects, but certainly he was not like our friend Ham from Pine Bluffs, who was the world's champion broad jumper. He lost his balance and fell in the stream and two soldiers fell on top of him and he thought that they were Confederate soldiers, when as a matter of fact they were Union soldiers—possibly he was handicapped with his ulster, and while the thing excited him, he smiled and said, "My God, can't this thing be compromised?" Now, I do not like to hear such terms applied to our Senators in the conference committee. They are allies, they are not Confederates, they are not enemies, and I know that they will do all they can, if this report is referred back to them. They will do all they can do. There is an old saying here in Pennsylvania that you can't drive a nail with a sponge no matter how hard you soak it.

I do want to say that I believe we should make every effort to get together again on this compromise proposition, and I, for one, am going to vote "no" on this matter of concurrence, explaining my views on the record.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I regret very much my present physical disability,

In principle I agree with my colleague from Delaware and the gentleman from York and all of the other men that have spoken relative to this so-called economy bill. I think that this bill, ladies and gentlemen, in my opinion, was conceived in equity and was born a large man, but the Senate, in the ordinary language of the street, have certainly put the chisel on it. The efforts put forth by the members of the sub-committee, again I emphasize, was with all the energy that they possibly possessed in order that the membership of the sub-committee might arrive at some definite manner of economy. We had hoped that when the bill would pass the House, that it would immediately go to the Senate, and that probably some information might be desired on their part and that minor amendments would be made and that the amendments would be concurred in by the House.

It is apparent that the longer we stay here the more intoxicated and baffled we become with figures. We only learned today through the public press that now Mr. Logan, the Budget Secretary, comes forward with the fact and informs us that the economy bill as now provided for will in no way take care of the balancing of the budget. I wonder if we would stay here for four or five or six more weeks, if it would be possible to at least get enough of money to balance that budget. I don't know where they get these figures but they certainly give you plenty of them. Every day they have a new story so that I don't know where we should begin and where we should stop.

Ladies and gentlemen, as sincere as I have been in my work with this economy bill, and my sincerity is not of a meagre type, I am mindful of the fact that the destiny of this bill still rests within the gift of the man who wields the pen. I am mindful of the poor widow who is the recipient of the so-called aid from the Mother's Assistance Fund, I am mindful of the State-aided hospitals of the State of Pennsylvania and of the State-aided educational institutions. If we restore only what has been taken out by the Senate and the conference committee, I am doubtful whether we can pass the bill over the Governor's veto and we are then in a position just the same as if the Extraordinary Session had never been called.

Let us analyze the situation from a financial standpoint. In the original bill in which the House cut was about twenty-two million dollars plus, and if we just take the normal figures that were restored and put back in there after they were taken out, I qoute the $400,000 for the Pymatuning Dam, the $350,000 for the Animal Industry indemnity fund, the $2,000,000 of the fund of the Teachers' Annuity No. 2, and $500,000 from the other teachers' fund and Agriculture, about $250,000, if we deduct that from the $22,000,000 plus, we will only have $18,000,000 plus. So there is only available to be reconsidered anyway about $5,000,000.

I agree in main that we might be right in refusing to accept this Conference Report, but I again repeat that this is one place where the pen is mightier than the sword.

As much as I would like to have this restored back, all that might be possible to restore, yet I am mindful that serious results may come out of the matter if a veto is in order. The meagre saving of thirteen millions of dollars possibly to you men is just a plain thirteen million dollars, but let us see just what that thirteen million dollars means. That thirteen million dollars plus means that for eleven months we shall save thirteen million dollars plus, or the monthly average of $1,252,939.02. If that goes over a period of twenty-four months, for the biennium, that would mean $30,070,536.48, and I say now that if in the next session of 1933 these accomplishments can be put forth and that thirty million dollars can be saved in the biennium of 1933 to 1935, then that is a real man's job.

Ladies and gentlemen, before you answer the roll call on this motion, either in the affirmative or in the negative, I ask you to weigh in the mind of your own judgment what will befall our institutions.

Mr. Spangler said that he would be glad to come back here to vote to override a veto. I want to confirm that statement of the gentleman from York and I shall likewise be glad to do so, but I am fearful and I gravely doubt whether we shall succeed in holding the necessary number of votes to override a veto. So, ladies and gentlemen, again I repeat, before you vote negatively or affirmatively, weigh well in your own minds whether it is well to sacrifice for the people of Pennsylvania what you have in hand simply as a matter of reprisal against the Governor of the State, for whom I hold no brief? Remember that it is time for us to act sanely and to not be moved by personal influence. Whatever you do, let it rest with you.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the Conference Committee that acted on this measure, I want to say for the benefit of the members of the House, that that Conference Committee did the very best they could to inaugurate every reasonable economy and produce a report that would mean the maximum savings in appropriations for the balance of this biennium. The result of our deliberations is now before the House for its action.

We were informed, and I still believe it to be the case, that by the passage of this report all of these abated appropriations as created by the recent Talbot Bill would be restored, and that, in addition to those savings, it would balance the budget, according to our best information.

The Governor has given his promise that there will be no further abatements if this report is adopted. Now, then, when we consider that we are saving practically fourteen million dollars out of approximately the ten months' operations which remain in the present biennium, I feel that it is a real, worthwhile achievement.

I believe that the members would be justified in voting for the adoption of the report and that they then could go back home with the confidence that they have done all they could in the way of economy for the comparatively short time that remains out of the present biennium.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. Steedle.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, as the bill left this House, did it not provide a sum of approximately sixty thousand dollars for the operation of the Aeronautics Department during the rest of the year?

Mr. STEEDLE. May I ask what department that comes under?

Mr. TURNER. Aeronautics on your first page.

Mr. STEEDLE. For the information of the gentleman from Delaware, the appropriation approved in 1931 at the Regular Session was $250,000. The appropriation passed by the House of Representatives in 1931, at the Special Session, allowed one hundred thousand dollars, or a cut of $90,000.

Mr. TURNER. Then your investigation left about sixty thousand dollars for the operation of the department during this year?

Mr. STEEDLE. That is right.

Mr. TURNER. And now, as the bill has been returned from the Senate, has not the appropriation for the Department of Aeronautics been placed at a figure that wipes out the operation of that department?

Mr. STEEDLE. That is true.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe that I would be derelict in my duty if I did not call to your attention one crime which, I believe, has been made in the reductions in appropriations as made by the Senate.

You all know my interest in the Department of Aeronautics. I am not a pilot myself, I do not own or operate any plane or am I connected with any transportation company. Therefore, my interest in this subject is purely altruistic in the belief that the State of Pennsylvania should take her part in the development of this great, new industry and this means of transportation. But as the bill now stands the operations of this department have been entirely wiped out, the work of five years in building up this department for the State of Pennsylvania, and the hard work of this department have been wiped out.

We have in our possession letters from the Department of Commerce in Washington, the Federal Department that is in charge of aviation, and from the United States Chamber of Commerce pertaining to aeronautics stating that the State of Pennsylvania has been the leading State in this work in the Union, that the contribution of the Department of Aeronautics of Pennsylvania has been invaluable to the development of transportation by air.

This State of Pennsylvania up to five years ago was considered the graveyard of aviation because of our mountains, and because of the air conditions where we had crack-ups all the time and people killed, and now the State has been brought to a place where great airways have been established by the Federal Government and across the State connecting lines have been developed by our own State Aeronautics Commission. They have developed and have built emergency landing fields, and now have great highways of the air, such as your concrete road systems with their turns, curves and hills, which are a part of your transportation system by automobile. They have installed lights to guide these airplanes by night across our State. There are operating in the State of Pennsylvania seven great transportation companies that carry possibly one hundred thousand passengers across the State. Five of these lines carry the United States mails. Yet in this program as it comes back from the Senate, in which money is returned to the departments, in which thousands and thousands of dollars are given back to departments and agencies of the State of Pennsylvania, this poor, helpless infant that doesn't seem to have enough friends to get an appropriation of any kind has been wiped out. Yet we have in the statute books laws that provide you must be licensed if you want to fly a plane in the State of Pennsylvania. Where can an applicant go to get a license if this department is wiped out? There is a provision that if you are a transportation company you must get a certificate of safety from this department before you go to the Public Service Commission for your certificate of public convenience. If this department is wiped out, where are they to get it; that is, the certificate of public safety. So I say to you in cutting this program as it has been cut, while money has been handed back to every department, in lump sums of hundreds of thousands of dollars, the Aeronautics Department has been cut out entirely, and if there is some catastrophe or tragedy in the State of Pennsylvania or if these commercial lines are forced to use other routes for transporting within Pennsylvania we are taking a step backward, because of a few thousand dollars which the department offered to take and get along with. Men have offered to give their services free of any compensation from the State of Pennsylvania. It does not seem to me that it is common sense.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the chairman of the Appropriations Committee what cut has been made in this conference report in the appropriations to the State Treasurer?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Berks, I will answer him, the amount of the cut that we had taken out was restored. In other words, there is none.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask what cut was made in the appropriations to the Auditor General's Department?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Berks, none.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would now ask what cut was made in the appropriations to the Department of Labor and Industry?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Berks, I read as follows:

"Department of Labor and Industry, salaries to the secretary, no cut; salaries and general expenses of the department are cut $228,800. To the Workmen's Compensation, $25,024. For extra men employed out of Philadelphia, none. The total Department of Labor and Industry cut is about $300,000."

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask, are not these cuts practically the same as they were in the bill when it originally passed the House?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Berks, I would say yes, with exception possibly of a thousand or two thousand dollars.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. Very gladly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the chairman of the Appropriations Committee how much the Executive Department was cut?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, the Executive Department, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, is cut $25,400. In answer to the gentleman from Delaware, the Governor himself has taken a voluntary cut in that department of $25,400. The House in its cut to the Governor's offices cut $60,400.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations further, if it is not a fact that the Senate Appropriations Committee reinstated the full amount for the Executive Department?

Mr. STEEDLE. No, Mr. Speaker, not all, but $25,400.
